RAISE MANY OBJECTIONS

WOULD OUTRANK OTHERS

Newspapers Favoring It Hold Deliberations Would Gain Greatly by His Presence.

THE NEW YORK TIMES canvassed the leading newspapers of the country yesterday for opinion on the suggestion that President Wilson attend the Peace Conference, if it be held in Europe—he would, of course, attend it should it be held in this country.

The expressions of editorial opinion which will be published this morning, according to the extracts telegraphed to THE TIMES, are in a large majority of cases against the proposal. The chief arguments advanced to show why the President should not attend a conference in Europe are:

1. That important domestic questions requiring his attention would be likely to arise in his absence, in Congress and out.

2. That Mr. Wilson, as President, outranks the Prime Ministers, who will attend the conference, and that out of this condition embarrassments might arise.

3. The personal risk of travel in the mine-sown sea lanes.

The results of the canvass are herewith tabulated:

AGAINST.

New York World—The place of the President of the United States during and in relation to the Peace Conference is in this country and at the seat of the Government of whose vast affairs he is charged with the direct administration. There is no express constitutional requirement preventing the President from leaving the country during his term of office. But there is a tradition of this kind which goes back to the beginnings of the Republic. Its validity has been repeatedly recognized. The President can perform no service to the United States or to the world in personal attendance at the Peace Conference in Europe which he cannot as well perform from his official post in Washington.

New York Sun—Perhaps the simplest way would be for the President to stick to the White House and trust the interests of the United States to Commissioners judiciously selected by him.

New York Globe—His rank would be different from that of Clemenceau, Lloyd George, or Orlando. To equalize matters, it is possible insistence would arise in Europe for the attendance of Poincaré, of George of Great Britain, and Victor Emmanuel of Italy. Then silly issues of precedence might arise. Moreover, the President is only part of our treaty-making power. His partner, the Senate, might demand representation. Furthermore, if the plan is for the President to participate only a part of the time, the influence of the American delegation after his departure would be lessened. If there are wranglings, as there may be, the President should not take part in them. A schoolmaster attitude at the peace conference would not be helpful. On the whole, the weight of the argument is rather against the President's going.

New York Mail—There will be plenty of work for the President to do on the spot at Washington at about the time the conference is called. The problems which he will be called to solve will be the gravest in many respects that this nation ever has confronted. The President, we venture to predict, will prefer to be on the spot to take up those problems in person. In the second place, the President, from his desk at the White House, could take as important, as immediate, and as personal a part in the peace conference as if he were seated at the green table. We do not think the President will decide to go to the peace conference in person.

Philadelphia Inquirer—Of course the peace conference cannot be held in the United States. We are too remote. If the President wishes to attend it, he must go abroad. There is no necessity for it. The United States should be represented by the Secretary of State and others selected for the purpose. Unless the President is willing to remain away from Washington for an in-

Will Proclaim Republic in German Austria Today

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Vienna newspapers announce that the German-Austrian republic will be proclaimed tomorrow and that Emperor Charles's request to be permitted to reside in Vienna as a private citizen has been refused, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

GENEVA, Nov. 13, (Associated Press.)—Charles, the former Austrian Emperor, and Zita, his wife, according to the Vienna Arbeiter Zeitung, left Vienna last night on a special train. They are expected to cross the Swiss frontier today at Buchs, on the left bank of the Rhine.

The former Austrian Emperor and Empress probably will reside in a town on the Swiss shore of Lake Constance until peace has been signed.

SEDAN, France, Nov. 10.—How the Americans reached this historic city is one of the greatest of American war stories. It is that because it illustrates not so much the military science as it does the spirit of the soldiers from the United States, which has been such a large factor in inspiring Germany's desire for peace.

On the night of Nov. 5 the 42d (Rainbow) Division had halted four or five kilometers south by southeast of Sedan. It was moving forward under orders which gave it a northwesterly direction, but with such a latitude as would allow it to reach Sedan did that seem advisable.

The 42d had outrun its communications, having advanced twenty-five miles and more in five days and driving the enemy across the Meuse. In the meantime, on the theory that the Germans might make a stand on the heights south of Sedan, General Liggett had sent the 6th and 2d Divisions up on the left to make sure that the Germans had all the fight that they looked for.

To the right the fresh 1st Division had been sent to a point twenty kilometers east of Sedan to try to find a bridge and cross the Meuse. The men had gone mile after mile along the stream, only to find all bridges blown out and the river flooded so that a crossing was impossible.

Rather late on the night of Nov. 5, while still moving northwest in a search for a bridge, the 1st Division reached the area just in front of the 42d, which was headed northwest.

The sentinels of the 42d at once stopped the 1st Division, demanding where it was going. It first replied that it was moving under sealed orders and would not tell the Rainbow officers what its destination was.

Communications were poor and the situation could not be cleared up by telephone.

Rivalry Spreads to Ranks.

An all-night discussion of the military situation ensued, in which some attention was paid to the rivalry between the two crack American divisions.

The 42d Division could not decide whether its instructions permitted it to allow the 1st to pass in front of it, and the 1st could not decide whether its orders instructed it to disregard the 42d.

This debate was not confined to the higher officers, but spread to the doughboys. One detachment of the 1st Division, patroling in front of its line, found General Douglas MacArthur of the 42d reconnoitring in what these men said was their territory. The patrol promptly took him and his orderly in custody and marched them back to headquarters, reporting that, judging from General MacArthur's distinctive cap, he was a German officer.

When the dawn of Nov. 6 came the officers of the 1st Division announced their intention of proceeding in a northwesterly direction in search for a bridge.

At this same time the 42d's officers, actuated, of course, by no spirit of rivalry, decided that the best thing was to advance on Sedan.

By the time the detachments of the 1st Division were ready to start the 165th Infantry (former 69th) and 166th Regiment were on their way.

M'ADOO SUGGESTS $6,000,000 CUT IN EXPENDITURES

Proposes Revenue of $6,000,000,000 Payable Next Year and $4,000,000,000 in 1920.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, in a letter to Senator Simmons, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, outlines the Government's financial program during the period of reconstruction.

He expresses the belief that the estimated expenditures for the next fiscal year could be cut safely from $24,000,000,000 to $18,000,000,000 as a result of the cessation of hostilities in Europe. He urges, however, the prompt enactment of a revenue bill, and recommends that taxes aggregating at least $6,000,000,000 be provided for, to be paid in instalments in 1919. The present bill calls for $6,250,000,000.

The excess profits tax for the calendar year 1918 should not be greater than those provided for in the existing law, he says, and he recommends the retention of the 80 per cent. war profits tax applicable to the same period. War and excess profits taxes, in his opinion, should come to an end with the collection on profits of 1918, in order to encourage American industry and business. With the elimination of the war and excess profits taxes for the calendar year 1919, however, he recommends a sufficient revenue from corporation and individual income taxes applicable to the calendar year 1919 to make the total revenue payable during the calendar year 1920 not less than $4,000,000,000.

In the Senate Committee, now in charge of the revenue bill, the uppermost question has been what cuts might be made in the measure. Last Tuesday night Senator Simmons and Representative Kitchin, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, had a long conference with Secretary McAdoo, and a duplicate of the letter to Senator Simmons was sent to Representative Kitchin.

Text of McAdoo's Letter.

Following is the text of Secretary McAdoo's letter:

"My dear Senator: The collapse of our enemies necessitates instant reconsideration of the financial problems before the Government, the most immediate of which is that presented by the new revenue bill now before the Finance Committee of the Senate. The prompt enactment of a revenue bill is imperative. The existing law is not satisfactory to the country nor to the Treasury. On the other hand, the revenue bill which passed the House is more stringent than the changed situation will justify.

"In June, in preparing for a long war and an increasing military program, I estimated the expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, at $24,000,000,000. The expenditures for the first four months of the fiscal year 1919, that is for the months of July, August, September, and October, aggregated, according to the Treasury daily statement, $6,035,922,423.72, or within $365,000,000 of the amount which I anticipated for that period.

"The saving was apparent rather than real—due to the fact that the improved arrangements which the Treasury was able to make for meeting the requirements of the army's disbursing officers abroad released funds which had accumulated to their credit and made them available for current expenditures, and also due to certain other adjustments. I have little doubt, therefore, that had the war continued the expenditures would have reached the amount estimated.

"Now, however, there seems every reason to anticipate a large reduction in the Government's expenditures during the balance of the fiscal year. How great that reduction will be it is impossible at the moment to estimate. Existing contracts will, no doubt, be liquidated to a considerable extent. That process of liquidation might actually result for a time in acceleration of demands upon the Treasury rather than retardation. The pay of the army and navy and the expenditures in salaries and wages of the war establishments must continue without material change for months to come. It seems reasonable to suppose that the decrease in the Government's expenditures cannot be at a very rapid rate, if a wise policy of readjustment and transfer of activities from a war to a peace basis is followed.

"The United States will be the fortunate possessor of foodstuffs, raw materials, an manufactured products of which Europe and the rest of the world are in dire need. Not all of the Allies can fully pay us in gold, for some have little and others none to spare; nor in commodities during the period of reconstruction, for some of them will not so soon be able to resume normal activities; and the United States must be prepared to continue, therefore, to enable the Governments of the Allies, or some of them, to make purchases on credit. I shall promptly ask the Congress for authority to continue to establ-

Polish Troops Hold Warsaw; Help Demobilize Germans

BERNE, Nov. 14.—Vienna advices say that Polish soldiers have occupied the royal palaces and Belvidere at Warsaw, and also the military commander's quarters. They also have taken possession of the German military automobiles and arms and mutitions. Polish officers are directing the German demobilization.

Poles hold the post and telephone stations connecting the city with Vienna. The German police have been disarmed.

Count Lerchenfeld-Moefering, the German Civil Administrator, has fled to the headquarters of Brig. Gen. Joseph Pilsudski of the Polish Legion for protection.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 14.—Polish troops, according to a dispatch from Berlin, have entered Upper Silesia, Prussia.

GERMAN WOMEN ASK FOOD HELP

SEE FAMINE FOR MILLIONS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Apparently all parties and classes in Germany are joined in an effort to obtain a modification of the armistice terms. Practically all the appeals that have come to the United States from German sources since Monday have been based on the plea that the armistice terms are so harsh that to carry them out will impose hardships on the German people and increase the danger of starvation.

Today German women appeal to Mrs. Wilson and Miss Jane Addams to use their influence to have the armistice terms modified so that Germany will be able to retain railroad rolling stock to avert famine.

The message to Mrs. Wilson follows:

To Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, White House, Washington, D. C.:

Madame: According to the terms of the armistice Germany has to surrender a very large part of the rolling stock of her railways. At the same time she has to feed the troops of her former enemies in the occupied provinces of Germany.

The German women and children have been starving for years. They will die from hunger by the millions if the terms of the armistice are not changed. We need the rolling stock of the railways to bring the food from the farms to the cities. It will be impossible to feed the soldiers of the occupying armies if we cannot get large amounts of food from overseas.

The women and children all the world over have been the innocent sufferers of this terrible war, but nowhere more than in Germany. Let it be through you, Madame, to implore our sisters in the United States of America, who are mothers like ourselves, to ask their Government and the allied Governments to change the terms of the armistice so that the long suffering of the women and children of Germany may not end in unspeakable disaster.

For the National Council of Women of Germany,

GERTRUDE BAEUMER,
ALICE SALOMON.

The message to Miss Addams follows:

Posen, Nov. 13, 1918.

To Jane Addams, Chicago:

German women, foreseeing entire famishment and mutiny for their country, urge their American sisters to intercede relief of truce conditions regarding terms of demobilization, blockade, wagons, locomotives. We are all free voters of a free republic now, greeting you heartily.

ANITA AUGSBURG.

There is no reason to suppose the allied Governments will grant these appeals, or that the United States Government will use its influence with its allies to have them granted.

It has already been indicated by the United States and the allied Governments that everything possible would be done to relieve distress in Germany. That this relief may be extended by the use of German railroad rolling stock by the Allies instead of by Germany has been suggested in allied capitals.

FORMER CROWN PRINCE INTERNED BY DUTCH

Washington Learns Officially That He Has Crossed Frontier—Suite Accompanied Him.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The State Department was informed officially from The Hague today that the former German Crown Prince had arrived in Holland and had been interned there as an officer of the German Army.

Emperor William, or "Count" Hohenzollern, as he now elects to be styled, is not interned, the department's advices state. The Kaiserin is expected to join her husband shortly.

The official dispatch to the State Department, based upon intelligence obtained from official Dutch sources, leaves no doubt concerning the fate of the Crown Prince, who had been reported assassinated by frontier guards and who had also been reported to be at his army headquarters.

Foch Warns Enemy High Command—Latter Anxious to Surrender War Material.

PARIS, Nov. 14, (Associated Press.)—Germany's troops began to evacuate France and Belgium on Tuesday. The allied troops then moved forward, the Americans advancing in the direction of Metz and Strassburg.

Marshal Foch, Commander in Chief of the allied armies, will make solemn entries into those German fortresses on Sunday in the presence of President Poincaré and Premier Clemenceau. The Marshal will ride into the cities on Crocsus, his favorite charger.

It is probable that the departments in the rewon territory will resume their old names, namely, Bas-Rhin, Prefecture of Strassburg; Haut-Rhin, Prefecture of Colmar; and Moselle, Prefecture of Metz. The Government is already considering the establishment of provisional administrative arrangements.

The occupation of the territory on the left bank of the Rhine and the bridgeheads will not be undertaken by the allied forces until later.

The liberation of Belgium promises to be rapidly accomplished. On the occasion of the re-entry of the Belgian sovereigns into Brussels the French Government has decided to present to the Queen the Grand Cordon of the Legion of Honor and to the heir apparent the Chevalier's Cross and the Cross of War.

In conformity with the agreement reached between Marshal Foch and the German delegation, a period of five days has been allowed to the enemy in which to hand over all the armament material stipulated in the armistice.

The French command asked the Germans for information as to where mines had been laid and was informed that some had been placed in the Ostend station and were timed to explode yesterday. The German command accordingly was asked to send officers to locate the explosives.

An additional day, making fifteen days in all from the date of the armistice, has been granted to the enemy to evacuate Belgium, Luxemburg, Alsace and Lorraine.

Marshal Foch has directed the Germans to send officers to the King of the Belgians at Bruges to give information regarding the German and Luxemburg railroad and canal systems and the navigation of the Rhine.

The Germans today are sending an officer to Chimay to arrange with French officers for the handing over of the arms and material which Germany has to surrender.

Commissioners for Alsace-Lorraine

The Cabinet today considered questions concerning the organization of Alsace-Lorraine under French occupancy. Three High Commissioners were appointed. They are Georges Maringer, Commissioner General of National Security for Strassburg; Albert Tirman, State Councilor for Metz, and Henri Poulet, State Councilor for Colmar.

More than 2,500 American prisoners in German camps were released immediately on the signing of the German armistice, according to figures prepared by the American Red Cross in Switzerland.

This number includes all the Americans captured to Nov. 1. It is estimated that only a few hundred more Americans were captured after that date.

Of the total number of prisoners to be released 2,300 are army men, 12 are from the navy, and 140 are civilians. In the camps were 241 army officers and 2,139 noncommissioned officers and privates, and three naval officers and nine sailors.

A majority of the privates were at the Rastatt camp. There were 117 at Giessen, and 103 at Limburg.

Germans Destroying Munitions.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 14, (Associated Press.)—Twenty Americans recently captured by the Germans were freed late today and reached the American lines opposite the First Army. During the day more than 500 Italians whom the Germans had employed as road workers crossed the American front. They asserted that the Germans told them that they had better start southward immediately if they desired food.

As a further indication that the German withdrawal has begun came reports

British Elections Are Called for Dec. 14; New Bill May Delay Vote Counting Till Dec. 28

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A proclamation will be issued on Nov. 25 summoning a new Parliament, Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer and Government spokesman, announced in the House of Commons today. Nominations will be made on Dec. 4 and polling will take place on Dec. 14. The date for the counting of the ballots will depend on a bill now before Parliament. If this bill passes without amendment the counting can be postponed until Dec. 28.

Prorogation of Parliament will take place on Wednesday or Thursday of next week at the latest. On Monday an address will be presented to the King and moved in both houses of Parliament in regard to the war, and after the House assembles on Tuesday an adjournment will be made to the Royal Gallery, where the King will receive the members of both houses.

The general elections appointed for Dec. 14 for the United Kingdom will be held under radically different conditions from those held in December, 1910, which, with subsequent bye-elections, gave the nation the Parliament that has carried it through the war. On the eve of the new elections the alignments of the parties is about as follows: Liberals, 261; Unionists, 285; Nationalists, 76; Laborites, 39; Independent Nationalists, 8; Independent, 1.

The elections of 1910 gave a tie between the Liberals and Unionists of 272 each, which the former, by the adhesion of the minor parties, turned into a majority. During the war the opposition has, through bye-elections, increased its number of seats to 285, while the Liberals have lost 11.

The new conditions are due to the representation of the People's Act of 1918. Prior to that act about 8,000,000 males were qualified to vote. Now about 10,000,000 men and 6,000,000 women are so qualified, and the number of seats has been raised from 670 to 707 in the House of Commons.

According to the new act, one member will represent 70,000 population except in Ireland, where the basis is one for every 43,000.

JUNKERS SPREAD BOLSHEVIST FIRE

Movement Sweeping to Other Lands—Look to Allies to Aid Reform in Germany.

By JULIAN GRANDE.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, Nov. 14.—The danger of Prussian militarism has lately absorbed the peoples' thoughts so that they have failed to realize the existence and steady growth of another danger, which eventually may become far more serious. This danger is Bolshevism.

The fact is not generally grasped that those who are responsible for the Russian chaos are doing their utmost to extend it to other countries. It is foolish to say that they will fail or that Lenine, Trotzky, and Karl Radek are mere fanatics, whose rule will be only a ten days' wonder. I may say that Lenine and Radek are personally known to me, and their organization also, and neither must be taken lightly, while they have at their disposal some of the best brains in Europe today and vast sums of money. Still worse, they may now get on their side the Prussian militarists and their begetters, the German professors.

Much information reaching me proves conclusively that quite probably an unholy alliance is being formed between the German professors, Junkers, and militarists on the one hand and Lenine and the Bolsheviki elements everywhere on the other hand. Lenine, as even the Journal de Geneve states on Oct. 25, is a realist, diametrically opposed to President Wilson and caring nought for means, but only for his own ends, and revengeful and embittered, owing to sufferings under Russian Czardom.

The Journal de Geneve obviously considers the German General Staff's connivance at Bolshevism and a temporary union between these two forces of evil as an accomplished fact.

Mere Propaganda of Anarchy.

Many will think the Bolshevist alarm is German propaganda trying to frighten England from America, but one cannot too strongly insist that Bolshevism must not be ridiculed but taken very seriously. Already such Swiss bookshops and kiosks as Germany controls display books, pamphlets, and periodicals by Lenine, Trotzky, and other Bolshevist leaders and writers. They are published in German, Italian, French, and English.

The Bolsheviki have their own printing works near Berne and 10,000,000 rubles are admitted to have been placed in the Swiss Bank to the credit of their propaganda. The number of Bolshevist agents constantly arriving in Switzerland from Russia are mostly young men or young women who usually allege a wish to study at the Swiss universities. No matter who

DEATH FOR BERLIN LOOTING

Disbanded Troops' Conduct Threatens Teuton Anarchy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Reports reached the State Department that the situation in Germany and Austria-Hungary approximates a state of anarchy on account of the conduct of returning soldiers released from the fighting lines.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—An all-Socialist Cabinet has been installed at the head of the new German Government, dispatches from the Continent state, and one of its first acts has been the confiscation of the property of the Prussian Crown. The Cabinet has issued a proclamation announcing a program of democratic reforms.

The members of the Cabinet are:

Foreign Affairs, HUGO HAASE.

Demobilization, Transport, Justice and Health, WILHELM DITTMANN.

Social Policy, RICHARD BARTH.

A German wireless message states that the entailed property of the Prussian Crown will be placed under the administration of the Ministry of Finance. Property which is not entailed but which is personal to the former King and his family will not be affected.

Proclaims Sweeping Reforms.

The proclamation announcing the Cabinet's program says that the state of siege has been raised and that there is to be full liberty for all, even functionaries, to form associations. The censorship, including that on theatricals, is abolished. There are to be freedom of speech and of writing, amnesty for political offenses, annulment of the law of national auxiliary service, an eight-hour workday, and universal direct secret suffrage, with proportional representation for both sexes above 20 years of age, for election to all public bodies.

The announcement concludes by stating that the victims of the fighting during the last few days in greater Berlin are to be buried together in the cemetery where the victims of the revolution of 1848 are buried.

The new Government, according to the Frankfurter Zeitung, has resolved, after some resistance from the Independent Socialists, that as soon as the business program has been settled it will take up the question of the convocation of a National Assembly. News reaching Berne seems to show

PREMIERS GOING TO PARIS

DIFFICULTY ABOUT GERMANY

PARIS, Nov. 14, (Associated Press.)—It is probable that the first meeting of the Peace Congress will be held after the English Parliamentary elections, and at a time which will give ample opportunity for the American and other delegates to arrive. A meeting to be held shortly of the interallied conference will finally determine the details of these questions.

Premier Lloyd George and Foreign Minister Balfour of Great Britain, Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino of Italy, Premier Venizelos of Greece, and Foreign Minister Pachitch of Serbia are on their way here for the resumption of the conferences at the home of Colonel Edward M. House, special representative of the United States Government, and the sessions at Versailles.

Besides outlining the general program of the peace congress, the question of meeting the food situation in Germany and Austria probably will be considered.

The general feeling of the associated Governments is that Versailles—Paris—is the most convenient place to hold the peace conference. If this were decided upon, it would serve as a recognition of the paramount position of France in the war.

In addition to these considerations there ade certain practical ones of telegraph and cable facilities and easy communication between the capital and the ample living accommodations as compared with those in the smaller Holland and Switzerland cities.

Agents of the various allied countries already are seeking large houses in Paris for the delegations. The American representation will move from the small residence which Colonel House and his staff now occupy to one much larger.

Philipp Scheidemann, majority Socialist leader, probably will head the German delegation to the peace conference, according to a Zurich dispatch to l'Information. In diplomatic circles in Zurich it is not believed that the German delegates will be named before the end of the week. It is pointed out there that it will be difficult to make up a common delegation now that Germany has twoscore republics, apparently without common relations.

TO HOLD TWO CONFERENCES?

One May Make Peace and Another Form a League of Nations.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—While no decision has been reached among the Allies as to the date or place of holding the peace conference, opinion is generally inclined toward Versailles and it was said today that the peace emissaries would hardly be able to begin deliberations before January at the earliest.

From what was said today, the chances are that the questions of the formation of a league of nations and an interpretation of the "freedom of the seas" will be discussed at a conference to be held after the treaty with the Central Powers has been arranged. All nations, including neutrals, would be invited to the second conference.

One of the important matters to be determined in the allied preliminaries to the peace conference is whether Russia and some of the smaller belligerent countries shall participate in the exchanges with the envoys of the Central Powers. Involved in this question is what faction in Russia would be asked to send delegates, should Russia be admitted to the conference. Recognition of the Bolshevist authorities is not favored.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14, (Associated Press.)—In advance of the meeting of the Supreme War Council, officials here decline to discuss the approaching peace conference or to indicate any views the Government may have as to the time or place of its assembly.

Much of the real work of the peace conference, it is believed here, already has been done by the Supreme War Council. As a preliminary to the meeting of the conference, however, it be necessary for the allied and American Governments to decide to what extent and by what title the Provisional Governments which have seized the reins of power in Berlin and Vienna represent the peoples of their countries. This is a delicate subject and officials today confessed that they had only foggy ideas as to the actual governmental situations in these capitals.

PLAN TO MAKE GERMANY PAY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Pierre Arbel, a prominent manufacturer of Doual, suggests in the Echo de Paris what he thinks an efficient method of carrying into effect the declaration of President Wilson and the Allies that the conquered enemy must make reparation for the damages inflicted upon the civil population of the invaded industrial regions of northern France and Belgium.

He would divide Germany into twenty districts, allotting to each the amount in material and money which it must produce as its contribution toward the total damages. He would also place each of these twenty districts in charge of an Allied Commission empowered to compel it to carry out its share of the process of restitution. Everything must be restored in kind, Mr. Arbel insists, and so promptly that France will not be placed at an economic disadvantage in regard to Germany because of the robberies and destructions of the last four years.

REDS' DELEGATES SAIL FOR NAVAL PARLEY

Will Meet Representatives of British Admiralty—Their Fleet Menaces Food Supply.

BERLIN, Nov. 14, (by Wireless to London; Associated Press).—The German light cruiser Königsberg put to sea yesterday at 1 P. M. with plenipotentiaries of the Workmen's and Soldiers' Council of the German fleet to meet representatives of the British Admiralty. The Chief of the High Seas Forces, Admiral Hipper, is taking part in the negotiations as expert adviser in the deliberations concerning the execution of the naval conditions of the armistice.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 14.—The Berlin Government has issued orders in which it says that it will support the officers in maintaining discipline in the navy. The order calls for all ranks to co-operate in carrying out the terms of the armistice.

American Naval Delegates.

PARIS, Nov. 14, (Associated Press.)—Rear Admiral S. S. Robinson has been appointed American member of the naval commission to arrange for the execution of the naval terms of the German armistice. Admiral Robinson arrived here Monday from the United States, and on receipt of his appointment left yesterday for London to take up his duties.

Rear Admiral Bullard has been appointed American representative to see to the carrying out of the naval terms of the Austrian armistice. He is now at Pola, the great naval base in the Adriatic, and has telegraphed Admiral William S. Benson, American Chief of Naval Operations, that the execution of the naval terms of the armistice are proceeding satisfactorily.

The United States now has two cruisers, a destroyer, and thirty-six submarine chasers in the upper Adriatic, at or near Pola, under command of Rear Admiral Bullard. Admiral Benson ordered the fast cruiser Birmingham to proceed from Gibraltar to Pola, and also the collier Leonidas, thirty-six chasers, and a destroyer to proceed from Corfu to Pola. These have now arrived, giving the United States a considerable representation in ships and men.

Chasers have been directed to proceed along the Dalmatian coast, visiting Durazzo, Scutari, and other points on the coast, so that the American flag may be seen by the inhabitants.

A declaration sent to the French Government early this week by the German plenipotentiaries who went to Marshal Foch's headquarters to sign the armistice between the Allies and Germany has been published here. It protests against some features of the terms agreed to by the Germans and to which they objected verbally at their first meeting with Marshal Foch. The declaration reads:

"The German Government will naturally make every effort to aid in the carrying out of the obligations imposed upon it. Its plenipotentiaries recognize that on certain points a conciliatory spirit has been shown toward their suggestions. They can, consequently, consider the observations which they submitted on Nov. 9, referring to conditions of the armistice, and the reply they received on Nov. 10 as forming an integral part of the complete convention.

"They cannot, however, permit any doubt to exist on the fact that the shortness of the delay fixed for evacuation and the handing over of indispensable means of transport threaten to provoke a state of affairs which, without the German Government and people being at fault, may render the execution of the conditions of the armistice impossible. The plenipotentiaries further consider it their duty, referring to their reiterated verbal and written declarations, to state once more with the utmost energy that the execution of this convention must throw the German people into anarchy and famine.

"After the public manifestations which preceded the laying down of the armistice conditions might have been expected which, while giving our adversaries full military security, would have put an end to the sufferings of noncombatant women and children. The German people, which for fifty months has held out against a world of enemies, will maintain its liberty and unity despite every violence."

LONDON, Nov. 14, (British Wireless Service.)—Communications have been addressed to the German authorities giving directions for German delegates, in conformity with the armistice conditions, to present themselves to delegates of the King of the Belgians at Bruges on Nov. 15, and also to the President of the Interallied Commission of Railways in the field and the President of the Interallied Commission of Navigation on Nov. 16 at Nancy, to receive instructions regarding the question of railways, navigation, and telegraphs.

GOMPERS OFFERS PROGRAM.

Special to The New York Times.

LAREDO, Texas, Nov. 14.—American organized labor program for peace which, it is hinted, will be insisted upon even to the extent of representation at the peace conference, was forecast here today. It came in a preamble and resolutions introduced by Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, at the Pan American Labor Conference now in session in Laredo.

Included in the program are most of the fourteen principles of President Wilson in condensed form. The resolutions, which will undoubtedly be adopted tomorrow, indorse the idea of the League of Nations, and declare against economic restrictions or vindictive reprisals as part of the peace plan.

The program declares against the economic theory that labor is a commodity; demands the cessation of industrial servitude; insists upon the general application of the right of free assembly, speech, and the press; would give merchant seamen the uncontrolled right of leaving their ships in harbor; denies the right of international commerce to products of child labor; declares for the basic eight-hour day, and insists upon the general right of trial by jury.

In addition, the aims of the conference in promoting the trades union movement as opposed to Socialism and Bolshevism were made further evident in the steps taken toward permanent organization.

The Mexican representation at the conference is of a movement that succeeded an organization which somewhat paralleled the American I. W. W. The present organization is based upon the general lines of the American Federation of Labor. The trades union organizations of Central America represented at the conference have like aims. Representatives of South America were prevented by quarantine restrictions from attending.

Permanent organization was effected by the election of Gompers as President. A message from President Wilson, in reply to one of congratulation from the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor upon the termination of the war, was read as follows:

"The message of the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor has been received with deepest appreciation. I join with them in rejoicing over the steadily advancing progress of freedom."

that a serious effort is being made in Berlin to maintain order and to prevent the movement from degenerating into anarchy.

The Vossische Zeitung publishes a notice to the public that persons again will be permitted in the streets after dark until 8 P. M. The same newspaper announces the arrest of two civilians and three soldiers for pillaging. They were sentenced to death.

More Bloodshed Reported.

An Associated Press dispatch from Geneva states that the revolution continues comparatively peaceable in the South German States, but further sanguinary disorders are reported to have occurred in Berlin, Essen, and Danzig.

Reaction Against Extremists.

In South Germany the movement has taken on more of a democratic than a Socialist character. At Stuttgart a purely Socialist Government was formed at first, but the Berlingske Tidende of Copenhagen learns that the Cabinet has been supplemented by members of the People's National, Liberal, and Centrist parties.

Advices from Berlin say that the Red Guard in Brunswick is arresting the high officials and high representatives of the military authorities and throwing them in prison.

The revolutionary movement is spreading strongly in East Prussia. A semi-official dispatch from Berlin received in Basle reports that Königsberg, Allenstein, Insterberg, Gumbinnen, and Lötzen are in the hands of the Reds. Governor von Batocki of Posen, former German Food Minister, has put himself at the disposal of the revolutionists.

North Schleswig newspapers are publishing an appeal signed by 302 Danish associations demanding that Germany at the peace negotiations settle the North Schleswig question on the basis of the right of self-determination by all peoples.

Declaring that the new Democratic State of Bavaria is not responsible for the faults of the old régime in Germany, a manifesto has been sent from Munich to the new Federal Government of Germany, asking that complaint over the conditions of the armistice be sent to the Entente Powers. It is said that the terms agreed to by Germany in stopping hostilities are of such a nature as to prevent the rapid re-establishment of order in Bavaria.

BERLIN PRESS TRANSFORMED.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 13.—I have just received a bundle of the first Berlin newspapers printed after the revolutionary movement in Berlin had practically come to a successful conclusion. The famous fire-spitting Deutsche Tageszeitung still prints under its title the legend "For Kaiser and Empire."

One looks through it in vain for the initials of Count Ernst zu Reventlow. He has obviously thought it safer to allow some one else of the journal's staff to deal with the situation; and it is certainly curious to read in that journal an appeal in favor of freedom of the press and of public meeting.

The Pan German Tägliche Rundschau is all for unity under the new régime, and is much concerned about public order and the protection of property. It calls upon the people to support Herr Ebert, and so prevent civil war, hunger, and anarchy.

The more extreme papers, like Die Post, abstain from comment, and confine themselves to scrappy description of events. The Vossische Zeitung hopes fervently for a union of Germany with the German Austrian Republic.

Theodor Wolff, in the Berliner Tageblatt, whole-heartedly supports the new order of things, and suggests that the long double row of statues of the ex-Kaiser's ancestors forming the famous and blatant "Alley of Victory" should be taken away.

OMSK GOVERNMENT MAY BE RECOGNIZED

French High Commissioner Arrivesat Capital of All-Russian Cabinet to Investigate.

IS FAVORABLY IMPRESSED

American Consul General Harris of Irkutsk to Report on Situation to Washington.

By CARL W. ACKERMAN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

OMSK, Nov. 11.—Eugene Regnault, the French High Commissioner, has arrived on a special train from Vladivostok. Next week Consul General Harris of Irkutsk is expected here, representing America.

M. Regnault's presence in the temporary capital of the All-Russian Government and the announcement that Consul General Harris will investigate for Washington, coupled with Sir Charles Elliot's recent visit, indicates that France, England, and the United States are showing official interest in the new Russian Government, which contemplates the reorganization of the whole of Russia and the establishment of a government which will succeed the Bolsheviki.

The presence of these men, however, does not indicate that the Allies are ready to recognize officially this Government as Russia's real power, but that the Allies see possibilities in this Cabinet for Russia's reorganization.

M. Regnault, who met with a splendid reception from the Russians and Czechs en route, came here impressed by the public attitude toward the Omsk Government. When I saw France's former Ambassador to Tokio and questioned him about the attitude of the Allies toward the Government, M. Regnault said:

"I am glad to know that the people at the head of this Government are men of good faith, honest, serious, and able. The Allies have not yet recognized them, but I think they are favorably disposed. From all I have seen, the population is quite in accord with the Government, because it purposes to establish order, while the Bolsheviki only want disaster.

"I came here representing France for the purpose of interviewing the Government officials. While I cannot say now what attitude France will take, I believe the Allies' and the French plan will be, first, to see what this Government means, second to encourage it if necessary, and, third, if the Allies see this Government is giving good administration, then to extend recognition to it as the Government of all Russia.

"Since the formation of the Russian Government, the Siberian Government has ceased to exist. I know the Government officials personally, and always found them ready and willing to work with the Allies."

I asked the High Commissioner about Prince Lvoff's mission. He answered:

"Lvoff is the unofficial representative of the new Government. In all of his remarks the Prince has always spoken highly of this Government, saying the Directors and Ministers were honest, patriotic, and energetic men."

When I asked how long the Bolsheviki were expected to hold out, M. Regnault smiled, saying:

"We hope that with allied help from the Black Sea, Archangel, and through the Czechs here the Bolsheviki strength will break. England, France, and Italy are all sending troops to aid the Czechs. When the Czechs know we are coming to their assistance, that help is coming from all sides, and that the Germans are withdrawing from Russia it will encourage them—this is the whole situation here. The only question is the morale of the Allies against the morale of the Bolsheviki."

Captain Gaston Bourgeois and Captain Poshkoff accompany M. Regnault.

ANTI-SEMITIC RIOTS START IN EAST EUROPE

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 14.—The Jewish Press reports that anti-Semitic riots have broken out in several towns in Western Galicia and in Poland. Six Jews have been killed at Siedice, fifty-five miles southeast of Warsaw.

Representative Jewish organizations of America are taking active steps to avert the threat of massacre which hangs over the heads of Jews in Eastern Europe, and particularly in Poland and Rumania.

Julian W. Mack, President of the Zionist Organization of America, and Louis Marshall, Chairman of the American Jewish Committee, have joined in a telegram addressed to President Wilson, acquainting him with the facts concerning the threatened massacres.

This information was conveyed to them in a cablegram from Copenhagen, which read in part:

"Received alarming news from absolutely reliable sources Jews of all East European countries threatened by greatest danger of pogroms. Riots in country and approaching demobilization lead to general anarchy, of which Jews will be first victims. Wild agitation rousing basest instincts everywhere, especially Rumania, Poland. In paper Dominica Poprului, circulated by authorities among peasants, Minister of Education recommends cruel practices to force Jews emigrate. The well-known politician Mille preaches boycott against aliens, (meaning Jews,) severer than in Poland. Posters incite population slaughter Jews. Pogroms expected to break out any moment. Black Hundred receiving arms from army, while Jewish self-defense impossible lack of arms.

"Also in Poland agitation for pogroms. At Warsaw Jews attacked in streets and shops demolished, plundered. Worse pogroms than 1905 dreaded. Chief Commander Polish forces, General Vitaldorski, in proclamation 8th October denounces Jews as leaders Bolshevism, demands as hostage all Jewish representatives, corporations, and municipal councils, all rabbis and directors schools, synagogues, to be shot moment of beginning Bolshevist activity."

MUST CLEAR SEAS OF FOES.

Bolshevist Warships One Obstacle to Provisioning Hungry Peoples.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Problems connected with the policing and provisioning of Russia and the Central Powers hinge primarily upon the immediate disarmament of the German fleet, the Russian warships held by the Germans and those under control of the Ukrainian Government in the Black Sea. Warships held by the Bolsheviki in the Finnish Gulf must also be put out of commission.

Without freedom of movement in the Black and Baltic Seas the Entente Powers and the United States will have great difficulty in affording economic relief to Central Europe as well as Scandinavia. Consequently the attitude of the German Navy toward the armistice terms is watched with eagerness by Entente officials, who are anxious to prevent starvation among the belligerents and to restore normal social and economic conditions among the suffering millions.

Speedy action is necessary for the relief of regions adjacent to the Baltic Sea, as many of its ports will be icebound within two months, and the congested and disrupted condition of the railways makes relief by land routes uncertain. The United States and the Entente Powers have shown no disposition to deal with the Bolshevist Government. While Russia remains in the control of the Soviet, therefore, there seems to be little hope of feeding Moscow, Petrograd, and other large cities there.

else has difficulty in passing through Germany they never have any, and whereas before the war and for some time after it Russian students in Switzerland never had engough to live upon, now they seem quite wealthy.

The two most active agents of the Bolsheviki in Switzerland now are women. One is a Russian, Mme. Balabanoff, who before the war lived in Italy. She controls a Bolshevist paper called The Avenir del Lavoratore, and is assisted by Signora Messori, an Italian, who was a great friend of the Italian Socialist leader Turati. In Switzerland they succeed in joining hands with German professors and Junkers, and in Switzerland the Bolshevist influence is greater than is generally realized.

If the Bolsheviki succeed in joining hands with the German professors, Junkers, and militarists, then Bolshevism will become still more powerful in Switzerland and will reach Italy, where the ground already is being prepared for it and whence it might spread elsewhere.

Germans Who Desire Reform.

All serious and thoughtful Swiss who are conversant with affairs in Germany and are in nowise pro-German are convinced that many Germans sincerely desire reform. Such Swiss feel that the Allies ought to do their utmost to support those Germans and that if the Allies act as did the Germans in 1870 or at Brest-Litovsk recently, then the councils and desires of the moderate earnest Germans will not prevail, but those of Petrograd and the Conservative professors and Junkers.

Like Lenine, the German professors and Junkers think the end justifies the means, and rather than see democracy rule they would help the Bolsheviki to foment appalling disorder everywhere, out of which they believe they could rise again to the top. In this chaos all the more moderate and enlightened among the Germans would be crushed for an indefnite period.

The German professors and Junkers care nothing whether the banner over them be militarist or Bolshevist; they merely desire to rule, and not to be ruled or obliged to conform their desires to those of other people.

Europe looked not in vain to President Wilson to save her from militarism. Europe now looks to him to save her from Bolshevism.

PREDICT CRISIS IN HOLLAND.

By GEORGE RENWICK.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 12.—Holland is threatened with Socialist revolution. Speeches made in Rotterdam by Troelstra, the Socialist leader, and other prominent Socialists, have created an enormous sensation throughout the country, and it is probable that things may come to a head at the end of the week.

Troelstra declared he spoke at a moment when it was for the working classes to take the power into their hands. They would not demand, he said, but would cause a revolution in the Netherlands. He went on to declare that there would be a revolution without anarchy, and he seriously warned the Socialist Party against Bolshevism.

"We shall have to discuss on Sunday the important question of whether we shall elect a Supreme Council of Soldiers and Workers for the whole country," he said, "and also the creation of local councils. If we decide that, then the National Council from that moment will be the supreme authority in the country."

Another speaker, M. Butselaar, declared that the army would stand on the side of the workers to battle against the bourgeoisie.

"We shall win like our comrades in Germany, Austria, and Switzerland," he said.

The National Revolutionary Committee issued a manifesto demanding the sweeping away of royalty and the diplomatic service, renunciation of the State debt, and many other things. The Free Democrats and Christian National Trade Unions will hold gatherings tomorrow.

The Handelsblad expresses the hope that Troelstra will become more reasonable than he appeared to be yesterday, and trusts that the Government will take strong action to prevent such happening as are planned, because, in the journal's belief, they would only lead to disaster and anarchy.

SOCIALIST ALARM IN SWEDEN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 14.—The wave of revolt in Central Europe seems to have touched this country and Stockholm is full of all kinds of rumors.

The Social Demokraten and the Aftonbladingen openly demand a change of the constitution and say that force will be used if the Government does not take immediate steps in that direction. The next week or fortnight may bring the desired change.

PAPERS SAY WILSON SHOULD NOT GO

definite period he would do well to abandon all thought of the project.

Boston Herald—The unwritten law of the Republic which forbids the President to go outside of its territory while holding office is essentially wise and desirable. With the present day methods of communication he can remain in absolutely close touch with the peace conference without being in actual presence. We, moreover, feel that it is time for a certain national modesty. With our President at the peace conference the world would naturaly believe that we expected to assume a leadership in the reconstruction of the world, and that, we think, we have no right to ask for ourselves or for the chosen head of our Republic.

New Haven Journal-Courier—The suggestion that this country, presumably Washington, should be selected as the place of assembly can be dismissed as not feasible. There would be a sense of permanency attached to Mr. Wilson's absence which could not escape causing nervousness and possibly apprehension at home. As never before, the President is needed at his desk. Questions of grave importance are soon to be raised for his consideration and for the consideration of the Congress.

Utica Press—There is nothing the President could do there which could not be as well done by carefully selected representatives. No President of the United States should subject himself to the risk or consent to absent himself so long from the duties he was elected to discharge. His going would be without precedent or parallel, and the personal glory he would get out of it is not sufficient compensation. A man big enough to be President should be big enough to put every personal consideration behind him in the interests of the service and of the responsibilities which rest upon him.

Milwaukee (Wis.) Sentinel—It is hoped President Wilson will dispose promptly of the romantic surmise in some quarters as to his intentions to go abroad to attend the peace conference in person. Mr. Wilson was elected and sworn in to perform the prescribed duties of the Presidency. Performing diplomatic offices in Europe is not one of them. There is nothing in the National Constitution that expressly forbids him to go abroad on that errand, but there is nothing in it which empowers him to undertake any such quasi diplomatic function, and the office of President is one of strictly defined and delimited power.

Baltimore American—Neither the attendance of Mr. Wilson upon the conference nor his Presidency of the body appears to be feasible or practically desirable. The man to whom the finger of logic points as the one who should direct the deliberations is Premier Lloyd George. There would remain for Mr. Wilson the post of presiding at the council at which will be framed the conditions for the permanent peace of the world. The man, of all others fitted for the post of President of this tribunal, or parliament, would be Mr. Wilson, who, by then, would probably have ceased to be President of the United States. This council should be held at Washington.

Hartford Conrant—Unless the sovereigns of Great Britain, Belgium, and Italy, and the President of France attend also, the presence of President Wilson at the peace conference would be embarrassing, in a way impertinent.

Albany Knickerbocker Press—If the President is guided by good sense, he will not go to Versailles. He would be out of place there, and he would expose himself to criticism. The evident desire of the President's adulators to make this war his personal property has been disturbing.

Syracuse Post-Standard—The only formidable obstacle to the participation of the President in the conference is his manifold duties at home. The precedent that forbids a President from stepping on foreign soil is foolish. The objection that the presence of a Government head among ordinary delegates would be embarrassing is silly. The fact that the President has been his own Minister of Foreign Affairs, the spokesman for democracy of all the Allies, and that he would be a greater power in conference than any delegate of his urges his going. It is only that he has urgent and important work at Washington that stands in the way. That objection is so large that it may not be lightly brushed aside.

Minneapolis Tribune—There are precedents for a President in office leaving the soil of his country and setting foot on foreign soil, but no President ever went to Europe during his tenure. It might be a grave and dangerous thing for President Wilson to make a precedent now, considering all the circumstances, one of them being "The gentleman from Indiana."

Providence Journal—There are two insurmountable obstacles: First, by outranking the representatives of all other Governments, it might appear that he was forcing himself into the chairmanship; second, he would be away from the United States at a time when most vital and important legislation is being enacted in Congress. The President will find his influence in the peace conference much stronger if he directs the activities of our representatives there from the White House. The peace conference should be held in Brussels, the capital city of the land violated and torn asunder by Germany's perfidy.

Chattanooga Times—It would be breaking a highly regarded precedent without warrant for the President to go abroad, when he can by the use of cable and wireless communication, freely at his hand, impress his opinions upon the proceedings. It is essential that he be at home, where he can keep his hand on the pulse of his own people and translate their wishes into active influence upon the conference. Besides it would be unwise to subject him personally to the dangers that will lurk in the sea lanes for some time from floating mines or to the ordinary hazard of transatlantic travel at such critical a time as this.

Memphis Commercial-Appeal—The President should not be at the peace conference. A long-range view will give a better perspective than close contact with the other Commissioners. Furthermore, the President should not be out of the country now. Domestic questions loom large, and some are threatening. A crisis in our affairs might come at any moment which only Mr. Wilson could adjust.

Richmond Times-Dispatch.—For President Wilson personally to attend the peace conference would not be the part of safety or wisdom and would not receive the approval of the country at large. To the President it would involve considerable personal risk, as well as endangering the country in the possible loss of his services during the critical period of peacemaking and reconstruction; nor in these days of wireless and cable communication is his physical presence necessary.

Seattle Post-Intelligencer—If it is to be a separate peace, let the German plenipotentiaries come to this country and hear what we have to say. If we are going to make a joint peace, practical participation in the conference by the President is a physical impossibility. The precedent that no President has left the confines of the United States, or at least absented himself from the flag, is no good reason why President Wilson should not attend the peace conference, but, with meetings and adjournments that will keep the conference in session for months, it is obvious that the President cannot remain away from the United States for that length of time, nor would it be the proper dignity for this nation to send its President to a conference made up of official subordinates of other nations.

Burlington (Vt.) Free Press—If the peace conference is to be held in some European city, then so much the more should the President maintain the true dignity of his position by appearing at the peace table by proxy. If the peace discussions should develop bitter controversies, as is not improbable, in view of the vast and conflicting interests involved, it would not be seemly for the President of the United States to be involved, especially in another country. We believe President Wilson and the United States as a whole have nothing to gain and everything to lose from his actual presence in person at the conference.

FOR.

Boston, Globe.—The choice is only between his participation by cable or in person, and the advantages of the latter are obvious. At great distance, beyond land and ocean, he has established his predominance and leadership; he can maintain them more readily by his actual presence on the scene and be the ranking figure by virtue of his high authority.

Philadelphia Public Ledger—The suggestion that President Wilson attend in person the peace conference is a proposal which will have the unanimous support of the allied world, and would make a special appeal to the forward thinkers, the war-weary toilers, the passionate believers in Democracy, everywhere. They would feel that their foremost champion was at the peace table. Americans will favor the idea most warmly if they can be assured that the vitally important business of their own Government can be arranged for in the absence of the Chief Executive.

Buffalo Express—It is suggested that President Wilson go to France as head of the Peace Commission. That would certainly be much better than that he should try to direct the American delegates by cable from Washington, if he expects to bear a part at all. Any disposition toward wrong ideas would be much more easily overcome if he were on the ground and in personal contact with those who have had so much closer and more direct experience with the problems of the war.

Baltimore Sun—It now appears that the proposal that President Wilson should attend the peace conference contemplates no extended stay, but merely attendance at the opening or a few of the more important sessions. In such an adventure we can see no possibilities of great harm and tremendous possibilities of good.

Philadelphia Record—Throughout the period of America's participation in the war the civilized world has looked to Woodrow Wilson for guidance and depended upon his leadership. The work is unfinished; it cannot be satisfactorily completed wholly through delegate agents. By all means the President of the United States should sit at the peace table.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune—The suggestion that President Wilson personally attend the peace conference has much to recommend it. It is a novelty, the making of a new precedent, but that does not condemn it. President Wilson has had worldwide recognition as a leader in the contention for democracy. His idealistic principles have appealed to the world. What more appropriate than that their author should sit in the historic body that is to give them final formulation in the wording of a treaty?

Austin, Texas, American—President Wilson should be a member of the peace conference. America should also be represented by ex-President Roosevelt and ex-President Taft. It must be the voice of America that speaks at the peace conference, and not the voice of any one political party. The Speaker of the House of Representatives, the President of the Senate, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States should also be delegates. The peace conference should be held at the capital of the first nation wrecked by the Germans, Brussels.

Wheeling Register—The very fact that President Wilson's presence at the peace conference is being discussed argues that only through his attendance could his skilled statesmenship obtain the freedom necessary to secure results that accord with its great possibilities. President Wilson is recognized on all sides as the world's leading exponent of the rights of mankind. It is only common sense that it should be arranged that those ideas should be felt at the peace table.

Charlotte (N. C.) Observer—President Wilson should be there, and the world knows the place he would occupy in case he should go. Sentiment is going to run mightily strong to make him a member of the peace conference.

Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser—It would be to the advantage of our country and of our friends in Europe if the President should attend the conference. Do we not owe it to our associates to send our first statesman in person? Each of the allied countries will send its first statesman. It would please Americans to see the conference held here, yet we see no particular reason why Brussels or Versailles should be passed up for an American city.

NONCOMMITTAL.

Omaha Bee—President Wilson's presence at the council table may be secured by the very simple expedient of holding it in the United States. No really good reason exists why this cannot be done. Washington has had a tremendous influence in deciding the outcome of the war, and might well be the scene of the gathering that will fix peace agreements.

Salt Lake Tribune—We shall have no criticism to offer if President Wilson desires, like McGregor, to sit at the head of the table, for wherever he sat would, in fact, be the head, even though some one else was elected to preside. It will be all right to hold the conference in Washington if our allies really desire it, but if the proposition is made and turned down we shall have no regrets.

Pittsburgh Gazette-Times—The people may or may not object to Mr. Wilson leaving the country on so great a mission, but they will insist that, should he decide to remain on our soil, the country should be represented by duly accredited agents, by plenipotentiaries regularly nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate. They will want the United States of America represented; they will not be content to have Colonel House present simply as the "eyes and ears" of the President.

Cincinnati Enquirer—Much depends upon the motives back of the suggestion that President Woodrow Wilson in person represent the United States at the International Peace Conference. Should there be insistence upon the participation of the President, then with it should come the concession of holding the peace conference at Washington. There is a fundamental reason for this condition. Whatever the terms of the treaty, they must be ratified by the critically disposed United States Senate, whose representative the President will be in fact.

Springfield Republican—If Mr. Wilson were not absent from the country more than a month at one stretch, there would seem to be no compelling reason for him to stay at home. Whether the objects he has in view in attending the peace conference would be promoted sufficiently to make a comparatively short stay abroad worth while is for him and his advisors to decide. Public sentiment should be ready to trust his judgment on that point.

Admiral Mayo Guest of King Victor.

ITALIAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Nov. 13, (Associated Press.)—Admiral Henry T. Mayo, commander of the American Atlantic fleet, visited Venice today and was received by King Victor Emmanuel, with whom he had dinner. The Admiral expressed to the King the admiration generally felt for the victory attained by Italy. Later the Admiral left for Paris.

today from various parts of the front that explosions were being heard. It is believed the Germans are destroying their old shells and ammunition dumps in excess of the ammunition which is to be turned over to the Allies according to the terms of the armistice.

The 32d Division reported explosions in the direction of Muzer, and two heavy explosions in the direction of Etain, which were followed later by lighter detonations. Other explosions were heard beyond Meries and in that region this afternoon.

GENEVA, Nov. 14, (Associated Press.)—The greatest enthusiasm prevails in Alsace-Lorraine. Thousands of Germans are leaving those provinces. The German authorities are being hooted by the crowds. French and American troops are expected daily.

Receptions on a huge scale are being prepared for the allied troops under the noses of the German officials.

There also is joy in the Rhine towns because of the cessation of allied air raids.

GENEVA, Nov. 14, (Associated Press.)—It is announced from Basle that French and American troops have begun occupying the portions of Alsace that the Germans have evacuated. The Allies are being warmly welcomed by the populace. The Swiss postal authorities at Basle have requested that future correspondence with towns in Alsace-Lorraine be carried on only in the French language.

Allied prisoners who have been liberated are being fêted by Alsatians and Lorrainers. Even the departing German soldiers fraternized with the population. Several Prussian officers who attempted to domineer over their troops were shot.

Pressing Needs of Germans Known —Supplies to be Allotted.

LONDON, Nov. 14, (British Wireless Service.)—The Daily Express says it is officially informed that the arrangements being made to supply the German people's most pressing need for food will not cause shortages for allied nations. Germany has made known her immediate wants, and the Inter-Allied Food Council will decide what supplies should be allotted, first taking into consideration the requirements of the Allies and neutral peoples.

The allied wheat reserves will not be opened by Germany's need for bread.

Sell the Idea

When vacuum cleaners were first put on the market, the maker had to first "sell the idea" of a better method of cleaning.

The adding machine man sold the idea of better bookkeeping.

So the cash register sale follows the "selling of the idea" of better storekeeping.

First came the idea of safety razors, rust-proof iron, massage creams, indirect lighting and fireless cookers.

The Bell Telephone sells a belief in its wonderful service—one railroad sells us its road bed—another its anthracite coal!

It takes time to sell a great public anything.

Whether for goods or service if you expect its general adoption by 1923 you should begin in 1919 to sell the idea."

The public is uninterested, lethargic and forgetful.

Brilliant strokes and meteoric sales campaigns exist chiefly in story books. But the persistent selling of the right ideas will win a national following with an eventual strength and power almost glacial.

"Selling the idea" is slang for securing the acceptance of anything from daylight-saving to an abstract service, by the public.

Ideas may be sold in time of war as in time of peace.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES, Nov. 13.—I passed last night in Ghent and saw the joy of this city of Belgium after its liberation. It was the last Belgian town to be rescued before the armistice. The Germans had clung to it as the pivot of their retreat, holding the canal in front of it by machine gun fire, and it was not until 2 o'clock on Monday morning that they went away.

Twelve Belgian soldiers were the first to enter, at 7 o'clock, led by a young Belgian Lieutenant, whom I met last night, and a few minutes afterward all the streets were filled with the citizens of Ghent shouting, cheering, embracing these soldiers and each other.

The enemy had gone after four years of oppression, and as dawn came it rose upon a day of liberty. Bells rang out from all the churches as they are now ringing while I write, and from the old belfries of Ghent there were joyful carillons.

The Belgian troops marched in, and their artillery passed through, and the people covered them with flags, and the music of their bands was overwhelmed by shouts of "Vive la Belgique."

It was beyond the British sphere of action, and yesterday when I went into Ghent with two other men the sight of our uniforms aroused new enthusiasm, and crowds surrounded us with outstretched hands and words of thanks to England. It was astonishing how many people spoke English in those crowds of men and women who pressed close to tell of things they had suffered, and again, as always in these captured cities, of the awful misery of British prisoners.

Greeted with English Songs.

This welcome was almost embarrassing. In cafés people rose to cheer, with cries of "Vivent les Anglais," and clappings of hands, and in one place where I went they sang "God Save the King" in English, knowing all the words. And down many streets Belgian boys and girls, dancing arm in arm, were singing "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary" as though it were one of their own folk songs.

French lorries came through the city laden with young poilus under their Tricolor, and the people of Ghent gave them an enthusiastic welcome, and the shout of "Vive la France" traveled down the streets.

Darkness came into this Old World town, with its tall Flemish houses of red brick and stepped gables, unchanged in many parts since Charles II. was in exile here, and with its Hôtel de Ville and Palaise de Justice richly sculptured by Flemish craftsmen who were great artists, and with its churches and cathedrals and belfries, whose bells have rung above the city through many centuries of joy and woe—darkness came, but not in the hearts of the people nor in their windows. For the first time in five Winters of war they lighted their lamps with open shutters, and from many windows there streamed out bright beams which lured one like a moth to candlelight because of its sign of peace. There were bright stars and a crescent moon in the sky, silvering the Flemish gables and frontages between black shadows and making patterns of lace in the Place d'Armes below the trees with their Autumn foliage.

Dancing in Moonlit Streets.

In these lights and in these shadows the people of Ghent danced and sang until midnight chimed. They danced in baker's dozens, with linked arms, men and girls together, singing in deep voices and high voices, all mingling, so that when I went to my bedroom and looked out of the casement window it rose in a chorus from all over the city, like music by Debussy.

One song came as a constant refrain between all the others. It was "The Marseillaise." They sang it in crowds and in small groups of soldiers and students, and I followed one man, who walked alone down a deserted avenue and who as he walked sang the song of liberty to himself, brandishing his stick, while his voice rang out with a kind of estasy and passion: "Allons, enfants de la patrie! Le jour de gloire est arrivé!"

There is something in "The Marseillaise" which strikes the chords of men's hearts with a deep vibration; and as I heard this lonely man singing it through Ghent, and the chorus of it in all parts of the city, I thought of those days of revolution in France when it was sung in the light of burning châteaux.

There were scenes in Ghent last night which brought back the memory of that time. Late at night there was a red glare of fire above the spires and belfries, and I walked toward it and heard the roar of many voices, and then came into the square, where the light of high flames was flung upon old houses and upon the figures of many people. There was a house there called the Hôtel of the Half Moon. Its windows had been heaved out, and inside it Belgian soldiers and citizens were flinging out tables, chairs, planks, and wainscoting to feed the bonfire below, and every time the flames licked up to this new fuel there were shouts from the crowd.

Bonfire of "Activist" Furniture.

I asked what it meant and was told that this house had been used as the headquarters of the German organization for the "Flemish Activists," the object of which was to divide the Walloons, or French-speaking people, from the Flemings in the interest of Germany. This was the people's revenge for those who had tried to sow the seeds of hatred among them.

Some men standing by disapproved. "The Germans have made too many fires in this war," they said. "We do not want to destroy our own houses now that they are gone." But others said: "It is natural in the excitement of our new-found liberty."

The German clubs used by officers were being sacked last night, and the shops where Germans had sold goods stolen from the Belgians, their cigars and their wine, were smashed with a wild splintering of shutters and windows, amid the laughter of the mob.

Walking down one street before those scenes happened, I heard English voices and found three young soldiers—an Englishman, an Irishman, and a Scot—who had been prisoners in Germany and had escaped to Ghent after strange adventures and had lain hidden in that city, helped by kind people, for a fortnight before the enemy fled. I had heard of them already from two women who had befriended them—Mrs. Pratt, who was called "the war mother" by the British prisoners in Ghent, and her daughter, who had taken great risks with laughing courage to help the men. She had carried on her work, knowing the penalty if discovered. She had been under grave suspicion by the German police, and had been put in prison for smuggling food to prisoners, and had suffered much hardship in crowded cells.

Tale of Three British Prisoners.

I talked with the three soldiers and they told me of their escape. They had been taken prisoners in Flanders—the Irishman at Dadizeele, the Scot and Englishman somewhere beyond Kemmel. They met in prison at Termonde, where they were kept with a number of French and Belgian prisoners, and some other British.

It was the condition of the British prisoners—1,600 of them, working at forced labor in this district—which made these men determine to escape. "Their bones were sticking out of their faces, like living skeletons," said the Scot.

They got away at night by climbing up a high wall and dropping down on the other side, when the young Scot hurt his knee and limped badly on his way. They were on a long avenue of trees and kept under cover of them, getting their direction by the North Star. They had to pass a German sentry who was marching up and down with a long pipe in his mouth, and dodged him by a stroke of luck.

They walked, mostly at night, sleeping during the day in barns and under hedges and begging for food at cottage doors, trusting to the sympathy of the Belgian peasants, which never failed them, though a score of times they narrowly escaped German soldiers who were all about those places.

Then they came to Ghent and were passed on by the good people to a little group of men and women who were organized to help men like themselves. For a fortnight they had hidden in a room divided from another by a sliding door. The Germans were always in and out of the house, and the three soldiers had a mirror over their door and could see who entered the outer room, so that if it were a German, they kept still as mice. But, dressed in civilian clothes, they went out in the streets among hundreds of German soldiers, and only once did they think they were lost.

This was when a German officer came up to ask them the way to some village outside of Ghent. They did not know its name, but one of them flung out his arm in the opposite direction, as though it were straight ahead, and the German officer nodded and went away.

"We were very lucky," said the young Scot, and he spoke gravely, as a man who had been through many perils.

English Girl Fed Prisoners.

One English girl in Ghent did fine work all through these years in smuggling food to British and French prisoners. At first this was done on a raft, across the water outside the prison, which the prisoners used to draw up by a bit of string; but that was discovered, and afterward this young woman, Miss Ethel Raynes, and her friends used to throw parcels over the wall by stones and slings. It was risky work, this charity to starving men, and Miss Raynes, like Miss Pratt and others, was arrested and brought before a Judge.

He was sorry for her, she says, and expressed his regret at having to sentence her to a week's imprisonment, but she was sent to prison, all the same. In a narrow cell she was herded with women of bad character, eleven in one cell, so that they could hardly move, but by a subterfuge she was able to have food sent to her from the outside.

Well, all that is now in the past, and today in Ghent there are vast cheering crowds, and King Albert is making his triumphal entry into his city, and the sun is shining with a golden light upon all the old roofs of Ghent and upon the crowded balconies from which banners hang.

The King and Queen came riding in with the young Prince, escorted by Belgian, French, and British Generals, and as they came white flowers were thrown from all the balconies, and their petals fell about like confetti. They took up a position outside the old club in the Place d'Armes, and cheers swept round them in storms. Then there was a march past of Belgian troops, men who had fought on the Yser in the old bad days of mud and blood and those who, in the last days, had stormed their way through with guns and cavalry. They had flowers in their rifles and on their helmets and looked like veterans as they marched under their heavy packs.

The Queen of the Belgians wore a light habit with a little linen cap and was a simple figure. There next to her was the tall King, whose face has been bronzed and hardened by four years in the field with his men. It is a great day for Belgium, and the air is full of music and the gladness of a brave people whose courage has won through to victory.

AMERICAN HONOR CONFERRED ON FOCH

Pershing Presents Service Medal to the Marshal, Who Praises Valor of Our Armies.

MEUSE VICTORY IS OURS

Generalissimo Declares the Word May Always Be Borne with Pride on American Standards.

SENLIS, Tuesday, Nov. 12.—General John J. Pershing, Commander of the American forces in France, today conferred upon Marshal Foch, the Commander-in-Chief of the Allied armies, the American Distinguished Service Medal. The presentation was made in the name of President Wilson at the villa where Marshal Foch has his headquarters and was an impressive ceremony.

A guard of honor was drawn up at headquarters and trumpeters blew a fanfare as Marshal Foch, with General Pershing on his right, took positions a few paces in front of the guard. General Pershing, addressing the Generalissimo, said:

"The Congress of the United States has created this medal to be conferred upon those who have rendered distinguished service to our country. President Wilson has directed me to present to you the first of these medals, in the name of the United States Government and the American army, as an expression of their admiration and their confidence. It is a token of the gratitude of the American people for your achievements and for the great services you have rendered to our army. I am very happy to have been given the honor of presenting this medal to you."

General Pershing then pinned the medal on Marshal Foch's breast and the two stood with their hands clasped as the trumpet sounded once more.

In accepting the decoration, Marshal Foch said:

"I will wear this medal with pleasure and pride. In days of triumph, as well as in dark and critical hours. I shall never forget that tragical day in March when, stirred by a generous impulse, you came and placed at my disposition the entire resources of your army. Today we have gained the greatest battle in history and saved the most sacred cause—the liberty of the world.

"An important part is due to the action undertaken and well carried through by the American army upon the two banks of the Meuse. For the last two months the American army has fought in a most difficult region a fierce and ceaseless battle. The complete success of this struggle is due to the fine qualities displayed by all.

"I do not forget the breadth and clearness of conception on the part of the generals, the method and ability on the part of the staffs and the ceaseless energy and indomitable courage of the men. Nor do I forget that at the moment when this vital battle was being fought by your principal forces, American divisions were reinforcing the armies of their allies on other fighting fronts where their conduct evoked the ardent admiration of us all.

"General, I thank you with all my heart for the aid you have brought us. For all time the words 'La Meuse' can be borne with merited pride upon the standards of the American Army. I will keep in my heart the recollection of those great hours, often very difficult, but now crowned with glory, during which we fought together for liberty, justice and civilization."

Accompanying General Pershing to Marshal Foch's headquarters were Colonels Nott, Boyd, Poillon, Mathews, Quackmeyer and White. Marshal Foch was attended by Generals Weygand and Destricker.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—Messages of congratulation and gratitude from President Wilson and the American people were presented to Marshal Foch, Marshal Joffre and General Petain yesterday by General Pershing. General Pershing today went to British main headquarters where he will present the Distinguished Service Medal to Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig.

LLOYD GEORGE FAVORS KEEPING UP WAR WAGES

Thinks Scale Should Stand Six Months—Seeks Aid of Employers and Workers.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Premier Lloyd George, in an address yesterday before the representatives of the employers' associations and trades unions of the principal industries of the country, declared that the Government wished to have their assistance and advice as to the course which should be adopted to make provision for the carrying out of the pledges given by the Government in March, 1915. At that time the unions were requested to relax during the period of the war certain union practices and customs.

Provision must be made, he said, for conditions which are now arising in connection with wages, owing to the fact that with the change from munitions work to private work the rate of wages which had been fixed by awards and orders under the Munitions War act would cease to have effect.

The Government, he declared, intended that the pledges given would be carried out. He said it was the policy of the Government, with, he hoped, the assent of the employers' and work peoples' associations, to provide that during the immediate transition period the present level of wages, due to the high cost of living, should be maintained for at least a period of six months, unless altered by agreement between the various parties concerned or by reference to an independent tribunal.

A Consultative Committee was appointed by the employers and work peoples' representatives, in accordance with the suggestion made by the Government that there should be a joint discussion of the subject, and that it should be dealt with immediately.

GERMAN COMMANDERS ANXIOUS TO YIELD ARMS

Offers Come Simultaneously with Reports of Looting and Mutiny in Belgium.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—A message from the allied high command to the German high command has been sent out by the French Government wireless stations. It reads:

"The commanders of the German Armies continue to propose to the commanders of the allied armies facing them that they should immediately hand over their war material and prisoners to the allies."

German soldiers are committing acts of violence against inhabitants and are destroying and pillaging, contrary to the terms of the armistice, according to a French official wireless message received here today.

The message, which is from the Allied High Command to the German High Command, says that the Allied command expects the German command to take measures to stop the violations. If the acts increase, it is added the Allied command will take steps to end them.

The Germans are violating the armistice at different points, and especially in Belgium in the region of Brussels.

The wireless message reads:

"From Marshal Foch to the German High Command: Information has been received by the Allied High Command that at different points, especially in Belgium and more particularly in the Brussels region, the German troops are committing acts of violence against the inhabitants and acts of destruction and pillage which are clearly contrary to the conditions of the armistice.

"The Allied Command expects that the German High Command will, without delay, take measures necessary to stop these violations of the convention which has been signed. If the acts do not cease within a very short period, the Allied High Command will be obliged to take steps to put an end to them."

Field Marshal von Hindenburg remains as head of the Supreme Army Command, according to a German wireless message received here yesterday, which gives the text of message he sent to army commanders ordering them to lead their troops home in order and discipline.

The order of the Field Marshal reads:

"To all, and especially the army group under Field Marshal von Mackensen (in Rumania): I remain as hitherto the head of the Supreme Army Command in order to lead the troops home in order and discipline. I exepct the command, staffs, officers, non-commissioned officers and men to continue to do their duty. Thisels to be made known to all the troops."

Red Flag Floats Over Brussels.

GHENT, Nov. 13, (Associated Press.)—Brussels has shaken itself free of the German yoke. German soldiers themselves are removing the shackles of the long-suffering population.

The red flag floats over the headquarters of the German commandant, and the officers have been disarmed.

General von Falkenhausen, the German Governor General of Belgium, has resigned.

Conflicting rumors as to the situation in Brussels reached this city yesterday. Reports were current that German soldiers there had mutinied and shot their officers and were burning and pillaging the city.

Belgian advance scouts were yesterday halfway from Ghent to Brussels. Should reports of the mutiny be confirmed, a flying column will be sent to restore order at the capital.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 14, (Associated Press.)—Ninety persons have been killed or injured in street fighting at Brussels, according to an announcement made here today.

PARIS, Nov. 14, (Havas.)—Two German noncommissioned officers landed in an airplane yesterday at Thorn, in the Dutch province of Limburg, according to a dispatch from Roermond, Holland. They said that the population of Brussels had revolted against the Germans. They added that the German officers at the Belgian capital, not daring to leave in airplanes, on account of the bad weather, would try to flee in automobiles.

EX-KAISER NOW SECLUDED.

Cannot Change His Residence Without Dutch Permission.

By GEORGE RENWICK.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 13.—"Het Huis te Amerongen," (the House of Amerongen,) as Count Goddard Bentinck's residence near Maarn is called, contains an enormous number of art treasures and stands in the middle of beautiful and extensive grounds, which will enable the refugee ex-Kaiser to take his exercise undisturbed by onlookers.

It was at the request of the Dutch Government that the ex-Kaiser went to Amerongen, and it is practically correct to say that he is interned. He will enjoy some degree of personal freedom, but he will not be able to change his residence without special permission of the Dutch Government. His luggage has been carefully inspected, and he will only be allowed to have strictly personal belongings. Anything else will be confiscated.

In Germany, according to the latest news, the ex-Kaiser's flight is looked upon generally as a rather miserable performance, especially on account of the fact that he crossed the frontier without his consort or any of his family. The ex-Kaiserin is now said to be at Potsdam, where she is lying seriously ill. The former Crown Princess is with her.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 13, (Associated Press).—William Hohenzollern, who, as German Emperor, never liked to be kept waiting, had to remain Sunday in what amounted to temporary arrest in a railway car at a small wayside station until word came from The Hague permitting him to proceed on his way and telling him where to go. The former Emperor, continues a contributor to a Maastricht newspaper, felt his position keenly and kept himself hidden in a railway car throughout his stay at the station.

Some of his companions were much more visibly impressed with the situation than the ex-Kaiser. At any rate, the aged Admiral Count Oscar von Platen-Hallermund, chief of the former Imperial military house, was seen repeatedly to be wiping his eyes.

"He shall be the last of his dynasty," is recalled by the writer among other ancient prophesies, another being: "He shall seek the sanctuary of Dutch soil with no more followers than can stand under the shade of a good-sized tree."

It was noticed at Eysden that the Imperial Crown with the motto "Gott Mit Uns" on at least two of William's motor cars was caked with mud to a greater extent than could be attributed to the state of the roads. The inference is that these cars came over "unsafe" roads and were demudded intentionally so that their occupants would escape molestation.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Queen Wilhelmina, according to The Frankfurter Zeitung, as quoted in a Copenhagen dispatch, wished to extend hospitality to the former German Emperor while he remained in Holland. However, the newspaper adds, as Holland itself fears the coming days, it was found desirable that he should live as a private individual.

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—(Via Basle, Nov. 14.)—Field Marshal von Hindenburg has issued a proclamation to the German Army, saying in substance:

"The ever-growing number of our enemies, the exhaustion of our Allies and the urgent crisis in the provisioning of our country have forced us to accept the hard conditions of the armistice. By the terms of the armistice we are obliged to return rapidly to the Fatherland, which is a heavy task.

"You will never be abandoned by your Field Marshal in the struggle. He will ever be confident in you."

TWO MORE RULERS OUT.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Prince Friedrich of Waldeck-Pyrmont has voluntarily relinquished his Government, a Reuter dispatch from Copenhagen states.

The abdication of Duke Edward of Anhalt is reported from Berlin. He has resigned the throne in favor of his nephew, Joachim Ernst, who was born in 1901.

A Karlsruhe dispatch states that the Grand-Duke of Baden has postponed his abdication, the revolution in Baden having assumed a quieter aspect. On the other hand, a dispatch from Basle says that the revolutionary governments at Mannheim, Rastatt, and Heidelberg have summoned the Grand Duke to abdicate.

The negotiations between the Soldiers' Council and the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimar were prolonged and dramatic. The Grand Duke persistently refused to abdicate, but finally yielded. On account of his unpopularity the Council advised him to go to some small town.

HUNT KAISER'S PROPERTY.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Following the Kaiser's abdication, Federal authorities here began an investigation to discover the identity of a group of of German-Americans, some probably Chicagoans, who are said to be the nominal holders of immense property owned by the Kaiser. The inquiry centers around Count Alvo von Alvensleben, now a prisoner at Frort Douglas, Utah. It involves the transfer of millions of dollars' worth of timber and mineral lands in the Northwest and Canada.

Von Alvensleben is alleged to have held a meeting at the Stratford Hotel on Sept. 8, 1915, when details for the transfer of Canadian lands, belonging to the Kaiser were arranged.

Among the tracts held, it is said, was a block of timber limits and land, reaching from the Pacific Coast into the interior, and worth about $9,000,000. The Canadian lands, it is said, were originaly held under the firm name of "Alvo von Alvensleben, Ltd." Associated with von Alvensleben were three brothers.

Soon after the war began pressure was put upon the British Columbia Government and the Dominion authorities with a view to confiscation of the Alvensleben holdings. It is said that the Kaiser, becoming alarmed, sent Dr. Dernberg to this country to arrange for the transfer of the Alvensleben holdings to German-Americans. It is asserted that Dr. Dernberg effected the transfers so well that the ownership of the holdings could not be discovered.

DOWNED 473 IN 2 MONTHS.

American Aviators' Bag of Planes Already Certified Up to 353.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Nov. 12, (Associated Press.)—In the period from Sept. 12 to 11 o'clock on the morning of Nov. 11, American aviators assert that they brought down 473 German machines. Of this number 353 have already been officially certified. Day bombing groups from the time they began operations dropped a total of 116,818 kilograms of bombs within the German lines.

Bombing operations were begun in August by the Ninety-sixth Squadron, which in five flying days dropped 18,080 kilograms of bombs. The first day bombardment group began work in September, the group including the Ninety-sixth, the Twentieth and Eleventh Squadrons. The 166th Squadron joined the group in November.

In twelve flying days in September the bombers dropped 34,626 kilograms of bombs; in fifteen flying days in October 46,133 kilograms, and four flying days in November 17,979 kilograms.

Except for Sunday and one or two other days the American aviators had unfavorable flying weather during the week previous to the signing of the armistice.

Many spectular flights were planned for 11 o'clock Monday and just before that hour, but a heavy mist on the entire front prevented all but a few planes from venturing forth. One of those who went out was Captain Edward Rickenbacker, but the mist compelled him to turn back when he reached Verdun.

URGES PRAYER BY CITY.

Mayor Proclaims Two Days for Thanksgiving in Churches.

Mayor Hylan yesterday issued the following proclamation:

To the People of the City of New York:

The momentous events of the past few days, bringing to a close the greatest war in all history, overthrowing Kings, dynasties and intrenched autocracy, rescuing the world from the dominance of Might and establishing in its place light and justice, have caused the hearts of our people to rejoice and to fill them with gratitude to Almighty God for His guidance, care, and protection in this unparalleled crisis through which we have just passed.

Our faith in God is indeed strengthened; we know that He is near. This is true of soldier and civilian alike. Let us, therefore, take the earliest opportunity to express our thanks to God before we devote a time, as we must, and will, justly and proudly do, to celebrate the glorious deeds of those great leaders here and abroad, to our own army and navy and the armies and navies of our allies, who led so valiantly and fought so gloriously and successfully in defense of justice and humanity.

For this purpose I proclaim Saturday and Sunday, the 16th and 17th days of November, as days of prayer and thanks to God for His special care and guidance and protection in the war which has just come to an end, and ask that the churches be kept open on either of these days and that special prayers of thanksgiving be offered up.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the City of New York to be affixed.

Done in the City of New York, this fourteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

Big Demand for Released Workers.

It was announced yesterday that about 1,000 of the 12,000 workers, whose work in the gas defense plant in Long Island City was ordered discontinued by the Government following the armistice, had already found other places. The plant was flooded during the day by telegrams from employers seeking to obtain the released workers, and it was said that it was likely that all of the gas mask makers would soon be taken into other enterprises.

RIVAL DIVISIONS RACED FOR SEDAN

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Both divisions participated in the fighting at Waldincourt and on the heights south of Sedan, and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Americans entered the southern part of Sedan.

Far be it from me to say whether the men of the 1st or the 42d got there first. One cannot find out by asking either division. I may only set it down that official betting at Army Headquarters favors the Rainbow.

But while the 1st and the 42d Divisions were racing for Sedan, a French division which had been ordered by General Gouraud to proceed to Sedan found the only usable highway blocked by the hurrying Americans, who entered there first.

French Now Hold Sedan.

To add to the thoroughness of the exploit, the 2d Division sent back word late that night that it also had reached Sedan, having moved up along the Meuse, not knowing that it had considerable rivalry for the honor.

The Americans have all been withdrawn now from Sedan, leaving it to a French division, except that for courtesy, sentiment, or some other reason one company of Americans is there with the French troops.

If one does not want to start an argument one will not do what I did—ask the headquarters of the 1st and 42d Divisions which got to Sedan first. I asked a very diplomatic Colonel attached to the headquarters of the army to tell me which it was. His reply was:

"You may say safely that the First American Army reached Sedan first."

One may add that this race was not due to any one's fault or any mistake. It was an entirely proper thing, for the army's orders were to pursue the enemy with all vigor back to the Meuse, and other orders stated that strict sector lines might be disregarded if the exigencies seemed to require.

Whatever may be said in the years to come about which division got to Sedan first, one may safely say that if the entire Fifth German Army had tried to hold the heights south of Sedan it would have had a great struggle with the following regiments: The 165th, 166th, 167th, and 168th Infantry of the 1st Division, and the 5th and 6th Regiments of Marines and the 9th and 23d Infantry of the 2d Division.

The regiments of the 6th Division were right behind these if they were needed.

I reached Sedan after overcoming the worst transportation difficulties ever put in front of our army by the foe. Every bridge and every culvert had been blown out, and where there were no bridges or culverts the retreating enemy blew out stretches of road. One stretch of 200 yards had nine mine holes, each of which was big enough to hold a house. Our engineers by rushing work bridged these holes, but it was a formidable task.

White Flags Protected Germans.

Nothing could better tell the story of the great battle since Sept. 26 than the trip I took. Down around Varennes, on the remnants of the old Hindenburg line, there is hardly an inch of the terrain but is torn by shellfire. Up at Grand Pré all is desolation. Of the once pretty villages only mounds of stones remain. At Buzancy the destruction decreases. Then when one reaches Tannay and Chemery, towns practically untouched by shellfire, he finds civilians standing on the sidewalks, watching the Americans with wide-open eyes. From Chemery, up to the time when the advance started on Nov. 1 and it became apparent that the Americans would reach villages holding civilians, the Germans sent word that white flags would be hoisted over every house holding citizens, and that if we wished to avoid killing civilians we would not fire on those houses. The Americans stopped fire, in accordance with this notice. This accounts for the untouched villages.

It now develops that the Germans hoisted white flags on some places forty-eight hours before they left, thus protecting themselves unfairly. At Maisoncelle the Mayor, M. Didaut, said that a German Major ordered him to hoist white flags over the village before they left, but he refused, tearing down the white flags which the Germans put up. It was not until the Germans had left that he allowed the white flags to go up.

The Germans took everything of value out of all the villages, but did not take any of the civilian population, as they did in Flanders and other parts of Northern France.

Several civilians told me what hard masters the Germans were. All were forced to work for the enemy twelve hours daily, from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M. To be late would mean a fine.

In this section women of refinement and wealth were forced to work in the fields. All men, women, and children were paid 10 sous a day, which is the equivalent of 10 cents. If it rained, those working in the fields were not allowed to seek shelter. Women with young children were forced to work with the others.

Attempts had been made during the four years to teach the children German, soldier schoolmasters being installed in their schools. This met with very little success.

Sedan Found Little Damaged.

As for Sedan, the city was in very good condition with the exception of damage caused in the northern part by the fires the Germans had set two and three days ago. Bridges are being built across the river. Civilians who have swum across the river at night say the Germans have moved into the hills north of the city. No shells are falling in Sedan, although the road from Frenois down into the city is being swept spasmodically by fire from machine guns and small field guns. There has been practically no fighting in the city, and the allied plan is to avoid that if possible.

The Germans two weeks ago directed all civilians to leave, but they refused, saying that they would stay until the allied soldiers had come. There are said to be about 5,000 civilians in the city, who are now literally in No Man's Land.

In these days of great allied victories the French rate at full importance the reaching of Sedan, so full of historic interest for them.

Reconstruction of Industry Likely to Fall to Present Chairman of Board.

TRADE EXPANSION IN SIGHT

CARE IN CUTTING CONTRACTS

Army Purchasing Bureaus Ordered to Consult War Board Before Acting.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—President Wilson, it is believed in official circles, will, within a week or ten days, announce the Administration's plans for the great era of after-war reconstruction.

The breakdown of the German war machine, practically overnight, when many were predicting that the war would extend into 1919, brought the country face to face with many problems, and definite action by the President, it is felt, will go far to avoid anything resembling chaos.

Most officials seem to agree that there is no reason for economic disturbance in this country if a comprehensive program is adopted without delay which will provide for a gradual resumption of industrial and commercial activities of normal times. To accomplish this, some officials who have been in charge of building up the huge war program feel that the functions of some of the war agencies must be continued or put in the hands of a new organization which will have power to enforce its edicts.

May Ask New Legislation.

The President has been making a study of the situation, and has sought information from the heads of war boards. The general feeling seems to be that he will take no step to create a reconstruction commission, under the Overman act or other authority invested in him, without asking Congress for legislation.

The opinion most widely expressed here is that certain powers now possessed by the War Industries Board, War Trade Board, and the Food and Fuel Administrations, the tenure of each of which is somewhat uncertain, must be continued six to eighteen months to insure proper readjustment of the economic machinery of the country.

Those who believe that the President will seek to set up a reconstruction commission think Bernard M. Baruch, Chairman of the War Industries Board, whose powers probably would be reduced greatly when a declaration of peace is proclaimed, might be placed in charge of the work.

Until a declaration of peace, it is probable that most of the war agencies will continue, although some of the restrictive measures which they have put into effect may be withdrawn considerably before that time.

The War Council discussed the problem at length yesterday. The need for a concrete policy in regard to the scrapping of the war machine and the rehabilitation of the non-war industries was recognized and the officials are awaiting the formulation of the Administration's plan.

Pending decision as to a general policy the War Industries Board will continue to exercise a most important place in conducting reconstruction work. It has been agreed, for instance, that it shall work hand in hand with the War Department and that all proposed cancellations of war contracts shall be promptly reported to the War Industries Board, in order that materials, labor and facilities may be diverted in orderly fashion to the civilian needs. That will leave the War Industries Board, which has a mass of information concerning industrial conditions, in a position to advise as to the wisdom of steps in that direction.

War Board to Cut Contracts.

This decision is of the greatest importance because the readjustment will depend more largely upon the course which the War Department adopts in the cancellation of contracts, than on any other single factor in the situation. Here is the procedure under the agreement:

The commodity sections of the War Industries Board will forthwith either approve the reductions of orders recommended by the procuring bureau (of the War Department) or will modify the proposed reductions either as a whole or in individual cases, having in mind:

The effect of the proposed cancellations on the industry.

The effect on the given locality.

The effect on the given contractor.

An announcement by the War Industries Board to sections heads states that "it is clearly the intention that the commodity sections shall continue to be the point of contact with organized industry. The recommendation of the commodity section is required before the Government purchasing agency proceeds with final negotiations for reducing requirements, in order to insure the best method of handling the reductions, considering the stability of all industries and localities."

The War Department notified the supply bureaus of the army that in order to avoid a chaotic condition in industry and labor if contracts are suddenly reduced or canceled to obtain the advice and assistance of the War Industries Board.

The board will endeavor to bring about a reduction of War Department contracts in a manner which will make it possible to obtain employment in nonwar industries for the workmen released, or for the conversion of the war plants into plants manufacturing less essential commodities in such a manner that there will be but a short period between the cancellation of the war contract and the resuming of activities along peace time lines.

Chance for Expansion.

It is suggested that a great expansion of American industry might be contemplated, as the United States must certainly play a large part in the reconstruction work in Europe which would involve anywhere from $6,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000. This reconstruction work in Europe, it is said, is not to be restricted to Belgium and Northern France, but must reach into Rumania, Serbia, parts of Austria, Russia, and even East Prussia, where great havoc was wrought during the German retreat.

This work will demand huge quantities of machinery and materials for the construction of buildings and even cities, the reclamation of the soil, and possibly the restocking of some of the nations with cattle and hogs. Huge quantities of steel, iron, lead, copper, and other raw materials will be required, as well as quantities of clothing.

In this country also it is felt that the civilian demands will increase rapidly because of the reaction from the restraint which has been placed on the people for the last four years. Taxation is heavy, but, it is held, not destructive, and the buying power of the people is not depressed to a point which would force a restriction rather than a development of the non-war industries.

New trade channels, such as the nations of South America, also have been thrown open to American industry, providing another great demand upon the industries of this nation.

These factors and others, it is felt, will absorb the increased output of nonwar production which must come with peace conditions, and thus prevent a serious economic situation. At least, such is the judgment of a number of experts.

Mr. Baruch, in discussing the general situation today, laid emphasis upon the need which he felt existed for a permanent Government organization to project measures of conservation and standardization in connection with American industry.

Standardization Necessary.

Discussing the matter of conservation and standardization, Mr. Baruch called attention to the opportunity to make a matter of necessity a matter of advantage. The measure undertaken, he said, had been projected under the stress of the war program each measure taken up with the individual industry involved, and no attempt made to establish a general policy. The results achieved in this way, he declared, justified, in his belief, the suggestion that the whole subject should be transferred to one of the permanent agencies of the Government. Properly conceived, he declared, a policy of industrial conservation and standardization in time of peace would make for a saving in materials, money, and labor, and a consequent increase in productive capacities. Standardization of types and styles in various classes of commodities, he said, would make for cheaper costs of production and, resulting therefrom, lower prices to the consuming public.

At a meeting tomorrow of the War Industries Board and the representatives of the copper industry, Mr. Baruch said there would be discussed the whole situation affecting the industry.

As to the future ahead of the industry, Mr. Baruch expressed the opinion that the demand for copper would be heavy, and he remarked on the fact that between 75 and 85 per cent. of the copper production was in the hands of the American industry. With the refining facilities included, he thought, the proportion controlled by the American producers was nearer 90 per cent.

Mr. Baruch said that the extent to which industry is to be able quickly to take up the reconstruction demands is dependent to a very great degree upon the ability to get ships. Without ships, he declared, the War Industries Board would in great measure be powerless. The question remains to be decided as to what branch of the Government will handle the matter of allocating tonnage. The War Trade Board and the Shipping Board, he said, had the matter now under consideration.

With regard to the steel situation Chairman Baruch said that the steel manufacturers are anxious that some means be devised whereby the Railroad Administration might be empowered to place orders for cars, rails and other equipment. Concerning the labor situation Mr. Baruch declared that he had the utmost confidence that it would be adjusted without difficulty and without loss to the workers. It was his theory that labor would, and should, continue to be well paid, and he expressed the conviction that out of the better understanding existing between capital and labor as a result of the war would come a higher participation by labor in the fruits of its toil.

Announcement was made that the ban on industrial exhibitions such as automobile shows had been lifted.

What a Wonderful Week

The most glorious the World has ever known—the most wonderful, in all probability, that it ever will know. Joy has been unbounded, thankfulness unlimited. Let us, then, resolve now to make our GIVING unstinted. Let us GIVE and GIVE and GIVE AGAIN to the UNITED WAR WORK CAMPAIGN, and, in so doing, indicate in a substantial way our great gratitude to those wonderful boys "Over There" who made this week possible.

While nothing could make the week any more wonderful, we, in the Brill Stores, cannot help getting just a little bit of extra pleasure out of the fact that this week happens to be our 31st Anniversary week, which we are celebrating in a business way by offering as

Our Present to You

Overcoats and Suits

At $31.00

The Overcoats Were Priced up to $55.00. The Suits up to $45.00
After To-morrow Night They Return to Their Original Prices

Most of them are, by the Great House of Kuppenheimer, which is sufficient indication of what they are and of how wholesome and unusual an opportunity is presented to you right in mid-season for purchasing the most desirable clothing made, at so material a price reduction. They are supplemented by a choice selection of Brill Suits and Overcoats, of similar former prices.

This is not a permanent price reduction, nor is it an indication of other reductions to come. It is merely our manner of indicating our appreciation in a concrete way. When our Birthday Party terminates, to-morrow night, every Suit and Overcoat offered here at $31.00 will go back to its original higher selling price, and not a Suit or Overcoat in the lot will be obtainable Monday at $31.00.

FORCES BALLOT BOX WITH HAIRPIN JIMMY

CULPRITS TRY IT OVER AGAIN

Members of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, representing 200,000 women of the State, in convention at the Hotel Astor yesterday made the awful discovery that having received their political emancipation they did not know how to vote. It was the annual election and the women had been voting for some time, leaving the big Assembly Hall where the convention was in session in delegations, when a woman rose to call the attention of the President to the fact—she did not say how she had gathered the information—that some of the women had voted illegally.

A committee of three was hastily appointed—Miss Mary Garrett Hay, Miss Mary Wood, and Mrs. Elmer Blair—to bring in the ballot box and investigate.

"It is locked," said Miss Hay as she tried to open the box while the convention held its breath. "Bring a key."

"It is not locked," called an election officer, "break the paper."

With a hairpin Miss Hay jimmied through a little strap of paper and one by one took out the ballots. Twenty-three of the women had voted for four directors from as many districts, whereas each woman should vote only for the one director of her own district.

"Why I voted for four directors," came in a gentle voice from the platform, that of the octogenarian Honorary President of the Federation, Mrs. William Tod Helmuth, who has spent the greater part of her long life preparing for the maiden vote which she cast in real politics on the fifth of this month.

Miss Hay solemnly destroyed the 23 illegal ballots before the audience and the illegal voters were allowed to try again as there had been no instructions on their ballots. Mrs. Charles Griffin was appointed special ballot instructor and stood at the entrance to the polling place to answer questions.

The announcement of the result of the election was made at the evening session. Mrs. George D. Hewitt was re-elected President and other officers were Mrs. Walter S. Comly, Port Chester, First Vice President; Mrs. Asa Wynkook, Albany, Second, and Mrs. A. C. Bage, New York City, Third; Mrs. Edward C. Whitmeyer, Schenectady, Recording Secretary; Mrs. Charles J. Reeder, Carthage, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. Julius H. Potter, Buffalo, Treasurer; Mrs. John Francis Yawger, New York City, General Federation Secretary. The convention closed last evening.

To Clothe Former German Soldiers.

In anticipation of the demobilization of the German armies, the Imperial Clothing Office has worked out a plan to furnish 1,250,000 suits and 250,000 overcoats to returned soldiers who cannot afford to pay the ordinary prices for such articles, reports the Hamburger Fremdenblatt of Oct. 21. The overcoats and 750,000 of the suits are to be made up out of worn army clothing and 500,000 new suits will be manufactured. The very poor soldiers are to receive 200,000 suits and 50,000 coats gratis, while the Clothing Office is to contribute from $2.50 to $3.50 to each man who is entitled to buy the others. For this task of the Clothing Office the Treasury has appropriated about $5,000,000.

MANY ENEMY SHIPS FREE TO CARRY FOOD

Task of Hoover and Hurley Facilitated by 1,500,000 Additional Tons Available.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Food Administrator Hoover and Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board will sail Saturday on the White Star liner Olympic for Europe to study problems connected with the interallied program for feeding the people of Northern France, Belgium, Central Europe, and the Near East.

At the Food Administration today it was said that ships are now leaving American ports and Argentina with greatly increased supplies of food for Northern France and Belgium and that food for the peoples of Central Europe and the Near East will go forward as quickly as shipping tonnage is made available. Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, representative of both the Food Administration and the War Trade Board, is accompanying Mr. Hoover and will go to the Balkans to direct relief work there.

In addition to this program, the United States, it was stated today, will continue to carry out its food agreements with the various neutrals. Holland and Switzerland are said to be still badly in need of supplies, while the economic agreements with Sweden, Norway, Spain and Denmark still are in force.

Shipping Board officials estimated today that the signing of the armistice with Germany will result in the release of about 1,500,000 tons of additional shipping for carrying supplies to needy countries. Of this amount, 1,200 000 tons is represented by German ships tied up in Germany or neutral ports. Austria is believed to have 250,000 tons of shipping in its ports.

There is a possibility that this Government may charge Germany cash for food for her population. Mr. Hoover told a group of Senators this morning he would ascertain whether the supplies for the Germans should be extended on a cash or credit basis. An idea prevails that Germany's money supply is by no means exhausted, and it may be that the new Government in the erstwhile monarchy will be required to make payment practically at once for the food.

STRIKE AT ARMY PLANT.

Laborers Quit In Brooklyn When Government Stops Overtime.

About 3,000 laborers who had been employed on the construction work at the army supply depot at Second Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street, South Brooklyn, went on strike yesterday when orders received from Washington calling for the elimination of overtime were put into effect by the Turner Construction Company, which is acting as the Government's agent in building the storage warehouses. The strike was said to be the first to take place in or about New York since the Government decided in view of the signing of the armistice with Germany to return to the eight-hour day without extra time.

It was said in behalf of the Turner Company that, although it was erecting the buildings, the conditions of employment were subject to Government order, officials asserting that they were not responsible for the abolishment of overtime, which, it was said, had now become a fixed policy of the Washington authorities so far as all war emergency work was concerned.

While the contracting firm made no statement yesterday, it was intimated that an appeal might be made to the Government by some of the contractors doing war work at the base for a modification of the order on the ground that it had been applied prematurely and in advance of a drop in the cost of living.

It was reported that twenty men had left their jobs for the same reason at the new naval fleet base under construction at Third Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street, South Brooklyn, and that 100 more were out at the naval barracks under construction at Shore Road and Seventy-ninth Street.

JUST as we have put our tailoring in a class by itself, so do we put our variety of styles.

What other store in America—and New York is America—can show, this morning, such a range of overcoats?

What other store can display such perfectly developed styles in so incredibly wide a range?

And what other store—or custom tailor for that matter—can offer such a fill of feelably fine fabrics?

Cork—the Shock Absorber

You know well the resilient quality of cork—the ability to withstand or absorb shocks. Add to these assets the yielding, pillowing characteristic of wool felt and the resultant bulwark is a shock absorber without peer.

Such is the shield which has been built into the Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoe—putting your feet upon a yielding resilient surface through which the shocks and jars of walking are minimized if not entirely absorbed.

LIEUT. M. G. PEABODY KILLED IN ACTION

LIEUT. LESLIE WOUNDED

Officer in Rainbow Division Appears on the Casualty List for the Fourth Time.

Lieutenant Marshall G. Peabody of the 306th Machine Gun Battalion of the 77th Division was killed in action on Oct. 8. He was the son of Alexander M. Peabody, formerly a well known New York banker. Lieutenant Peabody before entering the service was the New York representative of the Philadelphia banking house of Brooks, Stokes & Co. A few days before he was killed he was the only officer of his machine gun battalion to survive a battle in which the unit was engaged, and he is understood to have been in command of the battalion when he was killed.

Lieutenant Harry Van Holland, wounded, was connected with the C Building Department, when he resigned to enter the service. He is 38 years of age and went to France with Company M of the 165th Infantry. His mother lives at 273 Sumpter Street, Brooklyn.

Lieutenant William S. Bull of the Medical Corps, was killed while attending the wounded on the battlefield. He was 30 years of age and was a graduate of the Long Island College Hospital. He was for a time a member of the Flower Hospital staff. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Marie Ledoes of Newark.

Lieutenant Kenneth Gow, killed on Oct. 18, was in the machine gun company of the 107th Infantry. He lived at 12 Caldwell Avenue, Summit, N. J.

Lieutenant J. Langdon Leslie is reported wounded for the fourth time since the Rainbow Division went into action over a year ago. He was first wounded on March 10. Two weeks later he was gassed, and on July 20 he was severely wounded. The War Department telegram to his mother, who is Mrs. George T. Leslie of 77 Sanford Avenue, Flushing, states that Lieutenant Leslie was wounded the last time on Sept. 16.

Lieutenant Herbert Blankfort, a Princeton student when Congress declared war, has been wounded. He is a graduate of the Plattsburg Camp, and his home is at 519 Pittman Avenue, Brooklyn. He is 21 years of age, and is in the Camp Dix Division.

Lieutenant Clifford W. Henry, died of wounds on Oct. 16. He was in the New England Division, and fell while leading his men against a German machine gun nest. He was a son of Mrs. Ira W. Henry of this city and Greenwich, Conn., and was a senior at Harvard when this country entered the war.

Roger A. Montgomery, killed at Cambrai on Oct. 1, was a member of Co. K of the 107th Infantry. He was twenty years of age and was an assistant cashier in the Seaboard National Bank, this city, when he resigned to go to war with the New York Division.

Sergeant Thomas E. Campbell, killed, lived at 67 Adelphi Street, Brooklyn. He was in Co. C of the 305th Infantry.

Sergeant Frank X. Reilly, wounded, is a Brooklyn newspaper reporter, who went to France with Co. C of the 326th Infantry. He was wounded on Oct. 15 in the Argonne Forest operation. He is a son of Thomas F. Reilly of 558 Second Street, Brooklyn.

Meyer Kaplan, killed, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kessel Kaplan of 75 Norfolk Street. He was a member of Co. C of the 305th Infantry.

Joseph A. Gough, Jr., killed, was in the Upton Division. His home was at 404 West Thirteenth Street.

James J. Tivers, dead of wounds, was a son of Mrs. Catherine Tivers of 876 Dawson Street, the Bronx. He was in Co. C of the 110th Infantry.

Corporal Robert J. Duane, dead of wounds, was a member of Co. C of the 107th Infantry. His home was at 54 West 105th Street.

William E. Irwin, Jr., killed, was employed when he entered the service in the banking house of Spencer Trask & Co. He was a member of Co. I of the 107th Infantry. His home was at Riverdale Avenue and 259th Street.

Isidore Ashe, dead of wounds, was in the 325th Infantry. He lived at 560 Stone Avenue, Brooklyn.

Herman Wellman, dead of wounds, lived at 44 Beaver Street, Brooklyn. He was in Co. K of the 328th Infantry.

Sergeant James Van Alst, Jr., wounded, is in Co. F of the 302d Engineers. His home is at 481 Fourteenth Street, Brooklyn. He is a graduate of Pratt Institute and the University of Pennsylvania.

Theodore P. Jensen, dead of wounds, lived, when he enlisted in the Regular Army, at 240 Thirteenth Street, Brooklyn. He was a member of Co. E of the Thirty-ninth Infantry.

Alexander S. Hartley, wounded, is a son of Thomas Hartley of 8,505 Thirteenth Avenue, Brooklyn. He is in Co. B of the 106th Infantry.

Raymond Hottenroth, killed, was a son of Mrs. George Hottenroth of 6 Raleigh Place, Brooklyn. He was in Co. C of the 106th Infantry.

Sergeant John Jones, wounded, is in Co. G of the 106th Infantry. His home is at 307 Hicks Street, Brooklyn.

James Maher, wounded, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Maher of Whitestone, L. I. Private Maher is a New York Division courier.

Services for Dead Airmen.

Services in memory of Lieutenant Philip Newbold Rhinelander and Lieutenant Harry Campbell Preston of the American Aviation Service, who were killed in action near Verdun on Sept. 20, will be held in Trinity Church, Broadway and Rector Street, at noon tomorrow. Lieutenant Rhinelander was the pilot and Lieutenant Preston the observer in the machine when it was brought down by enemy fire. Bishop Rhinelander of Pennsylvania and Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity, will officiate at the services tomorrow. Lieutenant Rhinelander was Bishop Rhinelander's nephew. Lieutenant Preston was from Chicago and a nephew of the late Mayor Carter Harrison of that city.

DAMROSCH'S BAND PLAYS

By JAMES GIBBONS HUNEKER.

The Philharmonic Society inaugurated its seventy-seventh season last night at Carnegie Hall with a program which contained two novelties, Dvorak's fourth symphony, George Chadwick's "Melpomene" overture, Debussy's dewy "Rondes de Printemps"—in commemoration of the composer's death—Tschaikowsky's "Marche Slav," a symphonic poem entitled "Sarabande," by Roger-Ducasse, and "Verdun," a tone-poem by Villiers Stanford, the Irish composer. The evening began with the national anthem.

The G major symphony by Antonin Dvorak was a favorite of the late Bohemian composer, who once told the present writer that he was thinking of Schubert when he wrote it. This was at least a quarter of a century ago, when he conducted the work in this city at a concert given in Madison Square Garden Concert Hall by the National Conservatory Orchestra. It is simple, melodious music, with more than a modicum of the Schubertian spirit. The allegro grazioso is really ingratiating, and it was the best played of the four movements last night, and it might have been still lighter in coloring. Dvorak was an unconscious quoter of other men's ideas, and this symphony is no exception.

As for the "Melpomene" of Chadwick, it may be said, though hardly conceivable to the younger generation of native composers, that there were not only Kings before Agamemnon, but also American musicians who knew how to carve an overture from the solid block of marble. Mr. Chadwick, who is very much alive at the present time, did this and the formal excellences of his overture were grateful to ears weary-worn with ragged, jagged tonal fumblings after the infinite. The music is tragic and stirring to the imagination. It is one of the best read numbers in Joseph Stransky's scheme.

The Roger-Ducasse "Sarabande" hasn't much in common with our usual conception of the old, stately dance, which may be found in the Bach and Handel piano suites. It seems more like a meditation on mortality. In fact it is inscribed to the memory of a dead friend, and is based on a French legend, one relating of a dying prince who called for "a Spanish Sarabande." The form is amorphous, and it might be the tonal transcription of the amazing "Nude Descending the Staircase." The mood is melancholy, an Oriental wailing by a concealed chorus of male and female voices—this choir by courtesy of Louis Koemmenich. There are modern harmonies that set the teeth on edge, yet there is no denying the impressive atmosphere and technical mastery of material.

Villiers Stanford's "Verdun" is in the nature of a battle piece with the "Marseillaise" as a leading motive. It is the production of an academic musician who knows all the resources of his craft. There is much contrapuntal juggling with the "Marseillaise"—written by the Bolshevikl of the French Revolution—and it is with a sense of relief that the glorious hymn finally emerges in all its patriotic splendor. The audience instantly arose as it was intoned for full orchestra, and the applause was spontaneous. The composition needs thematic relief, and it is respectfully suggested that the revised "Watch On the Rhine" as it is today would furnish that missing quality; in a word, "Yankee Doodle," which is now the watchword on the left bank of the historical old stream.

The Philharmonic Orchestra is practically a new one. There are many changes in the personnel, and all for the better. The strings are more sonorous, more brilliant, the brass more powerful. There might be, probably will be, improvement in the wood-wind, yet no fault could have been found with the opening of the Chadwick overture. Best of all was the vital spirit of the performance and precision in attack. The old-time foundational tone, the massive Philharmonic tone, was in evidence. A large and pleased audience greeted Conductor Stransky, and there was plenty of enthusiasm throughout the evening.

The second Thursday afternoon concert of the Symphony Society was heard yesterday in Carnegie Hall. Walter Damrosch conducted. Mabel Garrison was the singer. The order of the music-making was interesting, comprising the Berlioz symphony, "Harold in Italy," some ballet music by the youthful Mozart, and a symphonic excerpt, "Redemption," by César Franck. Miss Garrison, as vocally refreshing as ever, offered Mozart's Recitative and Rondo, "Mia Speranza Adorata," and a novelty, "A California Idyl," by Edgar Stillman Kelley, an American composer.

The Berlioz Symphony was a favorite here a quarter of a century ago, Nahan Franko usually playing the viola obbligato under the batons of Theodore Thomas or Seidl. It is a composition replete with vivid contrasts, though the sublime and the trivial are not juxtaposed so often as in the recently played Fantastic Symphony by the same composer. There are episodes of dramatic beauty and genuine melodic inspiration, although that lack of organic unity which mars the best of Berlioz is not missing. Harold muses on the heights, and the Pilgrims march, and the Abruzzi mountaineer serenades his lady love in the old highly colored rhetoric and gorgeous orchestration. The Orgy of the Brigands leaves us untouched nowadays, as does the grotesque March to the Scaffold in the Fantastic. It is all painted music and the paint outweighs the quality of the music. It was, however, a stroke of genius to introduce the viola part, and as played by M. Pollain of the orchestra yesterday it was like tonal velvet to the ear. M. Pollain is an artist and his performance was wholly admirable, a fact that his hearers were quick to note and heartily applauded. The Mozart dances were delightful. The orchestra distinguished itself throughout. Berlioz is a test of their virtuosity. The various departments are now fused and there were times when the euphony was positively ravishing. Strings and wood-wind, brass and percussion are alike excellent. We foresee a Winter of significant music-making by this splendid organization.

Miss Garrison is a sympathetic Mozart singer and in the sustained passages as in the coloratura she demonstrated her artistry. The aria was written by Mozart for his sister-in-law, The Kelley Idyl is evidently a pièce "occasion, and as the "occasion" was Garrison his pleasing music fulfilled its purpose. The composition is ingeniously constructed, built up on mounting phrase-parallelisms, and affording opportunities for dazzling floritura. The scoring is capital. After she sang the piece the young soprano was recalled several times.

Franck's symphonic excerpt with its broad, flowing themes again demonstrated the sensuous quality of Mr. Damrosch's strings and the equalization of the wind choirs.

Opera and Other Events.

At the Opera last evening, Frieda Hempel, Carpi, Scotti, Miss Howard and others appeared in Donizetti's "Daughter of the Regiment." Mme. Hempel sang as an encore the recent war song, "When the Boys Come Home."

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore" was revived by the American Singers last evening at the Park, where a large audience encored five times the famous chorus, "For He Is an Englishman."

Four of the Duncan Dancers, without two other who have been ill with influenza, opened a series of matinees yesterday at the Booth. At Aeolian Hall last evening there was a pianoforte recital by Edwin Hughes.

WHITMAN SEES GAIN IN OFFICIAL CANVASS

DISCOVER MORE FOR SMITH

Aldemanic Count Gives Him 199 More Than Reported In Seven Assembly Districts.

A net gain of 381 votes for Governor Whitman was claimed by watchers for the Republican State Committee last night after the canvassers of the Board of Aldermen had completed their official canvass of seven Assembly districts in Manhattan. The assertion was vigorously disputed by Alderman Edward V. Gilmore, Chairman of the Aldermanic Board of Canvassers, who said that Governor-elect Alfred E. Smith had gained 199 votes in the seven districts.

The Manhattan districts canvassed are the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Eighth. The result as given by Emil Fuchs, attorney of record for Governor Whitman in his action for an examination of the ballots in Manhattan, was as follows:

Third District. — Whitman, 3,289; Smith, 13,775. Gain of 4 for Whitman; loss of 1 for Smith; net gain for Whitman, 5.

Fourth District. — Whitman, 1,003; Smith, 4,444. Loss for Whitman, 40; loss for Smith, 160; net gain for Whitman, 129.

Fifth District.—Whitman, 3,066; Smith, 13,667. Loss for Whitman, 41; loss for Smith, 282; net gain for Whitman, 242.

Sixth District.—Whitman, 2,400; Smith, 4,144. Gain for Whitman, 1; loss for Smith, 3; net gain for Whitman, 4.

Gilmore Disputes Figures.

Alderman Gilmore said the statement was correct concerning the First, Second, Third, and Eighth Districts, but he denied that the Governor had gained 129 votes in the Fourth and said the official canvass showed no change from the police figures on Election night. In the Fifth District Mr. Gilmore said, a net gain of 199 was scored by Governor-elect Smith.

In the Second Election District of the Fifth Assembly District, the police returns gave Whitman 52 and Smith 37. Examination of the tally sheet yesterday showed that Governor-Elect Smith should have been credited with 237, a gain of 200 offset by a gain for Governor Whitman of one vote in another election district of the Fifth. In the Sixth Assembly District, Chairman Gilmore reported a gain of six votes for Smith, not a gain of four for Whitman as asserted by Mr. Fuchs.

The Kings County Board of Canvassers met in Borough Hall, Brooklyn, yesterday and began to tabulate the election returns. The preliminary work, it was announced, will be continued until the soldier vote is received. No announcement was made to indicate gain or loss for candidates and the Republican watchers complained that they had been refused permission to examine the tally sheets until after the canvass has been completed.

Vice Chairman Robert L. Moran of the Aldermanic Board, who was Chairman of the Aldermanic Canvassing Board in the Bronx, said last night that the work had been virtually completed in that borough and that the official canvass showed no change of any consequence.

In Queens the work was retarded by the failure of several local election boards to file their tally sheets and statements of results with the County Clerk. It is presumed that these, where missing, were placed by mistake in the ballot boxes, as has been the case elsewhere in the city, and that the Aldermanic Board will have to obtain permission from the courts to open the boxes in such districts. Altogether, it was said, forty-eight tally sheets from districts in Queens were missing and twenty-five in districts in Manhattan which have been taken up by the canvassing boards.

In Richmond the work will begin this morning.

To Ask Court Permission.

A. S. Gilbert and Herbert R. Limburg, representing Governor Whitman, will go before Supreme Court Justice Newburger today and ask permission to open the ballot box in the Fourth Election District of the Ninth Assembly District for the purpose of finding the tally sheet made on election night in that district. Orders covering other districts where tally sheets are missing will be asked for as occasion arises, in the event that the first order is granted. Attorneys for Governor-elect Smith have joined in this move.

A report from Rochester yesterday showed a net gain of 309 votes for Governor Whitman through the official canvass in Monroe County. Chairman Glynn of the Republican State Committee said last night that the only report he had received from an up State County during the day came from Wayne, and that it showed a slight gain for Mr. Whitman.

Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Limburg will appear before Supreme Court Justice Gavegan today and present arguments on their request for an order to show cause why Governor Whitman should not be granted permission to examine the ballots cast in Manhattan. Robert L. Luce and John G. Saxe will represent Governor-elect Smith in the proceedings. They will urge that the order be amended so as to apply to the entire State, while the Republican lawyers will contend that the language contained in the statute—drafted by Mr. Gilbert—which provides that a candidate shall have the right to examine "any ballots on which his name appears" gives Governor Whitman the right to select which ballot boxes should be opened in his interest and to leave it to the other side to take the initiative and bear the expense involved in the opening of others.

PLANT WILL MADE PUBLIC.

Third of Income to Widow—$250,000 to Connecticut Women's College

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Nov. 14.—The will of Morton F. Plant was admitted to probate today before Judge Arthur P. Anderson. Charles B. Whittlesey, an attorney of this city, and Messrs. Stewart & Shearer of New York represented the decedent's estate and C. L. Avery of Groton was approved as guardian ad litem of Philip Morgan Plant.

By the will Connecticut College for Women receives $250,000 and Lawrence Hospital of New London $100,000. Captain Frederick Perry of this city receives $10,000, and other employes are well remembered.

One thousand dollars is left to each domestic servant who had been in Mr. Plant's employ for a period of ten years. Plans for the maintenance of Branford Farms are also made in the will.

To his cousin, William Lynde Harrison, is bequeathed $25,000; to Francis De C. Sullivan, in recognition of his faithful attention to Mr. Plant's business interests, $100,000, and to Mrs. A. W. Willard of Boston, $50,000. To Henry Bradley Plant, his son, Mr. Plant gave his watches, chains, and other jewelry, clothing, and also his trophies, prizes, and testimonials. To Sarah M. Plant, his widow, is given, in fee simple, his garage, 141 West Fifty-second Street, New York City. A trust is provided which stipulates that the net income of one-third of the remainder of the estate, real and personal, shall be paid to his widow during her life and be left at her discretion in her will. Provision is also made for his two sons.

Provision is also made for the protection of his trolley roads and other investments.

The executors appointed are Sarah M. Plant, Henry Bradley Plant, Francis De C. Sullivan, George L. Shearer, and the United States Trust Company of New York.

The will is dated Oct. 18, 1918, and was witnessed by Albert Wick of Brooklyn, Mary K. Davenport of Brooklyn, and Carrington G. Arnold of Flushing, N. Y.

The Dictaphone

A remedy for short help—
The Dictaphone

If the opinion of the many thousands of Dictaphone users could be woven into a single war-time message to the business man of America, it would read about like this:

"The Dictaphone is helping us to solve our tremendous war-time problems remarkably well.

"It is a fast, easy, frictionless system of handling dictation which enables each operator to produce from 50 to 100 per cent more letters per day—at one-third less cost per letter—than any other system. Better letters, too.

"This radical increase in production and economy is the chief reason why our daily mail keeps up to schedule in spite of our war-drained correspondence departments."

Will The Dictaphone do all this in your office on your work? A demonstration is the best answer. Phone or write today, asking for list of users in your line of business, also for free booklet, "The Man at the Desk."

To Secretaries and Stenographers

Dictaphone Operators often say that they wouldn't want to work in offices where The Dictaphone was not in use. It is natural that they should feel that way. The Dictaphone System is a smooth-running, calm-nerved method of handling dictation. The demand for operators is very great, and they are exceptionally well paid. The sooner The Dictaphone goes into your office, the better for you.

UNITED WAR WORK CAMPAIGN

City's Total $16,043,057 So Far—Million in Large Gifts in Yesterday's $3,211,800.

LOOK FOR HIGH MARK TODAY

Foreign Countries, with Hawaii and and Philippines, Send Gratifying Help, Says John R. Mott.

Dr. John R. Mott, Director General of the United War Work Campaign for $170,500,000 and an oversubscription of 50 per cent. for the seven accredited civilian war relief organizations, said yesterday that the response thus far received from foreign countries was gratifying. Among the foreign countries heard from favorably are Cuba, Porto Rico, India, South China, North China, Japan, the Philippines, and Hawaii.

Up to noon yesterday the returns received at the National Headquarters of the campaign indicated a nation-wide subscription of $65,556,929. Although this is sufficient to show that the minimum of $170,500,000 will be reached, it is still several million dollars a day short of the sum necessary to raise the $250,000,000 desired.

Greater New York yesterday gave $3,211,800 to the fund. The city's total so far is $16,043,057. The high marks in the individual contributions for the day were $500,000 from Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr.; $300,000 by Edward S. Harkness, and $100,000 each by Solomon R. Guggenheim and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James.

Additional national contributions of $1,877,972 were announced by the Industries Division yesterday at a luncheon at the Bankers' Club.

George W. Perkins, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the United War Work Council, announced yesterday a contribution of $250,000 by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and associated companies, including the Western Electric.

Albert G. Milbank, Associate Chairman of the campaign, told the Industrial leaders at the Bankers' Club that the burden of the greatest part of the quota which New York must raise would have to be shouldered by the Industries Division.

Not all the Chairmen were ready to make reports of the canvass to-day, but those who could not report were optimistic as to the showing of the teams especially assigned to them for solicitation. Of the more than a million dollars in contributions reported for the day New York City's share will be $857,321.

Of the larger subscriptions reported, there was one of $250,000 from Phelps, Dodge & Co., of which amount $200,000 will be credited to New York. This announcement was made by Charles Hayden, of Hayden, Stone & Co., who is the Chairman of the Mining Industry Committee. Colonel Hayden also announced that the Cerro de Pasco Copper Mining Company had contributed $25,000, all of which will be given to the New York City Fund. The International Nickel Company gave $75,000, of which $50,000 will be credited to this city. The Howe Sound Company and the Wolverine Copper Manufacturing Company have each contributed $2,500 to the New York City fund.

Colonel Hayden announced that the total subscribed through his committee during the day (Thursday) was $287,500. Up to date the Mining Committee has collected $1,200,000, of which amount $754,000 will go to the New York City Committee.

I. D. Case reported a subscription of $25,000 from the Distillers' Securities Company.

Local Corporations Giving Aid.

Floyd R. Du Bois stated that the Consolidated Gas Company and subsidiary companies had contributed $100,000, of which $75,000 will be credited to the Borough of Manhattan. The Terminal Warehouse Company gave $10,000.

Colonel H. A. Guinzburg reported a day's total of $17,000 for his industries, including a subscription of $5,000 from the Kleinert Rubber Company and one of $3,000 from that company's employes.

Jacob Wertheim stated that the Underwood Typewriter Company had contributed $25,000, one-fifth of which amount is credited to New York City. Mr. Wertheim also announced a contribution of $25,000 from the Central Leather Company, which, he said, he understood would be duplicated in gifts to the fund at other points.

E. E. Smathers has contributed $5,000 through the Petroleum and Allied Products Committee.

W. W. Price announced that, including the gift of $150,000 from the Western Union Telegraph Company, which has already been announced, the total contribution for the day from the fur, hat and cap, petroleum and allied products, and telegraph companies was $450,964, and that the total contribution to date from these committees was $986,964.

C. V. Alexopoulo announced that the brewers of the city had made a 100 per cent. contribution.

Otho E. Lane announced a total for the day of $155,000. Included in his list was a gift of $50,000 from the American Brake Shoe and Foundry Company and one of $15,000 from the Worthington Pump and Machine Company.

Fred N. Hilton announced a contribution of $15,000 from the Mallory Steamship Company and a contribution of like amount from the Clyde Steamship Company. Willard S. Brown reported a 100 per cent. subscription from the Dock Department of New York City.

Subscriptions of the last twenty-four hours brought the fund of the United War Workers Campaign in Brooklyn to $528,945, with several important committees still unheard from. Leaders are confident that the generosity of the Brooklyn people will send the total far above the $3,000,000 quota before the drive is over.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels will review the Victory Parade in the interests of the United War Work Drive in Brooklyn tomorrow. Previous to the review of the parade Secretary Daniels will witness the football game at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, between teams from Rutgers College and the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. He will also be the guest of honor at a luncheon arranged by Brooklyn citizens.

More Workers Wanted Here.

The Broadway Association, of which E. W. Estes is Executive Secretary, is in need of additional workers for its house-to-house canvass in the campaign. Volunteers should apply at the office of the association, 1,482 Broadway.

Frank W. Smith, Chairman of the Light, Heat & Power Group of the Industries Division, reported yesterday that the Consolidated Gas Company will subscribe directly and through its affiliated gas and electric companies an aggregate sum of $100,000, which will be divided among the boroughs as follows:

Manhattan	$75,000
Queens	10,000
Bronx	7,500
Westchester County	7,500
Total	$100,000

Among the subscriptions announced yesterday by Frank P. Hill, Chairman of the canvass in the banking industry, was one of $50,000 from the National Biscuit Company and a contribution of $3,500 from the General Baking Company.

LeBaron S. Willard, Chairman of the committee in the coal, ice, wood, and transportation divisions, stated that $[illegible]0 had been received on behalf of the Pennsylvania Coal Company and the Lehigh Coal and Iron Company, $12,[illegible] from the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, and $5,500 from Williams & Peters.

More than $20,000 will be added to the fund as the result of a sale of fruit and vegetables held in the Fruit Trade Building at Franklin and Washington Streets yesterday. Wayne French, Chairman of the canvass among the country produce and fruit dealers, obtained a donation of about a thousand boxes of fruit and vegetables for this auction sale.

Beflagged Pigeons Bring $5,000.

Besides the fruit and vegetables there were seven pairs of homing pigeons, each pair bearing the colors of the United States or one of the Allies. The birds were sold in pairs and the purchaser in each instance liberated the pigeons, which flew out the windows of the auction room still carrying the colors of the allied nations. The seven pairs netted the War Work Fund about $5,000.

The Board of Directors of the Merchants' Association, at a meeting held yesterday, unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Board of Directors of the Merchants' Association of New York most heartily commends the United War Work campaign and expresses the hope that the citizens of New York will cooperate to the end that a large oversubscription of the allotment for this city may be obtained.

The Department Stores United War Work Campaign Committee reported the following contributions made yesterday:

Franklin Simon & Co.	$14,000.00
Bloomingdale Brothers	10,000.00
James McCutcheon & Co.	5,000.00
Stern Brothers	2,500.00
Gilbbon & Co.	1,200.00
Bedell & Co.	1,000.00
Worth, Inc.	500.00
D. Price & Co., Inc.	375.00
Day's total	$34,575.00
Previously reported	120,448.22

Students Turn in $440,000.

The student bodies of every college, university, agricultural, and technical school, as well as every private school of high school grade in the country, have undertaken to raise at least $2,000,000 for the Student Division of the Campaign. Contributions aggregating $440,000 have been reported to date.

Students of New York University were reported yesterday by LeRoy E. Kimball, Treasurer of the New York University committee for the campaign, to be driving ahead toward their self-set goal of $30,000 as the university's quota. Mr. Kimball said that the average subscription per student at the last reckoning was $10.62, and was going even higher, though the per capita subscription had been set at $4.50.

Samuel Lieber, a sailor, yesterday gave his month's pay check, $32, and $18 in cash to the fund, saying he "knew of the good work of the organizations from his own experience."

Solomon Lowenstein, Superintendent of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum of New York, sent a letter transmitting $200 in Liberty bonds, donated by the children of that institution, $150 by the boys and $50 by the girls.

A segment of the east side was present on Fifth Avenue yesterday to aid the fund. There was a parade of push carts operated by small traders, led by a hand organ, up Fifth Avenue from Thirty-eighth Street. The push carts were loaded with grapes, pears, apples, and hot sweet potatoes. The money taken in by the peddlers went to the fund.

Bryan L. Kennelly gave to the campaign yesterday a collection of menus and invitations to dinners and receptions held last year in honor of the English, French, Belgian, Russian, and Italian Commissions. A bid of $10,000 has already been received for the collection. Some of the menus are autographed by the distinguished guests.

Rockefeller to Hold Park Service.

A nonsectarian religious service will be conducted by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Bryant Park, in appreciation of the work of the members of the Showmen's League of America in connection with the campaign. Other speakers will be Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and other religious leaders.

A WORD of APPRECIATION

WHEN THE INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC was at its height, so many of our operators were absent that it was impossible to handle promptly all the telephone calls that were offered.

KNOWING that a word of explanation to the New York public would relieve the situation, we stated our case and asked our patrons to assist us by restricting their use of the telephone to necessary calls.

THE RESPONSE, as was expected, was immediate. Citizens' associations of all kinds, individual users both large and small, public telephone agents, in fact all classes of the telephone-using public gave us splendid cooperation.

THIS HELP was given cheerfully and willingly and the inconveniences were accepted with a good humor that greatly cheered those operators who were working so ably to carry the load during the absence of their fellow-workers.

WHILE MANY of our operators are still away and some restriction is still necessary on the general use of the telephone, the worst of a bad situation is now passed and we take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of your kindly help.

THANK YOU!

Nursery sets of nine pieces, as illustrated—$8.50. Bread and milk set of four pieces, consisting of jug, bowl, 6-in. plate and mug—$4.25.

CHILDREN to-day are just as much interested in the characters of Mother Goose as you used to be. So we have prepared a new series of Mother Goose Nursery Sets. The designs of one of the best known artists in the country were sent to England, where they were reproduced on each of the pieces of four sets—Humpty Dumpty, The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe, Old King Cole and Mother Goose herself.

INADVISABLE.

Since the question has been raised the President may give some consideration to the proposal that he should attend the peace conference. His deliberation will be brief, we imagine; it is to be expected that he will decide not to go. The people of the United States would approve that decision. The place of the President is here. His absence from the country, his departure upon a voyage to the place of the conference, would be an occasion of serious concern to the people. Decisions of moment will have to be taken during the coming months by the legislative and executive departments of the Government. The people would not like, even for a few months, to be deprived of the guidance of the Chief Magistrate at a time when his unequaled knowledge of the state of the nation, concerning which it is his duty to advise Congress, his understanding of the feeling and wishes of the people, his great authority, will be of peculiar value.

Great as the occasion will be, it does not seem to us that the peace conference will call for the attendance of the President of the United States. He is expected to send delegates, not to go himself. However frequently it may be pointed out, here and abroad, that he is our Prime Minister, he is much more than that. In fact and in title he is the actual head of the State. There will be no member of that conference whom, in formal communications of amity and good will, he would address as "great and good friend." The people of the United States will not be able to dismiss from their minds the feeling that there would be something of unseemliness in his taking part in a council where questions will be argued, positions be attacked and defended, differences of view "thrashed out," as the saying goes. That is the function of delegates speaking as representatives of their Governments. We are accustomed to feel that when the President speaks he speaks with authority. It is not quite the thing that he should engage in argument, much less in such controversies as will naturally arise in the discussion by the conference of the multitude of questions it must decide. If the President is not to take part in the deliberations, but is to attend as a distinguished visitor, the country would feel that it is not worth while. It is probable that the President will incline to that view.

NO TIME FOR TOURISTS.

There is likely to be little objection to the Government's policy of continuing the present restrictions on passports for European travel for some time to come; no doubt most of them will be continued at least until the signing of the peace treaty, and perhaps later. At present nobody can get a passport who has not business in Europe, and business the urgency of which commends itself to the State Department. As soon as the treaty is signed there will be a resumption of business activity which will necessitate much travel, but that period has hardly begun as yet, and it may be supposed that individuals who can show good reasons for their desire to cross the Atlantic can get special consideration even before the general restrictions are removed.

The reason supposed to lie behind the present extension of the regulations is the desire to shut off the premature beginnings of tourist travel. American tourists will have things of more personal interest to see in Europe after the war than they ever had before; pilgrimages to Château-Thierry, St. Mihiel, and Sedan will be legitimate exercises of national feeling. But not just yet. France has other things to do besides entertaining foreign visitors; the armies are still mobilized, great districts still lie desolate. Moreover, the world shortage of food and of shipping makes the presence of every additional American in Europe one more problem of supply. Until these conditions are improved no traveler should go who has not a reason for going which affects the welfare of the nation as well as of himself.

One class of residents in this country is much affected by the passport restrictions—recent immigrants whose families remained in the old country, in districts ravaged by war or worn by starvation. It is unfortunate that their desire to hunt out long lost dear ones whose fate is unknown cannot be gratified. But many, if not most, of these people would go back to the very regions of Eastern Europe where conditions are most unsettled and where there is the most grievous shortage of food. Their presence there at this time would only impose added burdens on the allied Governments, who are now responsible for the provisioning of a continent.

ANSWERING THE QUESTION.

Does the American public want its soldiers over in France and Germany to be taken care of, or does it not? That is the question put before you whenever a solicitor for the United War Work Campaign approaches you. You have to answer it one way or the other, and you do answer it. If you smile and hurry on with a shake of the head, you don't dodge the question, though you may think you do; you answer it, answer it most completely and not as you should.

Did you want the soldiers taken care of while they were fighting for you, fighting to save the German blight from ever descending on these shores? If you did, why do you not want them taken care of now, when they have so gloriously done their work? Was it pure selfishness that made you give then, though you called it patriotism? It was, if your gratitude and your interest in the men who have faced death for you end when you and your liberties have been saved by them.

You know what welfare work means; it is the care of their lives, their health, and their protection. It is the staving off of homesickness by creature comforts and pleasures. It is what the Red Cross has done, what the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Y. W. C. A., the Salvation Army, the Jewish Welfare Board, the War Camp Community Service, the American Library Association, have done for them. These same organizations are the ones that now unitedly appeal to you to give them the money to carry on the work. They appeal to you to give dollars for men who have offered their lives for you. Whatever you give, you are making no sacrifice comparable to that which they offered.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH.

Mr. LLOYD GEORGE'S address to his Liberal supporters on Nov. 11 and his speech at a meeting of Liberal peers and members of the House of Commons on Nov. 13 show that the saying was true, "No armistice, no election." The English electorate has been doubled, or even trebled, it is estimated, by the new Franchise act. In justice to the new voters a general election should not be delayed longer than is necessary. While war was going on it was felt that there should be no diversion of thought or energy into domestic politics, which, to be sure, was and is inextricably connected with international affairs. Now the war is won. Returning from Versailles with the prestige of victory, the Prime Minister sets forth the policies upon which he will appeal to the country.

Presumably Mr. LLOYD GEORGE would have carried a "khaki election," such as the approaching election must largely be, on the strength of winning the war. But the war is not won unless a just peace, a permanent settlement according to justice, is made. There must be no satisfaction of greed, of vengeance, and avarice, says Mr. LLOYD GEORGE. "The mandate of this Government at the forthcoming election," he continues, "will mean that the British "delegation to the Peace Congress will "be in favor of a just peace." He regards a League of Nations as "absolutely essential to permanent peace." Thereby the small nations to be "reborn" will be protected, peace guaranteed, the reduction of armaments insured, and conscription avoided. Mr LLOYD GEORGE'S insistence on a just peace, devoid of revenge, is sound and wise.

In his speech at a meeting of Coalition Liberal Peers and M. P.'s Mr. GEORGE considered the problems of domestic reconstruction. He favored land reform, shortening of the hours of labor, minimum wage, development of transportation. And there must be rehousing on a large scale. The dispatches do not make clear his position on free trade, one of the principles on which Mr. ASQUITH is trying to keep his batch of Liberals together. It is well known that they are unhappy at the prospect of a general election, in which they foresee Mr. LLOYD GEORGE'S easy triumph. Politically, his most significant statement was his demand for a united Government, representing all parties, as does the President. While the effort of some Manchester eirenists to unite the Liberal Party under the dual leadership of Mr. GEORGE and Mr. ASQUITH necessarily failed, there has been considerable patching up of Liberal enmities. A few days ago some fifty Liberal and Conservative members of Parliament met and passed resolutions declaring that a return to party government during the war and the succeeding time of reconstruction would be disastrous. The Unionists have expressed their confidence in Mr. BONAR LAW, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who proposes the continuation of the Coalition Government.

Mr. GEORGE'S program of social reconstruction and of the amelioration of labor conditions should appeal to the Labor Party, eight representatives of which are in the Government. Mr. GEORGE is not only a statesman, but one of the cleverest "practical politicians" in the world. It seems certain that he will carry the election, which, according to BONAR LAW'S announcement in the House of Commons, will be held on Dec. 14.

NEW YORK DOCK IMPROVEMENTS

There is to be a hearing today which is expected to develop the opposition to Commissioner HULBERT'S plan for the improvement of the dock facilities of this city. Since the plan was published opposition on the ground of the expense involved has lost ground with the progress toward peace, and the removal of the restrictions upon the consumption of goods and services by others than the Government. Instead we are likely to hear much about the duty of the Government to find work and pay for those no longer employed in war work. Strengthened against this point, the plan is weakened by the attack of the Society for the Prevention of Municipal Waste, if its arguments are allowed to prevail. On the other hand, it will be strengthened by this attack also, if the arguments shall be rejected as unsound. The plan proposed profit by the city in its dock investments and was accompanied with the statement that the costs and profits had been provided for in advance. Incidentally there was to be a gain to private enterprise by facilities which would promote the city's trade. Almost always public undertakings are proposed by those who hope for good results, and even promise them. But it is rare that such results are guaranteed by the provision that the proposal shall not be executed without contracts to that effect. This was one of the strongest points about the Commissioner's idea.

What had seemed the strongest point of the plan was the proposed rearrangement of pier facilities with a minimum of expense. The deep water piers on the west side of the city were to be given over to the ships of deep draught which now lack accommodation. The displaced traffic was to have facilities on the east side, where the water is deep enough for it. But now comes the society and says through President DOYLE that this would cause additional cost of cartage to the displaced traffic of the Sound steamers, for the most part, to a total of a million dollars annually. Their removal would empty 1,400 stores at a cost of $2,100,000 annually until other tenants could be found. And these risks should not be taken "because "the plan to do it makes good news-"paper reading."

That is good newspaper reading also, and the readers may take their choice between the plan and its objections. Will President DOYLE guarantee the results which he predicts, as the Commissioner does? As the matter stands there is nothing but his estimate for the additional cost of cartage, and two considerations tend to reduce it. One is the immediate prospect of "store door" delivery by the railways of the United States, including, of course, their steamer connections. The other consideration is that business will adjust itself to the new plan so that the costs of cartage will be as small as is practicable, and in all likelihood less than under the present plan, which already has largely been modified by the dual subway system. There has been a large shifting of several wholesale trades to the Fourth Avenue neighborhood, and the removal is rather proceeding than slackening. The 1,400 shops are already in decreasing demand for domestic trade, and the increase of foreign trade would bring them new tenants, perhaps at a profit instead of a loss. As regards passenger traffic, the removal of the Sound steamers would be of undoubted benefit. The present piers of the Sound steamers are as inaccessible as they well could be, and no passenger would complain reasonably of inconvenience of the new pier positions. It is a good thing that the Commissioner's plan is to have a hearing, and especially that objections are to be presented.

MONS AND SEDAN.

There was a poetic justice in the place of the war's end. It ended, at one extremity of the battleline, with the British entry into Mons; at the other, with the French and American entry into Sedan. It may be said that the war ended in a figure of speech. Mons was not a city to the British, Sedan was not a city to the French. Both were the names of terrible memories. Mons was the beginning of the desolation of English homes; the graveyard of the "Old Contemptibles" begins at Mons. Sedan was not a city, it was the fall of France from the first position in Europe; after it she crouched for more than forty years in the threatening shadow of the German. When the British marched into Mons and the French into Sedan the war ended; it seems as if it could not do otherwise than end. It was the dramatic climax of the play, the downfall of the criminal at the scene of his crime, the triumph of the wronged at the place of the wrong.

In a large sense, the German victories at Sedan and Mons were equally battles in this war. This war did not begin in 1914, it began in 1870. The Germans then began their swoop upon the world. The years between 1871 and 1914 were merely the years of a truce. The rest of mankind supposed them to be years of peace, but they were not. Germany was using them in preparation for the resumption of hostilities. It was a long truce, because Germany needed much preparation for their resumption on so large a scale. But what we have regarded as the war of 1870-71 was not a war so much as a campaign, the first campaign in the war for Weltmacht oder Niedergang. That war has now been fought out not to Weltmacht but to Niedergang, and the British are in Mons and the French in Sedan.

Because the British had regarded these years as years of peace instead of truce, Britain had no military force but "General FRENCH'S contemptible little army." When the Germans, being ready at last, ended the truce and resumed the war, Britain gallantly flung that little army into the breach, and the German giant fell on it at Mons. Then began that long crucifixion which ended only when JOFFRE saved the world at the Marne; and England was under a pall of sorrow that has never lifted. There is a glory round her face today, but through it shine, and will ever shine, her tears for the heroic dead. No, the war could not have ended before the British entered Mons.

There was a race between the Americans and the French to enter Sedan first. If the Americans won, it was that they might return Yorktown to the French at Sedan. But for the French there might have been no Yorktown for the Americans; but for the Americans there might have been no Sedan for the French. Thus, for the Americans, too, the war ended in a figure of speech. ROCHAMBEAU and WASHINGTON raced for Sedan; if WASHINGTON won the race, it was to return a gift.

WEALTH WELL DISTRIBUTED.

It would be difficult to dispose of a great estate more sagaciously and justly than Mrs. RUSSELL SAGE has done by her will. She leaves some forty millions for educational, philanthropic, and charitable purposes. Colleges, libraries, hospitals, the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the American Museum of Natural History, the Children's Aid Society, the Charity Organization Society, the Infirmary for Women and Children, and many other institutions are splendidly remembered. There are specific legacies to many organizations. To name only Mount Sinai Hospital, Hampton Institute, the Salvation Army, the Working Woman's Protective Union, the New York Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, the Home for the Friendless, is to illustrate faintly the scope of Mrs. SAGE'S benefactions. The most cynical social sorehead and growler at philanthropy will be pleased by her remembrance of her old servants.

In the twelve years from the time of Mr. SAGE'S death Mrs. SAGE gave for public uses between thirty-five and forty millions. By will she has given away forty millions more. The greater part of the fortune accumulated by Mr. SAGE has been returned to the public. It is the fashion for light-brained, envious folk, amateur Socialists or budding Bolsheviki, to abuse "wealth" and gnash their teeth at "the rich." Yet how swiftly the great fortunes melt; in a generation or two they generally come back to the public. It took only twelve years to scatter most of Mr. SAGE'S, or, rather, to invest it forever in trust for good objects. As a rule the Americans who get notably rich make the people their heir.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Case of Poetic Justice.

As words mean whatever people agree to take them as meaning, and as the significance, about as often as not, has only an oblique or indirect dependence on etymology—and sometimes lacks even that—there is nothing remarkable in the fact that "Bolshevik" and its variants have acquired a connotation far different from the definitions given in the Russian dictionaries. Strictly, or etymologically speaking, "Bolshevik" ought to mean nothing more than one of many, or of a majority, just as "Menshevik" ought to mean nothing more than one of few, or of a minority. But the former word has ceased to be Russian, and has become one understood in most of the world's more important languages as meaning a man who wants to abandon the wisdom and experience of the ages, overturn all the established rules of economics and politics, and to substitute for all other forms of government the despotic rule of his own class.

The tyrants of old had at least the grace always to pretend unselfish motives and a desire to protect and promote the general interest. The Bolshevist frankly disavows having any such intention. He condemns all except himself and his associates of like station to slavery if they are submissive and to death if they show signs of resistance, and he has the power to inflict the ultimate penalty. He occasionally uses the word "freedom," but he uses it much as did certain revered sectarians when they made early settlements on the American continents—in the sense of freedom to do and think as he pleases, and to persecute anybody who chooses to do or think something else.

Bolshevism came first to perfect flower in Russia, not because the Russian masses were particularly inclined by nature in that direction, but because, after the Czar's downfall, it was sedulously preached in Russia by an army of German agents, sent into the country for the express purpose which they accomplished—of relieving Germany of the task of maintaining a big army on her eastern front. The men who raised that army have already had their reward, some of them, and the rest seem likely soon to get it. The pit they digged for another now yawns before themselves, and they are pushed from behind by many eager hands.

Military Methods in College.

A young American, who, as preparation for becoming an aviator, passed six months at what is called a "ground school," remarked in a recent conversation that until he went there he did not know what the word "education" could mean and did not have more than a faint realization of the possibilities that lie in teaching at its best. Yet the young man had gained high rank while passing through the primary and secondary grades of public school in a New England town that prides itself on the educational advantages it provides for its children, and he had been graduated with honor from a New England college with a high reputation supposed to be well earned.

When he was asked why it was that all of our educational institutions do not, or if they could not, produce the good results that he saw in his own case when taught at the ground school, his reply was: "The boys, in peace times, wouldn't tolerate the sort of discipline we had there, and their parents wouldn't let them be subjected to it, either."

Yet he had no complaint to make about the rigors endured during those strenuous six months, admitted that he had not been overworked, and declared that the experience was sure to be of inestimable value to him all through his life. But the studying was done under army discipline, it demanded effort to the very full extent of ability, and it had no mercy on failure. The boys who couldn't perform the tasks allotted were promptly eliminated, for there prevailed there nothing like the notion that everybody was good enough to become an aviator, which would have been the parallel of the notion that the higher education should be open to all who can pay the fees or get a scholarship. There was next to no playing at that school, no division of attention between study and "society" or football, and the pace was set by the fit, not by the less fit or the unfit.

Whether or not this would be a good way to run all colleges all the time is a question to which an offhand answer would probably be unwise, but it is also probable that the task of the production of scholars could be as much shortened, if we chose, as was that by which good soldiers was produced when we really felt the immediate need of them and the emergency created doubt of what the military experts had always said—that it took anywhere from three to five years to make a real soldier.

More Mail Routes in the Sky.

According to a Washington dispatch in The World, an immediate and large expansion of the aerial mail service has been determined upon, or at least is under serious consideration. The plan as outlined is to establish all over the country routes like that which for some time has been in successful—and it is said profitable—operation between Washington and New York, and thus employment is to be provided for the thousands of young aviators who have had an expensive training, only to have the war end before they could get abroad to take part in it.

That a large part of our first class mail could thus be expedited to a very large extent is beyond question; that more than a small part of it really needs such expensive expedition seems somewhat questionable, but it is true that the service of this sort now provided has been appreciated to the extent of willing payment for it of much advance postage.

It may be doubted, however, that the Postal Department will find that the young men who were eager to become military aviators are equally willing to drop into the comparatively humdrum existence of aerial mail carriers. A good many of them are already waiting with some impatience for release from the army and an opportunity to utilize profitably the abilities given to them by the excellent training they have received.

For there has been more, and much more, to that training than instruction in the management of airplanes and the doing of "stunts" above the clouds. They have all become civil engineers to a considerable degree, with a vastly enlarged knowledge of mathematics and science generally, and not one of them has any fear of not getting, on his discharge, a well-paid job at once.

Cruel to the Last.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Germany pleads with the United States to make provision for feeding her women and children to prevent their death. At the very same moment, or between dawn on the day of their capitulation and the signing of the armistice, they shower Mezieres with poison gas shells in wanton viciousness, knowing it would put women and children to agonizing death. It carried not one iota of military gain; it could not. Should not some special form of punishment be laid on them for this, or are their despicable abominations too many for special notice of one more?

TO AMERICA.

Great Daughter of a Mother-love, mature and free,
Married unto Liberty,
Cleave, as is meet, to thy new love and share it with none other.
But in that new experienced ecstasy, forget not now thy Mother!

And be not weaned away by reason of a former strict restraint—
'Twas but a royal Hunnish taint.
Open wide thine heart and welcome her who bleeds—
Nay, who has bled for four long years, and saved thee by her deeds!

The glamour of a foreign league, the thrill of foreign history joined with yours
In foreign-helped successful wars—
'Tis great; 'tis good; forget it not; cherish it with deep sincerity,
But let not sentiment o'erstep "the tie that binds" in blood-related verity!

The Mother-love still lives, 'tis ever aiming at thy heart.
Free Daughter, play the daughter's part!
Cast far away misunderstanding or remembered hate—
'Tis now no longer '76, for decades, past and dead, have buried deep that date!

We rise to newer things—to greater World-relationship.
Let "Mother-love" be ever on thy lip.
We are one blood, one tongue, one life, one Nationality.
Then let our intercourse be brought to deep reality!

We two—America and England—must stand as guardians of the World—
To keep the flag of "Liberty" unfurled!
Then let us stand so close, so true, so splendidly agreed,
That wars will cease in all the World, and men enjoy the rights of men—free and forever freed!

ANGLO-AMERICAN UNITY.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It seems ironic that on the very day we are celebrating the deliverance of the world from the most terrible menace to freedom of modern times, the most effective, instructive, and magnificent argument in behalf of freedom should be withdrawn from the New York stage for want of popular support. The play of that name that has been running for a few weeks at the Century Theatre should play to crowded houses in New York for a year, with a hundred companies on the road. It is history in a nutshell fairly presented, and the vast majority of Americans know nothing of the history of their own country, or of any other. And even people who object to being "taught" in the theatre swallow the pill without a grimace, so fascinating and interesting is the spectacle.

But this plea is not so much for a great spectacle as for the propaganda which, at this critical moment in human affairs, it would be criminal to waste. Great Britain has done little propaganda, far too little. "Freedom," produced by two loyal Americans, does it for her at what may prove to be the historical moment. In our imperfect schools little history is taught. Our old American histories, still in use, have educated the American child in the belief that to hate England, because she gave us the opportunity to throw off her oppressive yoke and become a great independent and powerful nation, is the first duty of all "good Americans." How many know that George III. was a stupid German with the same psychology that plunged the world into the war in 1914? That England's three greatest statesmen, Pitt, Fox, and Burke, were openly and violently opposed to those senseless and cruel oppressions that were driving American colonies into war? That even the Prime Minister, Lord North, although a weak man and swayed by the King, who insidiously worked upon his "loyalty," opposed the American war? Words make slight impression on people incapable of forming mental pictures, but "Freedom" gives, among many other unforgettable pictures, a scene in the British Parliament where Burke, Fox, and Pitt made their historic protests. In passing, it may be said that Patrick Henry's great speech brings back our own past in one vivid, thrilling scene.

The reason why all Americans should see this play and learn the truth about the England they have hated—still, in many cases, senselessly hate—is because the time has come for us to solidify our present friendship with Great Britain, understand her, rejoice in a close alliance with a great, brave, generous, and magnanimous country; love her as much as it is humanly possible for one nation to love another. If we had known her in 1914 as we do today we should have been in close political alliance with her before the war, and, if Prussia had dared to declare war at all, her horrors would have come to a speedy conclusion. A close alliance with Great Britain would be the most natural alliance in the world. She gave us our language, our laws, our code of the inviolable freedom of the individual. Few of her people would fight against us. Her German King was forced to hire German adventurers, and rely upon them for the ultimate brutalities.

We must make up our minds to accept Britain as she is, forgetting her faults in her manifold virtues, and overlook many things she is sure to do that will annoy us. She is no more perfect than we are. She will make blunders in the future as she has in the past, as every nation, including ourselves, is bound to make—being fallible and human. But that is not the point. She is our natural ally and brother, and we must forget false history and begin to make new history which shall insure the peace and happiness of the world.

It must also be remembered that the class which ruled Britain so long and kept our antagonism alive is no longer in power, never will rule her destinies again. Even before the war Lloyd George was pushing his plans to take the immense private holdings and their revenues away from the "privileged classes" and divide them among the people. Today the masses of Britain are far more powerful than they were then. Labor represents sixty per cent. of the population of England. Her people will grow more and more powerful every year, more and more in sympathy with our own democratic institutions. It is with the new England we are to deal in the future, an England less insular, indifferent to dominance. Forget history as taught in our disingenuous textbooks and enter upon the new era hand in hand with our brothers in blood, who for the last four years have done their glorious work on land and sea, and saved the American people from extinction. Without forgetting our incomparable France and the tremendous record of Belgium and Italy, it is permitted to demand: Where should we all be today but for the British Navy?

PHILIP GIBBS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

No finer words have been penned than those with which Philip Gibbs closes his last brief message from the battle lines in France. "The fires of hell have been put out, and I have written my last message as war correspondent, thank God!"

May one of your readers take this opportunity to express his gratitude for Mr. Gibbs's war correspondence? It has been of an extraordinary nature and has revealed a soul of singular refinement and sympathy. The brutality of war has not dulled his delicate sense of the beautiful. He has let us see the earth struggling to overcome the ravages of battle by clothing the scarred fields with flowers. He has let us hear the singing of birds in the shattered woods. He has revealed the glory that lies in the souls of rough men, the fearless spirit of those who went up against the machine guns, and the tenderness of these same fighting men toward the victims of Germany's hate, the women and children of Belgium and France. His daily story of the war has been of fascinating interest, but it has been more than this: it has been the means of stirring the finest emotions in our own souls and of strengthening our faith in God.

If Mr. Gibbs will remain in France and picture with his matchless art the work of reconstruction he will do a great service to humanity. No one is so well qualified to portray the sufferings and the joys of the repatriated ones and make so compelling an appeal to the American people for the rebuilding of desolated homes. The streams of generosity would flow brimful toward France and Belgium were he to let us see the process of redemption and the gratitude of the redeemed.

CENSORSHIP AT AN END.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The voluntary censorship under which the American press placed itself for the period of the war has ended, according to an official announcement today and newspapers are free from now on to tell what they please concerning military and other matters without restriction. The announcement comes from the Committee on Public Information and is understood to be preliminary to the abolition of the committee as a Governmental institution.

George Creel, Chairman of the Committee on Public Information, made the announcement in this statement:

"It has been agreed that there is no further necessity for the operation of the voluntary censorship under which the press has guarded from the enemy the military policies, plans and troop movements of the United States. The agreement may be considered as no longer binding, and the card carrying the requests of the Government is herewith canceled.

"The Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, and all others concerned with the direction of America's war efforts, join in sincere acknowledgment of the debt of gratitude owing to the press of the United States for the honorable discharge of a high responsibility. Without force of law, and under no larger compulsion than their own patriotism, the overwhelming majority of newspapers have given unfaltering obedience to every desire of the Government in all matters of military secrecy, carrying through successfully a tremendous experiment in honor and trust."

The retirement of Mr. Creel from the Chairmanship of the Committee on Public Information may be expected soon. It may be coincident with an order from President Wilson revoking the appointment of the committee and directing that it close up business. The new activity in which Mr. Creel will engage has not been disclosed, but it is believed that he will attend the peace conference in an official capacity, perhaps as publicity director for the American delegation.

KEARNY SHIPYARD TO CLOSE

Last of Ten Wooden Vessels Built There to be Launched Saturday.

The launching of the Accrema, the tenth and last ship to be built at the Foundation Company, Kearny, N. J., will be held tomorrow afternoon at 5:15 o'clock. The ceremony, which will be informal, will be open to the general public. Mrs. J. W. Doty, wife of the general manager of the company, will sponsor the ship.

Owing to the decision of the United States Shipping Board not to contract for any more wooden cargo carriers, the yard will close. The employes will be distributed in the other shipyards. The property is owned by the Emergency Fleet Corporation. The land, which was leased for the duration of the war by the Ford Motor Company, will be returned as soon as the equipment of the Foundation Company is cleared.

PARIS OVATION TO DAVISON.

French Authorities Acclaim Work of American Red Cross.

PARIS, Nov. 14, (Havas.)—A reception was given to Henry P. Davison, Chairman of the War Committee of the American Red Cross, at the Hotel de Ville today. Mr. Davison was formally greeted by M. Mourier, Under Secretary of State for Medical Service, representing the Government. Marshal Joffre was also present and was enthusiastically acclaimed.

Dr. Chassaigne of the French Military Sanitary Service and M. Goyon in addresses paid warm tribute to the work of the American Red Cross in the war, and M. Autrand, prefect of the Department of the Seine, praised the personal efforts of Mr. Davison.

"Your task is not ended," said M. Autrand, addressing the American Chairman. "Our friends and our benefactors now are more than ever indispensable to us. Our task is immense. Help us. We have known how to vanquish; we will know how to organize ourselves in victory."

PICHON THANKS LANSING.

Says Frenchmen Will Never Forget Our Share in Victory.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Foreign Minister Pichon of France has sent the following message to Secretary Lansing in response to a telegram of congratulation upon the victory:

Thank you deeply for your telegram. America's share in the victory which you celebrate is so great that never will a Frenchman forget it in the course of history. The ancient alliance of both of our countries has been sealed once more. Let me ask you to convey to the Federal Government the thanks of France and of the Government of the Republic, and please accept for yourself, who have always manifested so much sympathy for my country my feelings of hearty friendship.

BRITISH ASSAIL PACKERS.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—In a discussion in the House of Commons yesterday concerning the food question and control of the meat supply, the American Meat Trust was criticised severely by some speakers.

Major Waldorf Astor, Parliamentary Secretary to the Food Ministry, said that the trust controlled more than 50 per cent. of the available and importable meat supplies, which constituted a serious menace. However, he added, the Interallied Food Council which would buy in the world's markets was going to be stronger than the trust. It would be able to dictate to the trust if necessary and would be able to fix reasonable prices for consumers.

ALFONSO APPLAUDS FRANCE

PARIS, Nov. 13.—King Alfonso of Spain has telegraphed to President Poincaré his congratulations on the signing of the armistice. The King's message reads:

"At the moment of signing the armistice, I must, my dear President, congratulate you with all my heart on having reached the end of this glorious epic of the French Army and nation, which have shown us all what bravery and patriotism mean."

LABOR TO QUIT CABINET.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The British Labor Party at a conference today decided by a large majority to withdraw its members from the Cabinet at the close of the present Parliament, which is expected to take place soon.

London Crowd Cheers Townshend.

LONDON, Nov. 14, (British Wireless Service.)—Major General Charles V. F. Townshend, who while commanding the British forces at Kut-El-Amara was forced to surrender to the Turks in 1916, yesterday afternoon visited the Mansion House as a guest of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society. The crowd which awaited the arrival of General Townshend gave him a round of hearty applause, to which he responded by words of praise for the men who had fought under him.

SCHIFF DISCUSSES WAR DEBT PAYMENT

WARNING AGAINST HASTE

Declares That Industry "Needs an Interval of Moderate Taxation to Prepare Itself."

In response to a request by THE NEW YORK TIMES for a banker's opinion on effective and economical measures for retiring the nation's war debt, Jacob H. Schiff said yesterday:

"No statement can be made at this time, which by force of circumstances may not likely need revision. The country has many expenditures to meet before the actual outlay resultant from the war may be considered in a comprehensive fashion, and for this reason it is difficult to suggest a complete program for retiring the debt. The outstanding Liberty bonds aggregate about $17,000,000,000, aside from War Savings Stamps, but of this vast total it must be borne in mind some $7,000,000,000 represents loans made by the United States to the allied nations, and the liquidation of this indebtedness will be completed in due course by the borrowers.

"It is quite possible that further loans and credits will need to be made to some of these nations. Because of the factors in respect to future loans which may not yet be calculated, it is necessary that one treat in rather general terms of the probable net war debt which the United States will have when the details of peace are completed.

"Assuming that the issue of $10,000,000,000 additional Government bonds proves necessary for the liquidation of the war and for further advances to some of the Allies, and needs for reconstruction purposes, there will be outstanding nearly $27,000,000,000 of the war bonds when a program for retiring the various issues is put into operation. Figuring upon a final total of the allied indebtedness to us as from $7,000,000,000 to $10,000,000,000, and deducting the self-liquidating debt, of say, about $7,000,000,000, there would remain some $20,000,000,000 to be finally retired through taxation.

"The suggestion that has already been variously made for the establishment of a sinking fund of 2 per cent. of outstanding war bonds appears to me to involve too heavy a burden upon industry and the incomes of the people, at least during the first few years after peace comes. I believe that some sort of sinking fund should be instituted. There is no reason why this should not eventually be done, although a sinking fund for so vast an amount of bonds must be handled in a way which would not increase taxation unduly in the years when the nation is readjusting itself to peace conditions.

"A sinking fund of 5 per cent. would retire the estimated $20,000,000,000 in twenty years. The annual reservation for this would amount to $1,000,000,000. In view of the fact, however, that the ordinary expenditure of the Government before the war was about $1,000,000,000 per year, and will probably be considerably higher for some time after the war, an effort to maintain so large a sinking fund would, perforce, necessitate a resort to use of the taxing power of the Government, and in this lies danger of adversely affecting business. It must be remembered that in addition to the usual Government expenditures there will be the interest on the bonds, amounting in the earlier years to approximately $800,000,000 per year, and besides this the as yet unknown factor of insurance payments for soldiers and their families needs to be considered.

"To retire the full war debt in twenty years would mean that the major part of the burden would fall on the present generation. I do not believe it would be either wise or necessary to hasten the process in so short a period. Industry needs an interval of moderate taxation in order to prepare itself for development and future uncertainties; the people should have a breathing spell in which to readjust their business interests to what will be new conditions.

"I would suggest that a sinking fund, perhaps a very moderate sinking fund, be established in due time, not to be large at least for several years after borrowing for war and after war purposes comes to an end, always taking into account that industry must not be affected by the requisite taxation beyond a degree which it could bear. Later it might be entirely feasible to increase the size of the sinking fund.

"Occasionally one hears a suggestion that the borrowings by the allied Governments from the United States be canceled by popular acclaim. Fears have been expressed also that those Governments will not be able to pay off their obligations to the United States because of their present domestic debts. It appears to me that the European nations to whom we have made advances would not listen to a proposal for the elimination of their obligations, and, further, there is no reason why they should not be in a position to meet the interest and ultimately retire the principal of this indebtedness as they recover in time from the effects of the war. Russia will probably be slower to recover than the others, and perhaps also Belgium, and to this willing consideration, I am sure, will be given by the American Government and people.

"France is likely to come out of the war period in a position to recover rapidly, despite the fact that the country has suffered so greatly. The presence of the American Army on French soil, necessitating the purchase of vast amounts of supplies and materials of French manufacturers, as well as the direct daily expenditures of our soldiers, has brought a stimulus to that country which should prove of great value in her work of rehabilitation. There also remains to take into account the large indemnities which will likely be imposed upon the Central Powers under the peace treaties.

"However, while it may even now be of advantage to open discussion about the important question how to provide for the payment of our war debt, it would be premature to come to any conclusions as to this at a time when we shall likely still have to do considerable borrowing."

MEXICO ON GOLD BASIS.

Carranza Signs Decree Reforming Monetary System.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 13.—President Carranza today signed a decree which will be published on Thursday, reforming the monetary system of Mexico by placing it on a strictly gold basis.

The recent monetary crisis was caused by the exportation of silver half peso pieces, which as the result of the high price of silver were worth more as bullion than as coin. Business has been seriously handicapped for a fortnight by the scarcity of change. Under the new decree peso and half-peso pieces will be coined with less silver in them, making their exportation profitless.

New gold coins now being minted are worth two and one-half pesos. Millions of pesos in silver and half-peso pieces, called "tostones," recently have disappeared from circulation. These have been demonetized to prevent speculation in the new pesos. It will be illegal for any one to give more than twenty pesos of them as change.

4 DIE BY EXPLOSION ON NAVAL CRUISER

SHIP ONCE NOTED LINER

As the St. Louis, She Was the First Armed American Merchantman to Pass Submarine Menace.

Four men were killed, one a Lieutenant in the United States Naval Reserves, and several were scalded by the bursting of a steam valve yesterday in the engine room of the auxiliary cruiser Louisville, formerly the American liner St. Louis. The dead are:

WALLS, ALEXANDER, a Senior Lieutenant, 50 years old.
MERCER, HARVEY L., fireman.

The accident happened while the Louisville was lying alongside of the American Line pier at the foot of West Twenty-second Street, preparing for sea. The Lieutenant and Perlemoyer were said to have been killed by fragments of the valve. Lieutenant Walls was directing the repair work when the accident occurred.

Lieutenant Walls was formerly an engineer officer on the St. Louis and is said to have been for some years in the service of the American Line. When America entered the war he was commissioned a lieutenant and assigned to service on his ship. The St. Louis was the first armed American merchant vessel to pass through the war zone in defiance of German submarines.

FARLEY.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, on Tuesday, Nov. 12, the following resolutions were adopted: IN MEMORIAM.—This Board records with deep sorrow the decease of the late JOHN CARDINAL FARLEY, long a member of this Society and one who was ever deeply interested in the care and betterment of little children. During all his long pastorate in the Church there is no characteristic that stands out more strikingly of the deep humanity of the man than the interest and personal attention he always gave to the little ones. He believed firmly that the way to obtain religious living and thinking people was to inculcate them early in life the principles of Religion. To obtain this he labored all his long life toward the betterment of institutions who had the care and attention and education of little children, and to all forms of good works that would protect, guard, and help them. The kindliness of his nature went further than that, for it made him take a personal interest in each individual case that came to his attention, and few realize even in his own Church how great an effect on the future of many men and women was the advice and guidance and personal effort that he had spent upon them in their early life.

Cardinal Farley was a great Churchman, a great Christian and a great citizen. He will be remembered in this country for his right leadership and many noble acts of head and heart. But for those who have worked with him in childrescue work there will always be a feeling that his championship of the feeble and the oppressed was the dominating influence of this Christian gentleman.

The Board directs this imperfect tribute to his memory to be inscribed at length upon its minutes.

NOTABLE ARRAY EXHIBITED

War Department Wins Credit for Selection of Stallion to Defeat Noted Sires of Turf.

Thoroughbreds were greatly distinguished at the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden yesterday. It was their day at the show and the distinction was made a marked one when for the first time in history the United States was down on the catalogue as an exhibitor. Of all the fine breeds paraded during the week Uncle Sam had chosen the stanchest and gamest in which to have the Stars and Stripes represented. For, figuratively speaking, these would be the colors displayed by Adams Express, one of the finest specimens of the clean-limbed and stout-hearted racers.

It would have been a national calamity if Adams Express had been beaten, for the Government had been to great expense to collect the best thoroughbreds for the perpetuation of a sturdy line of heroes, particularly those capable of carrying the lads in khaki in their military endeavors. There was little chance of this happening, however, for the recently acquired 10-year-old stallion impressed all with his quality and carried off the blue from Uncas Chief, a worthy opponent that had scored premier honors a year ago.

Strains of the best blood in the allied nations are to be found in the pedigree of Adams Express. His sire is a son of Flying Fox, a winner of classics in his day. There is also the blood of French horses represented, while his dam traces to the famous Levity, one of the roots of the best American families. Racing performances were not regarded in making the awards in this class, suitability for improving the breed of horses for general use being the chief requirements. But even if speed had been asked for Adams Express could have qualified, for he was able to step with the best sprinters in his active days on the turf.

Laurels for The Jockey Club.

The Jockey Club and J. H. Hallenbeck are entitled to share in the honors captured by the United States, for the latter racing man took Adams Express from his own stud to present him to the Breeding Bureau, which relayed him over to the Remount Department among many other noted thoroughbreds obtained from various sources. Adams Express has an abundance of quality and has bone and sinew which are likely to make him just the sort of stock horse needed on the Western Reservation, to which he will be sent with his show honors as an extra recommendation.

Carrying out the idea of the supremacy of the thoroughbred, two or more classes during the day in which conditions called for purity in breed, or at least a strain of thoroughbreds. One of the classes which showed better than any other the desirability of a strain of racing blood was that for United States Troopers' Mounts, in which the prize was presented by the Jockey Club.

There were eight contestants, an evenly balanced lot and all evidently half-breeds. The winner was the Canadian-bred gray gelding Ottawa, shown by Major John K. Brown of West Point. Back of Ottawa for the best of racing blood, for his sire, Martimas, was shipped from Canada to defend the best of the Eastern youngsters in the Futurity of 1897.

Melchester, owned by Louis E. Liggett of Chestnut Hill, was second. He also is partly thoroughbred, being a son of Cormorant, which raced in the colors of Rogers and Ross many years ago. Cormorant was one of the worst tempered horses ever seen on a race track, yet by judicious mating with a cold-blooded mare he has produced a fine type of useful horse in Melchester, which was perfect in deportment throughout the trial. Robin Hood, another son of Cormorant, has been scoring heavily for Miss Eleonora Sears in the hunters' and jumpers' classes.

Siren Best Polo Mount.

Two picturesque classes were put on in the morning in the competition for polo mounts. There was but a slim attendance at this early session, but one of the faithful, who never misses a show, was present in H. L. Herbert, Chairman of the Polo Association, and who rode the winner of the polo mount class at the first show in the Garden, away back in 1883. He keenly watched the judging, which was delegated to Harry T. Peters, and there was no cavilling at the awards, which gave first prize in the lightweight division to Miss S. H. Pond's bay mare Siren and in the heavyweights to Peter Hauck's bay gelding Irish Jig. Before the ribbons were distributed the mounts and riders had to show their adaptability to the game by twisting and turning between flags, with the riders swinging mallets as ferociously as in an international match.

Driftwood Blaze, the most notable saddle horse at the show, had another successful day, winning in the open class for horses not exceeding 15.2 hands. Perhaps his greatest triumph of the day was when the beautiful bay was shown late in the afternoon in a ladies' class that called for all the riders to be seated on side saddles. With Mrs. Walter H. Hanley riding her husband's champion, Driftwood Blaze showed at his best, and achieved fresh distinction by winning from such an accomplished combination as Miss Isabella Wanamaker's Cherrystone, ridden by Miss Vauclain. Miss Eleonora Sears, who hitherto had ridden astride, was not so much at home in the side saddle, and her brilliant Radiant had to put up with third place. Driftwood Blaze already has won five blues at the show, and is considered a sure winner in the championship to be decided today.

There will be more jumpers and fewer harness horses for next year's show, owing to a sale made yesterday in which F. Ambrose Clark purchased the four grays which J. Campbell Thompson drove against Judge Moore for the Vanderbilt Cup. These had been converted from jumpers by Thompson, and, now in the hands of Mr. Clark, will return to the grade whence they sprung.

RACING OPENS AT BOWIE.

BOWIE Md., Nov. 14.—There was a banner crowd at Prince George's Park this afternoon for the opening of the Maryland Agricultural Association's meeting, that will run to the end of the month and close the racing season in the East. There were many upsets of public form, the most notable being the failure of the Triple Springs Farm's Penrose to finish better than third in the small field of two-year-old fillies that made up the second race. Duchess Lace, a cast-off from the Belmont Stable, and My Friend both finished in front of the filly that has been among the fastest of her age.

There was a break in the luck of the Cleveland Stable, Trainer Frank Regan capturing the Inaugural Handicap with Dorcas, which for once ran kindly and the last race, with Puts and Calls, the six-year-old gelding, that only got out of the malden class at the last Empire City meeting.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE.—For two-year-olds; selling; five and a half furlongs. Marmite, 111 pounds, (E. Haynes,) $7.70, $5.20, and $3.20, won; Tiger Rose, 108, (J. McTaggart,) $4.60 and $3.10, second; Pinard, 113, (L. Ensor,) $4, third. Time—1:08 2-5. Maladroit, Indian Spring, St. Quentin, King Terry, Bagheera, Sky Man, and Clean Gone also ran.

SECOND RACE.—For two-year-old fillies; six furlongs. Duchess Lace, 107 pounds, (L. Ensor,) $12.50, $4.90, and $3.20, won; My Friend, 112, (T. Rice,) $15.80 and $3, second; Penrose, 119, (C. Kummer,) $2.10, third. Time—1:14. Rae Samuels and Ground Swell also ran.

THIRD RACE.—Canteen Purse; for all ages; six and a half furlongs. Charley Leydecker, 112 pounds, (J. Rodriquez,) $14.70, $6.90, and $3, won; Quiecude, 98, (H. Lunsford,) $4.80 and $2.70, second; Minto II., 108, (L. Ensor,) $2.30, third. Time—1:19 3-5. Douglass S., Startling, and Matinee Idol also ran.

FOURTH RACE.—Bowie Inaugural Handicap, for all ages; one mile. Dorcas, 107, (L. Ensor,) $23.00, $5.80, and $2.90, won; Franklin, 110, (L. Lyke,) $3.10 and $2.40, second; Kohinoor, 100, (G. Walls,) $2.40, third. Time—1:41 1-5. Tombolo and Highland Lad also ran.

FIFTH RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward; selling; one mile and seventy yards. King John, 104 pounds, (M. Buxton,) $18.20, $5.50, and $2.90, won; Thornbloom, 117, (A. Johnson,) $3.70 and $2.30, second; Whimsy, 100, (T. Parrington,) $2.20, third. Time—1:48 1-5. Kingling II. and Obolus also ran.

SIXTH RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward; claiming; one mile and a sixteenth. Amalgamator, 109 pounds, (L. Lyke,) $40.70, $14, and $9.80, won; Bucknall, 104, (Denyse,) $3.00 and $3.10, second; Kebo, 109, (C. Kummer,) $7.10, third. Time—1:50 4-5. C. M. Johnson, Oenone, Garbage, Flora Finch, Fairly, Miss Fannie, Egmont, Stir Up, Luther, Cliff Field, Monomoy, and Sam Hill also ran.

SEVENTH RACE.—For three-year-olds and upward; claiming; one mile and a quarter. Puts and Calls, 104 pounds, (R. McCrann,) $7.50, $3.70, and $2.70, won; Bravado, 109, (C. MINOR LEAGUES MAY WAR.

Demand Relief from Draft by Major Organizations.

PEORIA, Ill., Nov. 14.—War between the major leagues and the minor organizations of the country threatens to develop as a result of action taken at the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues here today protesting against the privileges of the major leagues to draft players from the minors. The protest was embodied in a resolution drawn by A. R. Tearney of Chicago, President of the Three I League, which demanded that the major leagues relinquish the right of the draft and also the practice of farming out players under the optional agreement.

Thomas J. Hickey, President of the American Association, urged the minor league organization to withdraw from the national agreement with the majors if the demand is refused. A committee, consisting of Holland, Tearney, and Joe Tinker, owner of the Columbus club of the American Association, was appointed to present the protest to the National Baseball Commission at its first meeting.

AMATEUR BOXERS TRIUMPH.

James Sullivan, national and metropolitan champion at 145 pounds, Charles Pilkington, a clubmate, New York State champion at 125 pounds, and Sam Mosberg, Receiving Ship New York, local 135 pound amateur champion, were among the victorious competitors last night in an amateur boxing tournament held in aid of the United War Work Campaign at the Crescent A. C. in Brooklyn.

O'HARA LEADS PROS IN WAR FUND GOLF

Haworth Player Has 76 for Low Score in a Select Field at North Shore.

The United War Work Campaign tournament under the auspices of the Professional Golfers' Association over the links of the North Shore Country Club yesterday resulted in more than $500 being added to the fund. Peter O'Hara of Haworth led the field of fifty-three players with a card of 76, two strokes better than his closest rivals, Gil Nicholls and Tom Kerrigan, who tied for second place with 78. Four more players finished better than 80—Emmet French of York, Jack Hobens of Englewood, George Fotheringham, unattached, and George Gordon of Wannamoisett, all of whom had 79.

O'Hara started badly, taking one over 5's for the first four holes. He got a good 3 at the seventh, 253 yards, and a fine 2 at the ninth, 181 yards. He had forty strokes for the first nine, but he settled down to a more steady pace on the inward half, taking 36.

Out .....5 6 5 5 4 5 3 5 2—40
In .....3 4 4 4 5 4 5 4 3—36—76

Walter Hagen, the former Rochester homebred, who won the national open in 1914, picked up after a few bad holes. Hagen, who is now located at Detroit, came East especially to compete.

Alec Smith, the Wykagyl veteran, took 40 for the first nine and 42 home, while Isaac Mackie and Herbert Strong each had 83. Cyril Walker of Shackamaxon could not get going on the outward half, taking 45, and though he was more steady coming back could do no better than 84. George Low had 43 and 41 for an 84, while Tom McNamara needed a stroke more for the round.

Only three amateurs took part, Frank Hoyt of Siwanoy, Gardiner W. White of Nassau and Leslie Conley, another Siwanoy member. The last named withdrew, while White had 44, 43—87 and Hoyt was two strokes better, 43, 42—85.

	Out.	In.	Total.
Peter O'Hara, Haworth	40	36	76

So much to say we hardly know where to begin!

If clothing, will it be suits; or overcoats?

If suits, the story of our own original *"Forefathers' Cloth"; or Irish Donegals, Killarney Tweeds, Scotch Homespuns, Bannockburns?

If hats—the *"Composite" derby, built on the law of averages; or the ever popular velours.

If shoes—our "Pedestrians" for 85 out of every 100 men; or *"Westpointers," the last that's built for hiking; or a line on our all leather standard?

If furnishings—No. 923, our raglan shouldered union suit; or *"Solo" socks; or *"Shire" collars?

Billiard Champion Triumphs in Exhibition for War Fund.

T. Henry Clarkson, Boston amateur balk line player, fell a victim to the wonderful playing of Willie Hoppe, professional champion, last night in an exhibition match at the Masonic Club, by a score of 200 to 72. The match was played for the United War Work Campaign. Hoppe was not up to his usual good form, but completed his string in ten innings for an average of twenty. He had high runs of 69 and 55. Clarkson's best run gave him 31.

In a pocket billiard match Ralph Greenleaf, the Monmouth, Ill., youngster, was defeated by J. Howard Shoemaker, national amateur champion, by a score of 75 to 59.

Welker Cochran and Corwin Hustin, national Class A amateur champion, were opponents in an exhibition 18.2 balk-line match at the Friars' Club. Cochran won by 200 to 34 in ten innings. Cochran made a high run of 126 and averaged 20. Hustin's highest run was 24.

Another match resulted in a triumph for Miss Clara Haywood over George P. Matthews by a score of 100 to 90 in twenty-one innings. Matthews made the highest run of the match, a cluster of 21. Miss Haywood's best run was 18.

The Misses Maude and Florence Flower scored victories yesterday in the women's pocket billiards tournament at Daly's. In both contests Mrs. Mary Johnson was the victim. In the afternoon Miss Maude Flower defeated Mrs. Johnson by 60 to 58, and in the evening Miss Florence Flower accomplished the same feat by a similar score, 60 to 58. Welker Cochran, professional, defeated Corwin Huston, national amateur Class A balk-line champion, in a handicap match at balk line in the afternoon by a score of 300 to 140. Cochran made a high run of 92. In the evening Hal B. Golman defeated the veteran Tom Gallagher by a score of 200 to 137 in forty-seven innings.

CAROLINA CUP TO PHILLIPS.

Moore County Golfer Takes Tourney at Pinehurst.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 14.—The chief trophy in the Carolina tournament was won at Pinehurst today by H. G. Phillips of Moore County, who defeated R. C. Shannon, 2nd, of Brockport, in the final contest by 2 and 1.

WALL STREET AGOG AT BRICKLEY'S KICK

Standing in the shadow of George Washington's statue on the steps of the Sub-Treasury in Wall Street yesterday noon, Charley Brickley, Harvard's talented drop kicker, booted a football across Wall and Broad Streets into the outstretched hands of Jack Gates, the old Yale player, who stood on one of the balconies in front of the Stock Exchange. It was a remarkable kick, and the thousands of spectators who jammed the streets gave Brickley a howling reception.

There has been any amount of kicking of various kinds in Wall Street in the past, but nothing like this great response of Brickley's toe. This toe has received perhaps the greatest education of any toe in the world. A more learned digit never came out of any university.

The wind currents which twisted around the skyscrapers were far more treacherous than they ever were in the Harvard Stadium and Brickley's target was much smaller than goal posts. The first two or three attempts went a bit wild, but then the Harvard star booted the ball high and straight into Cates's hands. Then Bill Edwards auctioned off the ball and some one bought it for $50.

This Wall Street football spectacle was arranged by Big Bill Edwards to boost the Princeton-Camp Upton game, which is to be played at the Polo Grounds Saturday afternoon. An impressive collection of former football talent entirely surrounded Big Bill Edwards as he made speeches, sold boxes, and side line badges. In the gathering were Ted Coy, George Foster Sanford, "Hooks" Janeway, Bill Roper, Herbert L. Pratt, Blondy Wallace, Charley Rafferty, Steve McClave, Bill Lanford, Elmer Thompson, Fred Murphy, and a dozen others whose names used to be spread all over the sporting pages several years ago.

Edwards started the ticket selling with a rousing speech, explaining that every red penny would go to the United War Work campaign. Foster Sanford also made a strong plea for the game between Rutgers and the Great Lakes eleven at Ebbets Field on Saturday, which is also for the United War Fund.

Sanford says that the Princeton game has been getting all the boosting, while the Great Lakes game in Brooklyn should get the same amount of attention. When the Rutgers coach had finished the crowd knew just as much about the Brooklyn game as they did about the one at the Polo Grounds. Between the two, the football enthusiasts hereabout will have plenty of gridiron excitement on Saturday.

Besides Brickley's great kick, he also sent a field goal across Wall Street to the steps of the J. P. Morgan & Co. building, where Tom Cochran, an old Yale player, made a nice catch and bought the pigskin for $50.

There have been many big crowds jammed in front of the Sub-Treasury at different affairs during these stirring war times, but yesterday's was the biggest jam of all. In addition to the thousands of cheering spectators, there were also five elephants and Bill Edwards. One can readily see that it would have been impossible to squeeze one more into the jam without the aid of a shoe horn.

NEW LINEUP AT FORDHAM.

The Fordham football squad was sent through a stiff signal drill yesterday afternoon in the final preparation for the game with Boston College on Saturday at Boston. The backfield was drilled in interference, a weakness evident in earlier games.

Several changes were made in the lineup. Farrington, who had been showing up so well, may be used at guard as O'Hara's running mate. Goldin will be at right half back and Brown at full back, Gilmartin being shifted to quarter back position.

With Frisch, Brown, Golden and Gilmartin or Manly, the Maroon backfield looked much better than at any other time this season. Much attention was given to open play, for it will be on this manner of attack that the Maroon will depend upon on Saturday.

COLUMBIA GETS BIG GAME.

Dawson's Eleven to Face Syracuse Thanksgiving Day.

Columbia and Syracuse will clash on the gridiron in the Archbold Stadium at Syracuse on Thanksgiving Day, according to an announcement made yesterday by Levering Tyson, graduate manager of athletics at Morningside Heights. It will be the first game between the two since 1902. This year's battle will be for the benefit of the American University Union in Paris.

Fred Dawson, coach of the Columbia team, realizes that an enormous task faces him in preparing for the game with Syracuse. He said that it would mark the breaking away of Columbia from the restrictions placed upon it barring it from playing with teams of the first class and would, therefore, be in the nature of an experiment.

In the excitement over the scheduling of the game with Syracuse, sight was not lost of the orders countermanding a transfer of more than sixty students to officers' training camps, including Kraus, Robison, Shaw and Menimott of the football team. Dawson was happy because it relieved him of the necessity of building up a new forward line and also of training a man to take Shaw's place in the backfield. It was stated that there was now no duobt that the football squad would be permitted to remain as at present constituted.

Columbia will endeavor to make full use of the forward pass against Wesleyan tomorrow and in order to develop that play Dawson pulled Forsythe back from the left wing and used him to throw passes to Stevens in yesterday's practice.

Great Lakes Undefeated.

"Roll Your Own"

THIS is good news from Washington!

Since April, at the request of the Government, our entire output of "BULL" DURHAM, thirty-six million sacks a month, has been going to our fighting men—going forward with the colors—until now every camp, every billet, every naval station and every ship is supplied and the Government is assured that wherever our boys in khaki and in blue are—there also is "BULL" DURHAM.

For this purpose, was our entire output requested and given. The purpose accomplished—and full supplies of "BULL" DURHAM guaranteed for the future—the Government has released the remaining part of the "Makings of a Nation" for civilian consumption.

Ask your dealer for a sack of "Bull," and once again, with your own hands, roll a cigarette for yourself—a cigarette machines can't imitate—the mildest, the most fragrant, the most economical cigarette in the world. Thus, we know, you will welcome good old "Bull" home again. For "Bull" has done his bit gladly and well—and will continue to do it right into Berlin.

THINKS ENEMY ALIEN BLEW UP WAR PLANT

CAN POINT TO NO SUSPECT

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Nov. 14.—The explosion at Morgan Station on Oct. 4, which killed workmen employed at the T. A. Gillespie loading plant and which terrified persons for miles around, was the work of an enemy alien, according to testimony given this afternoon before the Senate Committee which is investigating the disaster by Hugh A. Leonard, Superintendent of the unit in which the first of the many explosions occurred.

Leonard said he could not point to any one of the workmen as the person who had caused the explosion, but he declared that when he left the plant shortly before the first explosion everything was in order. He had looked over the plant carefully, he testified, before he went away, and in his opinion it would have been impossible for the explosion to have occurred accidentally.

Later in the afternoon the investigating committee divided over the admissibility of evidence as to the amount of explosives at the plant before the explosion. Senators Frelinghuysen and Meyers asserted that figures about to be made public by E. A. Yates, Vice President and General Manager of the Gillespie Company, should be permitted to go on the record and be made public, but Senator Beckham of Kentucky objected to this, saying that last week the Ordnance Department asked that these figures be kept secret. It was finally decided that inasmuch as the war was over there was no reason for withholding the figures, and Vice President Yates was permitted to say that on the day of the explosion there was between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000 pounds of TNT, nitrate, ammonia, loaded shells, and smokeless powder at the plant, and that a trifle less than 350,000 pounds of TNT in all exploded.

A suggestion of the War Industries Board that might have prevented the explosions at the plant was ignored by the company, according to E. C. Hawley, Inspector in the Fire Prevention Bureau of the War Industries Board, who testified at the morning session. Mr. Hawley said that the Fire Prevention Bureau, through him, had advised the company on June 25 to put in a sprinkler system.

"If it had been done," he said, "there is a strong probability that the fire would have been confined to the building in which it originated, provided the employes of the plant familiar with the system kept their heads and cut any part of the system wrecked by the first blast."

DISCUSSES AMERICA'S DUTY

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 14.—E. P. Sweet, Assistant Secretary of the Department of Commerce, discussed post war policies of the Government with respect to foreign trade before the Eastern Ice Manufacturers' Association here today. Two courses were open, he said. One was to withdraw from Europe, since the establishment of new governments and the restoration of normal conditions was primarily the business of Europe.

"The other course," he continued, is to recognize the inescapable fact that there is one thing worse even than absolutism in government—I mean anarchy—and stay right there until that menace to the peace of the world has been overcome, just as absolutism was met and conquered.

"We cannot afford to view our duty narrowly. We must not think of our pocketbooks only. Germany lost the world's respect and we found it. We must recognize the debt we owe to Belgium and to France. We must be magnanimous. It is our duty to go on in our rôle of financing the needs of our allies.

"Our country has had in this war an object lesson of the tremendous value of the foreign trade. We realize now as we never realized before that we must have outlets for our surplus production. We are going to produce after the war infinitely more than we can consume at home and we must have the means of disposing of it. We are not only going to have foreign trade, but we are doing to have the boats to deliver the goods, for we shall have a merchant marine second to none in the world."

Felicitates American People.

A cable message of congratulation to the American people, sent by the head offices of the Cunard Company in Liverpool, to T. Ashley Sparks, American Director of the Cunard Line in this city, was received yesterday. The message declared that there was widespread appreciation overseas of "the powerful assistance given by the United States to its allied powers which so largely contributed to victory." The communication expressed the hope that America and the Allies would forever remain united "and animated by the thought and one desire—the promotion of the welfare and the freedom of the world."

Good Upholstering Buying.

Since the first part of the week there has been a noticeable increase in the number of buyers who have visited the upholstery houses in this city. In some cases buying on certain lines has been very strong. Members of the trade are not looking forward to any immediate drop in prices, the general feeling being that they will probably remain the same, at least until the mills have disposed of the raw materials on hand, and the labor conditions are more settled.

Will Collar Demand Change?

Much speculation has been going on in the collar trade of late as to the kind of collars that will be in demand when the men return from abroad. Some think that the stiff linen collar will be used more, while others are of the opinion that the soft one will be the largest seller. Despite the fact that there are now over 3,000,000 men in the service, the sale of collars has steadily increased.

Bath and Lounging Robes.

While the influenza epidemic was on the call for bath robes from retail sources increased so much that some manufacturers were hardly able to supply the demand. Although the sale is not as big now as during that period, business is still very brisk. In the higher-priced lines, the silk and silk and worsted lounging robes are selling well as is the class of goods is always big around the holiday season it is expected that this year will prove no exception.

Trade in Glass Eyes.

Many experiments have been made of late in trying to produce a glass suitable for use in glass eyes but so far, it is said, little success has been obtained in this direction. Owing to the shortage of materials, stock eyes are practically out of the market. The only ones that are being made are on special orders. One of the most striking instances in connection with the glass eye trade is that, although the shortage of materials is very great and there are no prospects at present of obtaining more, the prices have advanced but very little.

Men's Shoe Styles to Change.

Authorities on the subject of style in men's shoes are predicting a marked change in the lasts of the footwear to be sold for the Fall, 1919, season. According to one of them, at least three distinct types of shoes will be wanted. Many of the several million men now in the national service, he says, will have become so accustomed to the broad-toed Munson last by the time they are mustered out that they will be satisfied with no other. Many others, including most of the officers, are expected to go back to the narrow-toed English last. The great majority, however, is expected to set up a demand for a last that is a cross between these two and that will combine comfort with a fair degree of sightliness.

Spring Coats Show Novel Lines.

The peg top effect that made the trousers of college students so prominent to the eye several years ago has been incorporated in some of the early models of women's coats for Spring. The result is not entirely unlike the lines of the barrel skirt of a few seasons back, though, perhaps, the new coats have less of the rotundity that marked the skirts. Capes are again included in the offerings, and the cape coat promises to repeat its success of the recent past. Few cnanges in materials and trimmings are apparent in the early numbers.

Expect More Holiday Business.

The suspension of draft calls is expected to have an important effect on the holiday business that will be done in men's neckwear this season. It was pointed out here yesterday that about 500,000 men, who would have been called to the cantonments and training camps during this and next months if the armistice had not been signed, now become potential customers for scarfs and ties. The possibility that many of the men now in service on this side of the Atlantic may be mustered out before Christmas is also considered by the wholesale trade. Opinions expressed yesterday were to the effect that a marked improvement in the neckwear business is in sight for the immediate future. Prompt buying is required now if the goods are to be delivered in time for holiday selling at retail.

Raw Silk Prices Well Sustained.

The Yokohama raw silk market has developed decided strength, according to cables received by H. L. Gwalter & Co. of this city, and sellers, holding for higher prices in anticipation of important buying by European manufacturers, are unwilling to meet the offers of buyers. Sinshiu No. 1 is now reported at 1,620 yen per picul, or 50 yen above last week's figures. Canton and Shanghai are quiet and unchanged. At Milan reelers are marking time pending the settlement of the premiums to be given them by the Italian Government on silks for export to

First (Closed) Mortgage, in the opinion of counsel, on entire property of company, including a modern hydro-electric plant having an installed capacity of 125,000 horse-power and operating under unusually favorable natural conditions. Bonded debt per horse-power stated to be lower than that of any similar hydro-electric development. These bonds constitute, in our judgment, one of the most attractive investment opportunities of the day.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Dealings in the stock market continued yesterday under the restraint which has been in evidence for some days past, which is due in part to the inability of brokerage houses to borrow as freely as they might wish and also to the impression among many traders that it would be well to watch developments in business for a time before taking a position. The result of precautionary measures among banks and within the market following could hardly be anything but a drifting course of prices. This tendency has been growing daily since the armistice was signed. On Tuesday there was a considerable decline, followed on Wednesday by a movement which was, in case of the majority of issues, in the downward direction, and yesterday a highly irregular price trend prevailed, with the balance still somewhat on the side of lower quotations.

It would be difficult, of course, to attempt a prediction as to the time when stock prices will make definite response to the extraordinary influences now at work in the financial and business realms. The comment heard in banking quarters in respect to credits indicates an impression that bank resources must be carefully husbanded while certain of the weightier problems of international finances are being worked out. At the same time, there are several large items of domestic financing to be rounded into form, one or more of which will doubtless become public in the near future. The reconstruction work in Europe, while so far treated in rather general terms in discussion, is receiving very real attention among bankers, with the expectation that foreign securities will be introduced to the American market on a broad scale and under satisfactory investment terms. It may be expected that activity in this direction will develop as soon as the scope of the Government's plans for credit extension to the allied nations in the next few months is defined. The undertaking will not be entirely new to bankers who assisted in public loans for foreign Governments prior to the entrance of the United States into the war, but a new and interesting feature will present itself in case steps are taken to place issues of foreign corporations in this country.

In the field of business so much uncertainty still exists in regard to early occurrences in the process of changing from war to peace as to warrant caution in the stock market. Yesterday's trading in the first hour brought a forward movement which appeared to have its main support in the expectation that Government control would prevent radical declines in steel and other prices. Another supporting influence was the spirit of optimism breathed in official circles at Washington, as recounted from news dispatches, about the steps being taken to prevent serious disturbance to business in the transition period. The movement in stocks was short-lived, but was possible of interpretation as the reflection of buying power which looks for every opportunity to show itself.

Foreign exchange quotations continued to drift, a development which is not surprising in view of the restricted cable service for business messages which has prevailed this week. The quotations which have been made have largely been controlled by purely domestic considerations. Call money remained at the 6 per cent. level. There were reports of increased offerings of ninety-day money at slightly lower figures than the rate long in effect, but the amounts were small.

CONTROLLER OFFERS NEW WEST SIDE PLAN

PROVIDES FOR JERSEY LINES

Estimates That Taxable Values Would Be Increased $100,000,000 —Goes to Estimate Board Today.

Controller Charles L. Craig, who as counsel for the West End Association fought the Mitchel administration's west side improvement plan, will submit to the Board of Estimate today a plan of his own for the improvement of freight terminal transportation and waterfront conditions on the west side of Manhattan. The plan provides for a six-track underground freight railroad, to be owned and controlled by the city, extending from Fifty-ninth Street to a point near Canal Street, with unit terminals at various locations, transfer bridges for car floats and providing means of access to the New Jersey railroads. The underground railroad and its terminal facilities, according to the Controller, will provide for the business of all railroads handling merchandise traffic originating in or consigned to Manhattan Borough.

The plan, the Controller said, contemplates an extensive improvement and development of the entire west side of Manhattan, the release of many piers along the North River, now used by the railroads as freight stations, and permanent relief from traffic congestion along West Street and the marginal way. The Controller estimates that the increase of taxable values through the improvement may easily exceed $100,000,000. One of the features of the plan is a viaduct from Fifty-seventh Street to Seventy-second Street and Riverside Drive, designed to divert a great amount of vehicle traffic from Broadway and Fifth Avenue. The Controller believes that the use of the water front between Fifty-seventh and Seventy-second Streets would be increased at least fourfold. The plan also provides for the construction of several terminals consisting of one or more units, each unit covering an ordinary city block and accommodating below the street level about 150 freight cars at one time. In his report to the Board of Estimate the Controller says:

Relieves Pier Shortage.

"The construction and operation of such a railroad and terminal system will free the North River waterfront from its present use for railroad station purposes and leave it available for modern pier development for the purposes of navigation; it will end the traffic congestion that for years has disgraced West Street and the marginal way, and greatly reduce traffic congestion in other localities; it will effect far-reaching economies in the carrying of merchandise traffic to and from the Borough of Manhattan; it will give an impetus to the improvement of private property; an increase in the taxable values, which may easily exceed $100,000,000; it will end Death Avenue; and as one of its consequences will bring about the completion of Riverside Park and the opening of that great waterfront for the enjoyment of the people.

"The plan involves no serious physical or transportation difficulty, and it can be financed and operated to the material advantage of the City of New York."

After detailing the present freight situation on the lower west side and the need of improvement, the Controller in his report states that under his plan the six-track underground railroad would run from Fifty-ninth street down Eleventh Avenue to Twenty-seventh Street; thence partially through private property between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh Street to Tenth Avenue; down Tenth Avenue to Fifteenth Street; partly through private property to and under Ninth Avenue at Fourteenth Street into Hudson Street, and down Hudson Street to North Moore Street. A two-track line across town under West Houston and East Houston Streets to the east side is to provide for a local terminal there, with two or more tracks running southward across Fourteenth Street between Ninth and Tenth Avenues, curving to West Washington Market.

Union unit terminals are proposed to be located between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-seventh Streets east of Eleventh Avenue, between Twenty-sixth and Thirtieth Streets east of Eleventh Avenue, and, if necessary, extending through to Ninth Avenue; between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-ninth Streets; between Sixteenth and Twentieth Streets east of Tenth Avenue; at Spring Street, east or west of Hudson Street, and in the blocks bounded by Laight, Varick, North Moore, and Hudson Streets. Union transfer bridges are proposed to be located between Twenty-sixth and Thirtieth Streets and at Leroy and Morton Streets, or at a point further south not yet definitely determined. As to the practical operation of the plan the Controller says:

Inbound Freight at Night.

"During the night all inbound business consigned to Manhattan would be brought into the various terminals and placed in their different units ready for unloading early the next morning. The contents of these cars are placed on the hand trucks (except the cars on the two outer tracks of each unit) and immediately raised to the street level. These trucks are there taken to the truck or wagon of the consignee or some transfer company and the contents delivered to it. The empty hand truck is quickly dropped to the track level again for another load. The expedition with which cars can be emptied by this system can best be understood only by those familiar with this operation. It involves no new or untried practice. All incoming shipments which the trucks of merchants are not ready immediately to remove are assembled on the street level platform and held for removal during the day. Any goods remaining unremoved at the end of the day must be taken to an upper floor of the building and there stored. The terminal building should be erected to a height of say ten stories, the upper eight floors of which should be used for such storage; but this should be for brief periods not exceeding fifteen days or a month at most. Nor longer storage than this other provision would have to be made by the shippers.

"The cars that have been emptied by the unloading process are then available for outgoing business. This business is received on the street level from merchants in substantially the same manner that it is now received at the waterfront stations, except with much greater flexibility of movement. A merchant's truck may deliver shipments to go out over three or more railroads, but only one delivery is necessitated, the shipments for the different roads being placed on separate hand trucks with the appropriate shipping instructions. The outgoing business would be for the most part in less than carload lots. It is important in handling such business to place it in the cars in 'station order' i. e., to assemble the merchandise to be shipped over, say the Erie, and place it in cars so that the goods for the last station to which the cars are to travel is placed in the car first, and the goods for the first station at which the car is to stop are placed in the car last."

LOOK FOR TOBACCO ISSUE.

Understood Liggett & Myers Plan $20,000,000 in Short Term Notes.

New financing by the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company was reported yesterday. It is understood that the company will shortly issue $20,000,000 in short term serial notes with maturities ranging from one to three or five years. It is believed the interest rate will be 7 per cent. Recent tobacco financing has been done by the National City Company and the Guaranty Trust Company. Upon inquiry at the offices of the latter company last night it was said that there was nothing to make public concerning the Liggett & Myers issue.

The report that the Liggett & Myers Company contemplated a short term note issue came as a surprise, for it was the belief that any new financing of the company would be in the form of a stock issue. On June 18 of this year the stockholders authorized the doubling of the common stock of the company, increasing it thereby from $21,496,400 to $42,992,800. The new stock was to be designated as Class B common, without voting power. It was not proposed to issue any of the stock at that time but its authorization was recommended by the Directors as a means of providing for any emergency that might arise.

The issue of $20,000,000 in short term notes would be the second largest piece of industrial financing undertaken since the Fourth Liberty Loan closed. The American Tobacco Company issued $25,000,000 in short term notes a few days after the Government sale was concluded, and the issue was heavily oversubscribed in a few hours.

Government to Aid Lehigh.

It was learned yesterday that the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has come to a tentative agreement with the Federal Railroad Administration by which the company will receive from the Government for the use of the road approximately $11,321,232. This amount will will be subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

INTERBORO TO OFFER $6,000,000 NEW NOTES

AUTHORIZED SOME TIME AGO

Morgan Firm Announces Move to Take Advantage of Ready Market for Earlier Issue.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Company has arranged, through J. P. Morgan & Co., to issue additional three-year convertible 7 per cent. notes to the amount of about $6,000,000. This amount represents, approximately, the balance of the issue of $30,700,000 authorized some time ago, $23,400,000 of which have been issued. Regarding the new issue, Morgan & Co. made the following announcement yesterday afternoon:

"In response to the notice sent out by J. P. Morgan & Co. for the syndicate managers that the subscription books in the Interborough Rapid Transit Company's 7 per cent. notes would be closed on Nov. 11, instead of Dec. 1, the date originally set for the closing of the syndicate, applications for notes were received in large volume, and, in allotting the unsold balance of the notes, it has been possible for the syndicate managers to allot only 15 per cent. of the applications in amounts below $50,000 and 10 per cent. of the applications in amounts of $50,000 and over.

"In order to take advantage of this demand, and to permit the allotment of a larger percentage of notes than would otherwise be available, the Interborough Rapid Transit Company has arranged to issue an amount of approximately $6,000,000 to cover the cost of work which has been deferred because of its possible competition with the Government in its war work.

"At the time of issuing the $33,400,000 of notes, early in September, President Shonts stated that, except for work to cost about $6,000,000, which was to be deferred until after the war, the proceeds of that note issue would be sufficient to complete the company's contribution to the cost of the Interborough new rapid transit system. The proceeds of the $6,000,000 now offered are designed to complete the company's share of the work.

"These notes are not issued under the same indenture as that securing the notes previously offered for public subscription, which limited such issues to $33,400,000, but will be secured by another indenture with identical terms as to maturity, interest rates, character of security, and conversion privileges. The notes of the supplemental issue, which will be known as Series B, will be delivered, principally, to some of the large corporate subscribers, who except for this issue would have been unable to obtain the 10 per cent. which has now been allotted to subscribers of $50,000 or over.

"It is understood that the company has agreed with the Capital Issues Committee that none of the proceeds of this $6,000,000 of notes will be used for construction purposes until such expenditures are approved by the committee. In the meantime the proceeds of the notes will be invested in United States certificates of indebtedness or similar obligations."

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 6,284 packages. Market ruling steady to firm on the higher grades of fresh creamery, with the supply of such very moderate. Lower qualities are quiet and easy. Ladles and packing stock somewhat lower. Creamery, higher than extras, a lb. 63¾@64c; extras, 92 score, 63c; firsts, 88 to 91 score, 58@62½c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 54½@57½c; lower grades, 50@54c; unsalted, higher than extras, 63¾@66c; extras, 64½@65c; firsts, 60@64c; seconds, 56@59½c; State dairy tubs, finest, 62@64½c; good to prime, 57@61c; common to fair, 47@56c; renovated, extras, 50@51c; firsts, 48@49c; lower grades, 42@47c; imitation creamery, firsts, 44@46c; ladles, current make, firsts, 39½@40½c; seconds, 38½c; lower grades, 37@38½c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 37½@38c; No. 2, 36½@37c; lower grades, 34@36c.

EGGS.—7,004 packages. The scarcity of fresh gathered eggs continues and the demand for stock containing a good to large proportion of new eggs is still beyond the supply available. The very limited offerings are being picked up quickly, and the competition to obtain them is forcing prices to a still higher level. Storage eggs continue in active demand and with reserved offerings; prices are strong and in sellers' favor. White eggs continue quiet and declining. The recent extreme prices seem to have checked the demand considerably and stock tends to accumulate. Receivers are cutting prices still further, and the market closed unsettled and with values not clearly defined. Fresh gathered extras, a dozen, 71@72c; extra firsts, 68@70c; firsts, 64@67c; seconds, 60@63c; dirties, No. 1, 47@48c; No. 2 and poorer, 42@46c; checks, good to choice, dry, 42@44c; under grades, 38@41c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, charges paid, 48@49c; firsts, charges paid, 46@48c; seconds, charges paid, 43@46c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western hennery whites, fine to fancy, 80@92c; ordinary to prime, 75@88c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 75@90c; Pacific Coast whites, firsts to finest, 85@86c; Western and Southern gathered whites, 68@85c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby hennery browns, 74@78c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 62@72c.

Peace Investments to Net 6% with Real Safety

IN the vast changes of war and returning peace none is more striking than the creation of a great new bond buying class in the United States. Twenty-five million people have learned the lesson of thrift and are regularly laying aside a fixed sum from income every month. They have learned what a bond is, and have learned to invest savings in safe bonds.

To all these new bond-buyers we offer the services of S. W. Straus & Co. in the investment of funds. We call attention to the record of this House—thirty-six years without loss to any investor. This record proves the soundness of the bonds we sell and the care with which we protect the interests of our clients. It is a record which has gained vital importance under war-time conditions. It is a record which entitles this House to your confidence.

The bonds we offer are first mortgage serial bonds, safe-guarded under the Straus Plan. Each bond is simply a part of a first mortgage on the best, stablest, most solid security in the world—improved, income-earning city real estate. These bonds are issued in $100, $500, and $1000 denominations. Since they mature serially, they enable you to select the date when your money will be paid back to you. They yield 6%—the highest rate consistent with perfect security. And they are safe.

Call at our office and let one of our officers explain the merits of these sound bonds to you. Or, if you wish, write for our booklet, "Safety and 6%," and ask for

Decided Slackening in Selling Follows Order Against Speculative Short Selling.

The cotton market had a breathing spell yesterday, which was welcomed by brokers as an opportunity for all interests connected with dealings to attain a fresh viewpoint of business under the newly restricted conditions. There was a decided slackening of selling, the product of the order against speculative short sales. At the same time a fair buying demand arose, with the result that quotations were rather easily advanced from 50 to 60 points above the preceding day's close before noon, with a reaction of about half the distance in later operations.

In course of the advance December contracts sold up to 26.80, January to 26.10, March to 25.80, and May 25.62. The future tendency of the market was made somewhat obscure by reports that the Liverpool Cotton Exchange, which reopened after the holiday, either had or would issue an order against further short selling there. It was rumored that the Liverpool authorities intended to limit maximum fluctuations in any one day to 50 English points, instead of 100, as at present. The change, if put into operation, would be equivalent to a maximum movement of 100 points daily.

Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company

First Mortgage 6% Serial Gold Bonds

Dated October 1, 1918. Interest payable April and October first in Chicago or New York. Coupon bonds in interchangeable denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, registrable as to principal only. Redeemable at 101 and accrued interest upon three weeks' notice as a whole or in a part.

Interest payable without deduction for any Federal normal income tax now or hereafter deductible at the source not in excess of 4%.

CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF ILLINOIS, CHICAGO, TRUSTEE

The Chicago Pneumatic Tool Company is the largest manufacturer of pneumatic tools in the United States. Its products, chiefly used in ship building, structural steel, mining and railroad industries, are standard all over the world.

These bonds will be secured by a closed first mortgage on all the real estate, plants, machinery and equipment of the Company, and by pledge of the entire capital stocks of its subsidiaries.

Net tangible assets, as of May 31, 1918, after applying the proceeds from these bonds, exclusive of patents, trade marks and good will, and after deducting reserves for depreciation and all indebtedness except these bonds, were $11,421,309, or over 3½ times this first mortgage bond issue.

Net quick assets were $6,028,000, or 1.85 times this issue. The Company covenants to maintain at all times during the life of this mortgage net quick assets equal to at least 125% of these bonds outstanding.

Average annual net earnings for the two years and five months ended May 31, 1918, were at the rate of $1,375,872, or over 7 times annual interest requirements on these bonds. For the seven years ended December 31, 1915, net earnings averaged $662,985, or nearly 3½ times such interest requirements.

An annual sinking fund of 25% of net earnings, effective beginning October 1, 1918, is pledged for the retirement of these bonds. With the present rate of earnings maintained, the sinking fund will be sufficient to retire about two-thirds of the entire issue before maturity.

MATURITIES AND PRICES

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Heavy selling pressure in the late afternoon made for a heavy closing tone in the market yesterday on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Substantial earlier gains were eliminated and gave way to losses ranging from a fraction to more than a point throughout the active list, in both the industrials and rails.

M'ADOO SUGGESTS $6,000,000 CUT

lish such credits and make loans within reasonable limits to these Governments for purposes growing out of the war.

"It is of the utmost importance that such foreign loans should be held down to a minimum, and as soon as may be discontinued, and that every reasonable argument should be pressed upon the Governments of the Allies to prepare themselves and their people to make payment for their exports from the United States by imports into the United States; that is, in effect to make cash payment instead of payment by credit.

Must Have Working Capital.

"For the period of reconstruction, however, some of the Allies must have working capital in the form of credits to enable them to pay for the imports without which they cannot place themselves and their industries on a peace basis. This is not only the policy which is actuated by a proper desire to be helpful to the Governments which, with us, have borne the burden of the war, and to their peoples, but is also the policy of enlightened selfishness. It is to be apprehended that the sudden cessation of the extraordinary demands upon our industry and products, consequent upon the conclusion of the war, may result in a sudden reduction of price[illegible] wages, and even in unemployment, [illegible]ve are not prepared to continue [illegible]on credit to the extent that may [illegible]d on credit to the extent that may be necessary.

"These considerations lead me to believe that the Government's expenditures during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, may be in the neighborhood of $18,000,000,000.

"I am inclined to recommend a substantial reduction in the amount sought to be raised by the House bill. Changes have been made or are in contemplation by the Senate which, taken together with the anticipated elimination of revenue from liquor taxes, would reduce the amount to be raised by the pending revenue bill from the $8,000,000,000 or more provided for in the House bill originally suggested by me, to some $3,000,000,000. Further changes may, I think, with safety, be made in the bill with a view to reducing the amount of taxation to $6,000,000,000, which may be paid in installments during the calendar year 1919. The excess profits tax rates applicable to the calendar year 1918 should not be greater than those provided for in the existing law of October, 1917, and should be payable only in those cases where such excess profits tax would yield a larger return than the proposed war profits tax. The eighty per cent. war profits tax applicable to the calendar year 1918 should be retained. Contracts have been made during past months in the expectation of a heavy war profit tax. Everyone is agreed that war profits should be taxed. They must be taxed now.

"It is time to look ahead to the future of American business and industry. Our tax measures should be so devised as to encourage and stimulate rather than to burden and repress them. I, therefore, recommend the immediate amendment of the pending bill so as to provide that, with the exception of the taxes levied upon war and excess profits for the calendar year 1918 and payable in the year 1919, the war and excess profits taxes shall come to an end, except in so far as may be necessary, to subject to these taxes profits which, though arising from contracts entered into during the war period, would, under existing regulations, technically be profits of 1919 and not profits of 1918. I can think of nothing which would do more to encourage industry and [illegible]certainty in this measure, carrying with it as it would the assurance that with the cessation of war there will come cessation of taxes on so-called war profits and war excess profits.

"It seems wise to provide, with the elimination for the calendar year 1919 of the war and excess profits taxes, for a sufficient revenue from corporation and individual income taxes applicable to the calendar year 1919 to make the total revenue payable during the calendar year 1920 not less than $4,000,000,000.

"It is impossible at this time to make a forecast of the aggregate amount which the war debt will have reached by the time war contracts have been liquidated and the reduction of our military forces to a peace basis has been completed. What will be the Government's necessities when the period of readjustment is passed and the country has fully reached a peace basis cannot now be foretold; but bearing in mind the interest on the then public debt in excess of the interest to be received from obligations of foreign Governments, the necessity of providing from taxes for the gradual retirement of the war debt and the certain permanent increase in the expenditures of the Government over pre-war expenditures, the figure of $4,000,000,000 suggested seems a very moderate one.

"In connection with the revision downward of the pending revenue bill, I cannot too strongly urge upon you the necessity, so far as the war and excess profits tax is concerned, of providing necessary safeguards in the form of adequate provisions for amortization, conservative valuation of inventories, and the ascertainment of the minimum incomes which shall be exempted from the tax on lines which will insure the taxpayer from injustice and avoidable injury. Nor can I overemphasize the importance of determining now the basis of taxation which will apply to the calendar year 1919, as well as to the calendar year 1918.

Entitled to Know in Advance.

"Business and industry and individual initiative and enterprise are entitled to know in advance the basis of taxation upon which all the activities of the nation must be conducted. Prosperity cannot be maintained if business is kept in uncertainty as to taxation. It is always unfortunate to be compelled to enact a tax bill at the end of the calendar year, with retroactive effect, instead of in advance of the calendar year, which would permit contracts and business arrangements generally to be entered into with certainty as to the burden of taxation to be borne. This is a gross injustice to business and to all forms of enterprise. It is costly also to the people at large, as they are required to pay higher prices for their necessities, because producers, in order to be on the safe side, fix prices on the assumption that taxes may be higher than they subsequently turn out to be.

"Definiteness and certainty as to the basis of taxation should be given in the pending bill, not alone as to the calendar year 1918, but as to the calendar year 1919. This will enable business and enterprise to proceed with confidence and courage.

"Being reasonably assured of a decreasing rather than an increasing scale of expenditure, the Treasury could look forward with composure to the necessity of temporary borrowing against the expected revenue, in addition to such borrowing as may be necessary to meet the excess of current expenditures over revenue. This gives an opportunity in connection with the pending bill to take measures which heretofore have been impossible because of the increasing scale of expenditures, although inherently very desirable, for the spreading of the payments of income and profits taxes over the entire calendar year instead of requiring them to be made in the first six months, and I suggest that these taxes be made payable in four equal installments, say, March 15, June 15, Sept. 15, and Dec. 15. This will give great additional relief to taxpayers during the period of readjustment now before us and will initiate a policy which should be to the permanent advantage of the Government.

"For many years to come the Government's expenditure for interest and other purposes will be vastly increased and that expenditure will be spread over the whole year. It is of the utmost importance that the Government should be in receipt of revenues through the calendar year about evenly proportioned so that it will not be under the necessity of accumulating balances beforehand or borrowing against anticipated revenue receipts when we reach again a peace basis.

"To summarize, I venture to recommend:

"1. That the pending revenue bill be revised with a view to yielding $6,000,000,000, payable during the calendar year 1919, and not less than $4,000,000,000 during the calendar year 1920.

"2. That income and profits tax be payable in four equal quarterly installments, beginning March 15 in each year.

"3. That the excess profits tax rates in respect to taxes payable in the year 1919 be not higher than those in the existing law.

"4. The amelioration of the provisions with reference to the determination of war and excess profits taxes in respect to the revenue payable in the year 1919 and the elimination of those taxes in respect to revenue payable in 1920, except with respect to profits on contracts negotiated during the war period.

"5. That to compensate for any reduction of revenue beyond the desired amounts above indicated, there should be an increase in the corporation and individual income tax levies.

"I am sending a copy of this letter to Mr. Kitchin, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

(Signed) "W. G. McADOO.

"Hon. F. M. Simmons, Chairman, Committee on Finance, United States Senate."

EXCHANGE BANKERS MEET.

Following a meeting held yesterday at the offices of the Empire Trust Company, it was announced that an organization of foreign exchange bankers had been formed, to be known as the Association of Foreign Exchange Dealers. It was stated that the organizers proposed through the new association to promote closer co-operation among its members in all foreign exchange matters. Monthly meetings will be held, at which subjects of interest to the members will be discussed.

The meeting was attended by twenty-four bankers, who, after listening to the report of the Organization Committee, gave their approval to the project. A committee of five was named, headed by North McLean, foreign exchange manager of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank, to make nominations for President, two Vice Presidents, Secretary, Treasurer, and an Executive Committee of five.

To Aid Banking Legislation.

The United States Council of State Banking Associations, which was formed on July 15, with headquarters at the Union Trust Building in Washington, has addressed a circular to the State banks, trust companies, and savings banks of the country calling attention to the service which the council can render as to legislative matters of interest to banks. To gain this end the circular solicits the support and co-operation of the banks. The circular says: "It is believed that the interests of all banking institutions can be best served by adhering to a policy of intelligent co-operation in the matter of legislation."

Pliny Fisk Sells Exchange Seat.

Pliny Fisk, senior member of the firm of Harvey Fisk & Sons, sold his seat on the Stock Exchange yesterday to Edwin D. Levinson for $55,000. This is an advance of $2,000 over the last sale which was recorded on Nov. 7. Mr. Fisk said that the business of his firm was confined almost exclusively to bonds, that he had not been on the floor of the Exchange for a long time, and that he had decided, therefore, to dispose of his seat. Mr. Fisk was admitted to the Exchange on Dec. 2, 1915. George S. Goodrich of the firm of A. M. Kidder & Co., sold his seat yesterday to Charles L. Morse of the same firm. Mr. Goodrich was admitted to the Exchange on Dec. 21, 1911.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Halstead G. Freeman and Duncan A. Holmes have been elected Vice Presidents of the Chase Securities Corporation. Mr. Freeman was formerly identified with the Chicago office of William A. Read & Co. and with E. W. Clark & Co. Mr. Holmes has for some years been associated with Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Donald G. Geddes of Clark, Dodge & Co. has been elected a Director of the Houston Oil Company.

William West & Co. of this city are offering $ 5 per cent. serial gold bonds of the City of Seattle Municipal Light and Power Plant and System, to yield 5 per cent.

Abraham & Company are opening a department for trading in railroad bonds, which is under the management of George S. Rosenbaum, formerly with Baker, Carruthers & Fell.

HAD PLACE CHOSEN TO HANG KAISER

New Yorker, Back from Internment, Heard Mutterings of Discontent Months Ago.

Professor Henry C. Emery, formerly a Major in the National Army, and probably the first American to arrive here from Germany since the ascendancy of the civilian over the military authorities in the Central Empires, related yesterday his experiences after being captured on the Aland Islands by the Germans last March. He reached New York by way of a neutral country this week.

Professor Emery said that as early as last July he observed the mutterings of dicontent in Berlin that culminated in the recent revolt. Although he had no personal contact with the present Socialist heads of Germany and was unable to tell how far Germany was infected by Bolshevism, Professor Emery gave it as his opinion that if industry in Germany could be restored promptly and the manufactures could obtain raw materials and if a strong central government could be maintained, there would be no Bolshevist menace in Germany.

That the Germans allowed the Bolshevist Ambassador to remain in Berlin as long as they did was surprising to Professor Emery. When the Bolshevist representatives were taxed with spreading their propaganda, he said, they replied without any embarrassment, "That's what we are here for, to spread the doctrine of Bolshevism."

Professor Emery was returning from Petrograd, where he had gone on a mission for the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, when he was seized on the Aland Islands and interned at Tuchel. His wife was not taken prisoner, and owing to her efforts he was released from the prison camp after five weeks and sent to a small town in Pomerania, where he was allowed to move freely about the town limits.

The most striking thing in the town to Professor Emery was the complete ignorance of the inhabitants as to why America entered the war. Although so great was the campaign of misinformation that most people were living in a state of hopeless delusion, there was an occasional exception, such as one man, who said that Prince Lichnowsky was going to be punished for telling the truth about England not wanting war. The German went so far as to say that nobody wanted war except Germany, and that the reason Belgium was attacked was because it was coveted by Germany.

In June, as the result of illness, Professor Emery was permitted to go to a sanitarium in Berlin, and there, except for having to report to the police regularly, he was free to come and go as he pleased. Although the German offensive was at that time coming to an end, the feeling of the Germans was still high.

"Very soon, however, I discovered a restlessness among the working people that did not appear among the well-to-do and educated classes," he said.

"Whether the latter were merely more cautious in remarks I cannot say. Sometimes I thought they were less well informed. Early in July my barber in the suburbs repeated with amazing frankness stories of desertion and discontent brought from the front by the soldiers on leave. His comments at that date were also significant.

"He complained bitterly of the way in which the German people had been lied to, and when I asked what was to be done he said: 'That chap up above there; we've got to throw him down.'

"At the moment I could hardly believe my ears, but each succeeding week brought a stronger conviction that great masses of the people were thoroughly sick of their rulers, and before I left I found myself talking English quite openly Unter den Linden and discussing the necessity of the Kaiser's abdication.

"I even remarked to a member of the Reichstag that in August people were afraid that our President would insist on the Emperor's abdication, and in October they were afraid he wouldn't. But it was generally accepted that the Kaiser had long ago lost his grip and influence and that Ludendorff was the dictator of Germany. And in the short time I was there I saw him fall from a national hero to the most execrated man in the empire. Early in October a rather conservative journalist remarked:

"'The hemp crop must be well hung on is already picked out.'

"In the midst of the excitement I was allowed to get out. This had been impossible, regardless of my claims of unjust seizure, so long as the military control was absolute, but in the second week in October the military were merely taking orders from the civilian government. Although nothing was said to me regarding the matter, I was convinced that my release was at that moment partly due to a feeling in certain circles that I did know how deeply the democratic revolutionary feeling had gone, and it might be well to have me outside in case my testimony was wanted. Naturally I didn't stop to analyze motives, but took the first chance to beat it."

"The day I landed in New York I heard the Kaiser had also 'beat it.' Consequently if any one in Berlin had hoped I would say on my return that the Germans were really against the Kaiser and his crowd, their own people saved me the necessity of bothering about it."

COURT THROWS OUT CASE.

Criticises Evidence Offered by District Attorney's Office.

Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions yesterday criticised the evidence submitted by the District Attorney's Office in the trial of Grant Rose, indicted on charges of attempted extortion made by Paul E. Heller, a manufacturer of Newark, and then ordered the jury to return an immediate verdict of acquittal for Rose. Philip Kastel, a broker of 200 West Fifty-eighth Street; his wife, Maude E. Kastel, and William Fitzmaurice were indicted with Rose, but it is expected that a motion will be made to the court for the dismissal of their cases without trial. Judge Mulqueen halted the trial and said to Assistant District Attorney J. H. Banton:

"This is a time for you, if you have any real evidence, to produce it. I told you last night what I thought of this case. You have no evidence here that this man was engaged in a conspiracy. Kastel did what any man would have done when ready to press his civil suits. The fact that he and the defendant Rose followed Mrs. Kastel and Heller shows nothing wrong."

Before the District Attorney had submitted the criminal charges to the Grand Jury and had obtained the indictments, Kastel brought a suit for damages against Heller, charging alienation of the affection of Mrs. Kastel. Heller alleged that the defendants were acting together to force a settlement from him of the civil suits.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

In the river-front section of the rear just south of the Brooklyn Bridge the six-story loft structure at 236 Water Street, on a plot 25 by 85, was purchased as an investment by Max B. Kaesche. The sale was made through the Charles F. Noyes Company for Mrs. H. M. Warren and Mrs. W. Thompson. The property, which is in the wholesale store district of the city, was held at $45,000.

Realty Company Increases Water Street Holdings.

The 95 Wall Street Realty Company, Jacob Aron President, has increased its holdings on Water Street by the purchase of 113, a four-story building, on a lot 23 by 91, from Daniel S. Brasil. The property adjoins the Federal building on the southeast corner of Wall, and the buyers hold title to the adjoining parcel. Title passed yesterday, subject to a $28,500 mortgage.

Tenement Deals.

The Central Savings Bank sold to Kathryn F. Schleffer, 246 East Seventy-fourth Street, two four-story tenements on a plot 30.4 by 102.

The Bronx Market.

Abraham Lightstone sold to an investor 456 East 138th Street, a three-story dwelling on a lot 16.8 by 100.

The Anthony Avenue Realty Company sold to the Stebbins Avenue Realty and Construction Company for improvement 1,193 Stebbins Avenue and 858 Home Street, two irregular plots. The Schoen Westchester Realty Company negotiated the sale.

Brooklyn

James H. Ross Company sold for Etta Evans Wilson of Montclair, N. J., the three-story brick house, 1,379 Pacific Street, on a lot 20 by 100, to a client for occupancy.

The Martin Estate sold to a client of the S. H. Raphael Co., Inc., 230 and 233 President Street, and 413 Clinton Street, three five-story apartment houses held at $75,000.

New Jersey

Frederick Brown, operator, bought from Frederick Pring, 138 Irving Avenue, South Orange, a three-story dwelling on a plot 100 by 240. Edward P. Hamilton & Co. negotiated the sale.

Buys Greenwich Estate

A Recent Buyer

Frederick J. Sterner, architect, is the buyer of the private dwelling 107 East Thirty-fourth Street, sold Monday by Emily J. Braine. The buyer will probably remodel the property.

$140,000 Mortgage On French Church Property.

Brooks & Momand have placed a first mortgage of $140,000 for the French Church du Saint Esprit, on their property located at the northwest corner of Twenty-seventh Street and Fourth Avenue, also including the church building adjoining on Twenty-seventh Street.

Realty's War Campaign Work.

The real estate workers in the United War Work Campaign will hold a meeting today at the rooms of the Real Estate Board at which a plan to receive subscriptions based on the capitalization of realty firms and corporations will be presented for adoption. The plan is to ask for donations of 2 per cent. on capitalizations up to $10,000, 1½ per cent. from $10,000 to $25,000, 1 per cent. from $25,000 to $50,000, and ½ of 1 per cent. above $50,000.

Among the contributions reported were: Chesebrough Building Company, $2,000; Horace S. Ely & Co., $1,000; Charles Kaye, $500; William A. White & Sons, $657; Frederick Fox & Co., $500; Robert Hoe Estate Company, $250, and South Ferry Realty Company, $250.

Mayor's Committee to Grant Building Licenses.

The granting of licenses to continue building operations in New York has been left to the orders of the the Special Committee on Building and Construction of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense, according to George MacDonald, Chairman of the committee, who returned yesterday from a conference in Washington with the War Industries Board.

Discussing the matter, Mr. MacDonald said: "No buildings or alteration on buildings in New York City, the cost of which will exceed $10,000, are permitted without official recognition from the Mayor's Committee on National Defense. At the conference with the War Industries Board in Washington it was decided that permits for building operations will be granted by this board.

"The construction of school buildings in New York will be taken up by the committee at an open hearing in the Hall of Records on Friday morning, at 10:30. A decision will then be given.

"The continuance of building operations will evolve around the amount of labor available in the different trades. The present needs of New York City in so far as its construction situation is concerned were presented to the War Industries Board."

Education Notes.

A meeting of the New York City Association of Men Principals will be held in the Washington Irving High School at 8 P. M. today. As important business will be transacted a full attendance is desirable.

The president of the Association of Teachers of Mathematics in the Middle States and Maryland will hold a meeting at Hunter College, Sixty-eighth Street and Lexington Avenue, at 8:15 today. There will be an election of officers. William Fox Rountree of Stuyvesant High School will speak on "War Mathematics."

The State Department of Education, in cooperation with the Bureau of Education and the Mayor's Committee of National Defense, announces the opening of a second series of institutes for the training of teachers in the education of the foreign-born beginning Nov. 18 at P. S. 25 at 4 o'clock. Sessions will be held on Mondays and Wednesdays at 4 o'clock for such groups as cannot attend the evening sessions. Classes will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:45 o'clock at the same place for teachers who cannot attend the afternoon sessions. These courses are provided for the teachers who were unable to attend the sessions which were held in the Summer at Teachers College and P. S. 25. In the campaign for training teachers the Legislature provided $24,000 for this purpose. One thousand teachers have been trained in various parts of the State up to this time.

At the meeting of the Brooklyn Heads of Department Association resolutions were unanimously passed indorsing the appeal of the women of France to the International Peace Conference for vindication of the honor of the women victims of the great war in the immediate punishment and the prevention and punishment as criminals of those responsible, from the German High Command to the private in the ranks, as a precedent for future wars. The president and the Secretary of the association were authorized to sign such resolutions for the entire body and to send it to the authors of the original appeal.

The Principals of the Stuyvesant High School has been authorized to assign teachers to that school for half-day overtime service.

The Board of Education has applied to the Board of Retirement to retire for disability Gertrude I. Edwards, a teacher in Public School 73, Brooklyn.

Luella A. Palmer, Assistant Director of English, has been granted permission without loss of pay to attend the convention of the New York State Teachers' Association on Nov. 26 and 27 at Albany.

Gabriel R. Mason, Principal of P. S. 37, the Bronx, has suggested to the Board of Education that funds be provided if possible for continuing athletic contests conducted by school boys 3 to 5 P. M., and that Principals be given the privilege of allowing their classes either to report in schools on Saturdays or to take work home with them on those days.

The Board of Education has assigned the following to the playground for the all-day care of children at Greenwich House, the assignment not to continue beyond Dec. 31: Principal, Minnie Fischer; assistants, Anna E. Kuehne and Olive Hanley; kindergarten, Adelaide M. McKinley.

The annual meeting of the Teachers' Interests organization will be held in the World Building at 4 P. M. on Nov. 21. There will be an election of officers.

TWO WHO WON FAME IN FRANCE GET HOME

Lieut. Col. Whittlesey Tells of Long Fight, Surrounded by Foe, in Argonne Forest.

Two officers, who won distinction in France, returned home yesterday. They were Lieut. Col. Charles W. Whittlesey, who commanded the "Lost Battalion." Surrounded by the enemy in Argonne Forest and called upon to surrender, he gave his now famous reply: You go to hell!"

The other arrival was Lieutenant Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., son of Major Thomas Hitchcock of Westbury, L. I., who escaped from a German prison camp and made his way through 100 miles of hostile country to safety in Switzerland.

Young Hitchcock, accompanied by his father, motored to their Long Island home in the late afternoon. He was received on the lawn by his mother, friends, and the family servants. Young Hitchcock is 18 years old and when his mother released him from her embrace he was immediately clasped in other waiting arms. Louis Martin, the colored butler, who is 60 years old and thirty-five years in the service of the Hitchcock family, did considerable hugging in his enthusiasm.

The Lieutenant asked interviewers to excuse him. He is bearing a message from the French Government to the embassy in Washington, and he will leave for there today. He said he was mighty glad to be home again.

Shot Through the Thigh.

Major Hitchcock said there was little to add to the stories already printed regarding the Lieutenant. After the latter made his escape and got back into France again he returned to the front and was doing detail work in the Aviation Corps when he contracted Spanish influenza, and from this he has just recovered. A wound in his thigh has now healed.

Young Hitchcock was captured when, on March 6, in a fight with three German planes, he was shot through the thigh, his machine disabled and he was forced to land within the enemy lines. Speaking of his escape he told his father that three other American prisoners agreed to make a break for liberty at the same time. He did not give their names. He made his escape successfully and, he said, he did not know how the others fared.

"He has told me," said the Major, "that in German prison camps where he had been confined, he met several aviators who were prisoners, including Lieutenant William Casgrain of Detroit, Mich., a French flier; Lieutenant George Roe, a Naval flier; Sergeant Thomas Buffin, Sergeant Hershal McKee and Sergeant Herman Whitmore, the latter of Haverhill, Mass. He learned some of these also made a break for liberty, but whether they were successful Tommy did not hear."

Food was scarce in Germany, not alone for the prisoners, but for general distribution, according to the Lieutenant, who said that while the Germans treated him pretty well as a prisoner, he was very poorly fed.

Lieut. Col. Whittlesey said his command was cut off twice in the Argonne Forest on separate occasions. The first was on Sept. 26, and this was when Battalion Adjutant Lieutenant Arthur McKeogh, was sent back to establish communication with headquarters. The second, he said, was after one company had been sent forward to join them and the command was penned up from Oct. 3 until the night of Oct. 7.

He told of the advance into the forest and the encounter with German machine gun nests. When their objective was reached in the evening the command bivouacked and threw out outposts. The Germans had the advantage of occupying a hill from which they could look down on the Americans.

Yelled "Like 10,000 Devils."

Company E of the Second Battalion, under Lieutenant Wilhelm, was sent to attack the hill. Lieutenant Leake returned after several hours with eighteen men and reported that Lieutenant Wilhelm with the rest had been surrounded, but with the loss of many men had cut a way to headquarters. When runners sent to outposts came back and reported them captured, Colonel Whittlesey said he knew that they were surrounded. Then, he said it was simply a matter of sticking there.

He stuck while the Germans attacked every afternoon and would vary this by tearing through brush "yelling like 10,000 devils." How many were hit the besieged never knew for the Germans dragged their dead and wounded away each night. Out of the 700 or more Americans 107 were killed.

On Oct. 7 a messenger was sent forward by the Germans, blindfolded and carrying a white flag. As near as the Lieutenant Colonel could remember he brought this typewritten message: "We have heard the cries of your wounded. It is impossible for you to escape. Why do you not surrender in the name of humanity? Send back your reply by messenger carrying a white flag."

The famous message was sent back, but not under a white flag. That evening help did arrive and the Germans retired.

Colonel Whittlesey said they marched out with eighty-seven men of his battalion, the First, and 107 men of the Second, under Captain George McMurtle, who were unwounded. All the rest of the men were killed or wounded. They had not had a bite to eat in four days.

DENY MILK PROFITEERING.

Food Administration Says Farmers Merely Break Even.

Although no formal protest has been made to the Federal Food Board against the increase of a cent a quart in the price of milk, effective yesterday, the second advance in two weeks, the board has been informed that there is widespread dissatisfaction, and Arthur Williams, Administrator for New York City, upon his return from Washington yesterday, issued a statement in which he said:

"The Food Administration itself has examined the elements of cost of production and distribution, and has given to the public the results of its investigation. It is generally known that the farmers maintain that the price they receive does not, in view of the present cost of labor and feed, cover the actual cost of milk production. In this the Food Administration is satisfied that there is no element of profiteering or excessive charge; further, it feels the farmers are sincere in their belief that they are now either subject to loss or to no profit in the present milk price.

"The administration is also satisfied that at present prices the distributers are subject to slight loss or make no particular profit. Our people may rest assured that there is no element of profiteering or excessive charge in the present prices based upon the best information which the Food Administration has been able to obtain through its experts and accountants. This month and December is the time of year when the cost of milk production reaches the maximum.

PROTESTS TO HOOVER.

Mayor Offers to Find Who Is Responsible for Milk Price.

Mayor Hylan sent a letter yesterday to Herbert Hoover, United States Food Administrator, protesting against the recent increase of a cent a quart in the price of milk. He said it made an increase of 2 cents a quart in the last two weeks and added:

"In your letter you place the blame on the dairymen when the question is principally with the distributer. I am informed on good authority that loose milk can be distributed profitably at 3 cents per quart and bottled milk at 5 cents per quart over and above the price the dairymen demand for the milk.

"You have allowed the distributor to charge 15 cents per quart for bottled milk, which is over 9 cents per quart more than the price paid to the dairymen.

"You suggest in your letter that it might be well for the municipal authorities, dairymen, and producers' interests who supply New York to agree upon some method or tribunal by which these problems could be settled without interference by the Federal Government.

"If you will designate me as your representative in this city to determine whether an excessive price is being charged by the distributers, as well as by the dairymen or producers, I shall be very glad to undertake the task and report to you my findings. There is no question quite so vital to the people of New York as the question of milk and coal.

"I consider the matter of such importance that I have called it to the attention of the President."

Legal Steps in Merger of Churches to be Completed Today.

Final arrangements for the merging into the Lutheran Church in America of the General Council of the Lutheran Church, the General Synod of the Lutheran Church, and the United Synod of the Lutheran Church in the South were made yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the 511 delegates in the Church of the Holy Trinity, Sixty-fifth Street and Central Park West.

The delegates will meet again this morning in the Engineering Societies' Building, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street, to carry out the legal procedure necessary, and tonight public exercises will be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Astor.

Invites Whole World to Celebration.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Representative Fess of Ohio, Republican, today introduced a resolution setting aside July 4, 1919, "as a day of world celebration to commemorate the ending of the war," and appropriating half a million dollars for a celebration in Washington to which all Governments, including the Central Powers, would be invited.

Stylish All-Wool

Hart Schaffner & Marx Winter Overcoats

We'd like about 1,500 more of these handsome all-wool Overcoats to sell at $50. Because, 1500 more garments representing such style, such quality, such tailoring—at $50—would mean 1500 more firm friends for us.

As it is, we know that when we have to replace these fine, mart Overcoats, they will have to retail for about the same as their $85 custom-tailored equivalents.

Here is a plain, straightforward description that will suggest the opportunity, even if it does not do the Overcoats justice.

Briefly, they are Varsity Six Hundred Coats in Oxford and in rich Brown Heather, in a 4-button button-through model.

And trying one on will surprise you that so much shoulder comfort and body freedom are concealed within their slim, figure-tracing lines. They are part silk lined, which emphasizes the luxurious hospitality of their inviting plaid interiors.

Little things like four rows of stitching on the sleeves and collar, the rolled sleeve heads, and beautiful soft fronts are a few of the distinguishments that complete a very aristocratic Overcoat ensemble.

But seeing is believing,—and the $50 price merely encourages you to believe what you see.

Winter Suits, $30, $35, $40, up to $75

A war lesson for peace-times

War has taught us to save; to get the most out of things; to get things that have "most" in them. That's a great lesson for peace.
